THEATRES

SUNRISE

Two "giants" of the screen meet head-on for the first time when Clark Gable and Burt Lancaster are pitted against each other in "Run Silent, Run Deep," a hard-hitting story of World War 2 undersea warfare, which will open Sunday at the Sunrise Theatre and run through Wednesday.

The two are paired as a submarine commander and his executive—each with strong and violent emotions that erupt in the heat of combat—in the John Gay screen-play based on the best-selling novel by Commander Edward L. Beach.

The U. S. Navy, anxious to present the submarine service in an authentic manner, went all-out in cooperation. The USS Redfish, a fleet submarine with a brilliant World War 2 record, was detailed to the production and "plays" the "role" of the USS Nerka, the submarine of the screenplay.

The Navy cooperated in every phase of the planning, supplied a destroyer and other vessels for aid in the filming, and even furnished a half-million dollars worth of equipment to assure complete authenticity in the sets.

Rear Admiral Rob Roy McGregor, colorful and much-decorated submariner of World War 2, assisted Director Wise as Technical advisor.

THE HIGH COST OF LOVING

Jose Ferrer performs his roles as star and director in a most commendable fashion. A peek into the life of a nine-years-married couple, "The High Cost of Loving" has originality and good performances by everyone in the cast. An amiable comedy-drama, "The High Cost of Loving" is a fastpaced picture that should please everyone. Two complete shows each night at 7:15 and 9, Wednesday through Friday, April 30-May 2.

THE 7 HILLS OF ROME

Since Mario Lanza is a hearty tenor, it is quite natural that a film, made expressly for him should be all music—operatic, calypso, rock and roll, waltz, conventional pop—every type that you might name with the possible exception of Central American tribal chants. "The 7 Hills of Rome," photographed in Technicolor and Technirama in Rome, is a beautiful travelogue about that Eternal City. Moving about

Rome, Lanza sings in locations ranging from impromptu street festivals to Bohemian parties, night clubs, yachts, and amateur contests. Sunday matinee 3; Sunday through Tuesday nights at 7 and 9.

THE HAPPY ROAD

Two children running away from school to visit their parents are handled with an air of originality by Gene Kelly, who produces, directs and acts but does not dance. As an actor, his wit and natural portrayal of an American father and business man harassed by the lackadaisical way of life in France, he is more than competent. This one is fun for the whole family. Wednesday through Friday nights, May 7-9, 7:15 and 9.

Mrs. Spence To Head League Women Voters

Mrs. W. O. Spence has been elected president of the League of Women Voters for the next year succeeding Miss Lockie Parker.

At a special meeting held Tuesday, the League also elected other officers as follows: Miss Parker, vice president; Mrs. Fred Chappell, secretary; and Miss Emily Fish, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Mrs. James Boyd, Mrs. E. O. Brogden, Mrs. Graham Culbreth, and Mrs. O. A. Speight.
