Better living in North Carolina means more jobs for more people at higher wages. That is why our State is seeking industrial development — to create more jobs at better pay for those no longer needed on farms as they become mechanized. The high quality of this latent labor supply assures increasing income for them in the years ahead.

All over the State local communities are learning about how to capitalize on this increased income opportunity. It is significant, too, that most of these progressive areas favor the "legal sale" of beer and ale as being in the best interests of all concerned.

Well Driller Sues County Residents For Unpaid Bills

How far down should a well driller go before his client should rightfully expect water? That question will be answered, probably, in a civil suit that and 2 last Thursday to win the will come before Superior Court in this county eventually. Heater Well Company, Raleigh, seeks judgment in the amount of $1,096.50 for its services to two Moore County men despite the fact that no water ever appeared. J. L. Caudill and Jessie Auman ices of the company. The company says it went down a distance of 258 feet without any water appearing, and that Cau-dill then ordered the well company representatives to cease drilling. Since then, the company maintains, he has failed and refused to pay the bill.

Washday DOUBLE TROUBLE? Whisk it away the ALL-ELECTRIC MEDALLION WAY!

For the busy homemaker, how to wash and dry loads of clothes in winter weather spells real double-trouble. But not when you select the all-electric Medallion Home standard to ease your way on washdays.

If trouble doubles on your winter washdays, let an automatic electric washer swirl and spin the clothes to a whistle-clean finish. Then for sunshine all the time, there's an electric driver to fluff and freshen the wash. Even in crowded quarters, a happy solution is yours with an electric washer-dryer combination.

Once you whisk away washday double trouble, you're well on the way to all-electric Medallion living. For your present home or future plans, make the Medallion Home your standard of excellence. A FREE FOLDER about the Medallion Home is available at your CPGL
