Soil Conservation

Post Being Sought By J. B. McLeod

J. B. McLeod, Route 2, Carthage, has been nominated by regular petition for the office of Supervisor from Moore County to the board of supervisors of the Upper Cape Fear Soil Conservation District.

The election will be held during the first week in December. Ballot boxes will be located in three places: Ralph Bryant's Store, Route 2, Carthage; Richard Matthews' Store, Route 3, Carthage; and the office of the Farmer's Home Administration in the basement of the courthouse.

The newly elected supervisor will replace J. Herman Matthews who has been a member of the board for the past three years. Matthews is not seeking re-election.

Other members from this county are Hawley Poole of West End, and Harold Purvis, of near Robbins.

Another Moore County farmer is James Fulk, Route 3, Carthage, is chairman of the district board.

This district, comprised of Moore, Lee, and Harnett counties, has been in operation nearly 18 years.

In Moore County, about 1,200 farmers and landowners are cooperating in the conservation program and many others have been associated in the past.

Russell Batchelor, Harry Watson, and Hugh Bowman attended the Duke-Carolina game Saturday.

THEATRES

SUNRISE

In the action packed western drama which is slated to open Sunday at the Sunrise Theatre through United Artists release, Gary Cooper is starred in a role that fits him like a gun fits a holster. It is the title role in "Man of the West," in which he is starred with Julie London, Lee J. Cobb, Arthur O'Connell and Jack Lord. The Walter M. Mirisch production was filmed in color by DeLuxe in CinemaScope. Anthony Mann directed and Reginald Rose wrote the screenplay.

"Man of the West," based upon Will C. Brown's novel, is a suspenseful story of powerful personalities—good and bad—wherein Gary Cooper, as Link Jones, a reformed bandit and killer raised in the ways of western violence by his uncle (Lee J. Cobb), is tossed by circumstances back into the clutches of Cobb's gang several years after he left them to go straight.

Julie London famous singer, is back to straight drama in her "Man of the West Role." Although she sings the title song of the film, her role of a frontier chanteuse which Rose's script probes to some depth, calls for a dramatic, non-singing interpretation.

Arthur O'Connell, who portrays a card-sharp on the lam from the authorities, reached recognition after twenty years of obscurity in show business with his portrayal of the reluctant suitor in the Broadway production of "Picnic." Jack Lord plays the part of Cooley, a hulking brute, to whom Cooper administers a terrific beating after Cooley forces Julie London to strip at gunpoint. Lord made his Broadway mark as star of "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof."

"Man of the West" was filmed largely in California's magnificent Red Rock Canyon in the Mojave desert. Opening sequences wherein Cooper boards the train were filmed near Sonora and Jamestown, in the heart of the '49 gold rush country along the 57-mile track of the Sierra Railroad. The ancient train is real—not studio constructed.

The 52nd annual Christmas Seal Sale to raise funds to fight TB opened November 14.

"ADAM and EVE"
Bible Inspires Musical Score
Underscoring the brilliantly directed story of Creation, "Adam and Eve", is one of the most beautiful and inspiring musical scores ever composed for a motion picture
Gustavo Cesar Carrion composed and conducted the score for the controversial picture, receiving his inspiration from the majesty of the Book of Genesis.
"One can almost hear the heavenly music of the scriptures in the Book of Genesis as he reads the beautiful story of Creation," Carrion stated. "I felt very humble and awed by the music that flowed out of these immortal words and I hope that I have captured every note I felt."
