Peach Recipes That Sound Yummy-Yum Are Sent By County Agent

Now that the peach season is on, here are some peach recipes sent in by Miss Flora McDonald, county agent, that readers might like to try.

Peach Crumble sounds very delicious, and seems easy to make. The ingredients: one cup sifted flour, one-third cup butter or margarine, three tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon if desired, three cups sliced peaches. Method: Mix flour, sugar, nutmeg, salt and cinnamon. Cut shortening in with pastry blender or two knives until mixture is crumbly. Arrange peaches in shallow, well-greased baking dish. Sprinkle peaches with flour mixture. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 deg.) about fifteen minutes or until peaches are tender. Remove cover and bake ten minutes longer or until crumbs are brown. Six servings.

Broiled Peaches: Place peach halves in a shallow pan. Dot each piece with butter or margarine. Run under broiler until heated through and "fringed" with brown. Serve hot with bacon for breakfast or with chicken or meat for dinner. (Well-drained canned peaches may be used.)

Peach Pickle: Eight pounds small or medium-size peaches, two tablespoons whole cloves, eight two-inch pieces stick cinnamon, two pounds sugar, one quart vinegar. Method: Wash and pare peaches. Put cloves and cinnamon loosely in a thin, white cloth and tie top tightly. Cook together spices, sugar and vinegar for 10 minutes. Add peaches; cook slowly until tender, but not broken. Let stand overnight. In the morning remove spices. Drain syrup from peaches; boil syrup rapidly until thickened. Pack peaches in clean, hot, sterilized jars. Pour hot syrup over peaches, filling jars to top. Seal tightly. Process 10 minutes at simmering temperature (about 180 degrees F.).

HARPERS VISIT NEW YORK

CLARA III HARPER'S DANCING PLEASES HEAD OF AMERICAN SCHOOL OF BALLET

Clara III Harper, who was the Princess in "The Sleeping Princess" ballet which featured the 1958 dance revue of The Martha Aden Dance Studio, had the thrill of her young life in New York last week when she was interviewed and given an audition by Muriel Stuart, head of the American School of Ballet in New York City.

Miss Stuart is also one of the main instructors in classic ballet for the conventions and training school of the Dance Educators of America. She seemed very pleased with Clara III and advised her to go into the classic ballet profession. She wanted her to enter the American School which she heads. This is considered a very great compliment as entrance requirements are very high. Clara III is an eighth grade pupil in Southern Pines School.

Walter F. Harper, Exalted Ruler of the local Elks organization, was sent to New York to attend the National Convention of the order. Mrs. Harper and the children, Frances, Clara III,

Walter, Jr., and Betsy, accompanied him, and his mother, Mrs. L. F. Harper, who had been here for some time, went as far as her home, Urbana, Va.

They left Southern Pines on Saturday, July 5. They visited Mr. Harper's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Chewing on Fishing Bay, Va., just off Chesapeake Bay, and on Sunday went on to New York for a week.

It was the children's first trip to the metropolis, and they got a big thrill from visiting the places of interest, with the parents deriving pleasure from the children's reactions. They saw "The Music Man," visited Radio City Music Hall and most of the outstanding attractions during their week there.

They visited Mrs. Harper's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Love, in Demarest, N. J., and saw their new baby, Lynn Allison, and the other child, Jimmy. Mrs. Love is the former Mary Frances Willcox, who was graduated from high school in Southern Pines.

On the return trip they stayed overnight at Fishing Bay, and came home by Greenville, where they left Frances at East Carolina College to attend Music Camp for two weeks.

Mrs. Ferrington And Son Here From Texas; Guests In Moore Home

Mrs. Eric L. Ferrington (Delores Merrill) and little son, Eric Steven, four months old, arrived on Wednesday of last week from Dallas, Tex., to spend some time with her mother, Mrs. Mildred Merrill, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore. Later they will join Dr. Ferrington, who is now a lieutenant in the Navy, on the West Coast. They expect to make their home in California for a year.

Mr. Moore, who had been visiting his sister, Mrs. Hoyle Daventport, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Read, at Plymouth for two weeks, returned home Saturday, accompanied by the Reads who remained for a weekend visit. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Moore of Raleigh came down for the day Sunday, the special attraction being their new great-nephew and his mother.

This 'n' That

On the window sill above our desk is a beauty of a tomato—smooth and red and very large. We're keeping it here for a while to let others see it, before taking it home to really enjoy it.

The tomato is of the Big Boy variety and grew in the prize patch of "Mr. Ed," which is located back of his Manor building on East New Hampshire Avenue. And this patch is really worth making a trip to see. Each plant is neatly staked, and is loaded with tomatoes, although we were told by Dr. Vida, who was about to drive from her parking place as we approached, that Mr. Ed had already picked a lot of them.

In case you're new here, "Mr. Ed" is "Mr. Starnes," but few people are formal enough to use his last name. He's a familiar figure in Southern Pines, and wherever the Moore County Wildlife Club happens to be meeting.

Business is business and subscription renewals do not require that the sender add a friendly note but many of them do and they're appreciated so much that the business office often shares them with us. Miss Bess McIntyre, a former teacher in the local school who left several years ago, writes from Wiagate: "I could not do without The Pilot. It keeps me in touch with people, and a town that is very dear to me." The admiration is mutual, Miss Bess. You're lovingly remembered here.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. James Sessions, Jr., and Neil and Misses Katherine, Jo Anne, and Judy Karris returned Sunday from Crescent Beach, S. C., where they vacationed for a week.
