'Sandpipers' To Be Reorganized By Gdfrs Here

Group Was Founded In 1927; Has Been Inactive Since '51

The Sandpipers, a once-thriving and highly popular golfing organization, will be reorganized if sufficient interest is shown, it was announced this week.

Dr. Boyd Barnes, who will act as membership chairman, and a group of golfers at the Southern Pines Country Club, have set a meeting for Wednesday, November 4, at 8 p. m., in the club, to start the reorganization ball rolling.

Former members of the group—which has not been active since 1951—are being notified of the meeting and other interested golfers are invited.

Many of the 81 members of the Southern Pines Summer Golf Club, which Dr. Barnes was influential in setting up last summer, are expected to join. The possibility of merging the organizations into a year-round golfing group will be discussed.

Founded in 1927 to promote golf and social activities at the Southern Pines Country Club, the Sandpipers flourished for many years, holding a tournament and business meeting once a month, often followed by a buffet dinner and entertainment which included dancing or films on golf. There were nearly 100 members when the Sandpipers disbanded eight years ago.

The group played at Southern Pines Country Club and was identified with that club until 1947 or 1948 when it began to stage tournaments at both Mid Pines and Pine Needles, largely at the Pine Needles Club.

During the Sandpipers' thriving years, a championship tournament was held at the end of the year, with a dinner-dance, as well as the monthly tournaments.

It is hoped that officers can be elected and committees set up at the meeting Wednesday night, Dr. Stranes said. He said he planned to show moving pictures made at the last Sandpipers tournament held at Pine Needles in 1951.

Children's Book Week To Be Noted At Town Library

Displays of varied types of illustrations for children's books—some of them artists' originals—will be featured by the Southern Pines Library in a Children's Book Week observance to begin Monday and run through next week.

Nearly 50 new titles in the juvenile field will be put on the shelves at the beginning of the week, said Mrs. Stanley Lambourne, librarian. Mrs. Lambourne and Miss Jane LaMarche are preparing the displays.

A national observance, Children's Book Week is designated by a poster picture of a little child looking at a book and the slogan, "Go Exploring in Books." Each child visiting the Library next week will receive a tag reading, "I am a book explorer." Several entire classes of elementary school pupils are expected to visit the Library. A special invitation is extended to all children and young people to come to the Library at any time during the week and to take out a library card if they do not already have one.

The displays will show different kinds of book illustrations in black and white, color and photography, as seen in a series of books lent by courtesy of the Country Bookshop.

A New York publishing company has lent original illustrations in black and white and color by Harold Berson, Jan Balet and Decie Merwin. Miss Merwin (Mrs. Jack Bechold) has visited in Southern Pines and lived here for some time several years ago. Her husband, also a writer for young people, died during their residence here.

County Fair Now In Full Swing, To Run Through Saturday

FASCINATING—Balloons, flags, flying birds, popguns—they're all at the novelty stand along with dozens of other playthings. "Charlie," the operator, in background (he said that was all the name he needed) shows his wares to Shirley and David Gwyn, children of John H. Gwyn of West End, who brought them to the Moore County Fair. The children live with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kearns in Carthage and attend school there. (Pilot Photo)

WHOPPER—Tommy Cheek, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Cheek of Route 1, Robbins, touches a monster pumpkin his family put in the agricultural products exhibit at the fair. He's a student at Highfalls School. Portions of other exhibits can be seen in the background. "Will it win a prize?" Tommy seems to be thinking. (Pilot Photo)

4-H BOYS—These two 12-year-old members of the 4-H Club at Highfalls School each had entries in the Junior Dairy Show at the fair Tuesday. Wayne Seawell of Route 1, Carthage, who has his arm around the neck of his Guernsey calf, won a blue ribbon. At left is Farrell Ritter of Route 1, Robbins, whose Red Guernsey calf, winner of a red ribbon at the Troy fair, was exhibited at Carthage. The calf and the photographer had different ideas of the way she ought to stand. (Pilot Photo)

MISS PHILLIPS MISS COLLINS

EMMADAY COLLINS FIRST RUNNER-UP

Judy Phillips Of Carthage Chosen 'Miss Moore County High School'

Twenty-two girls in evening gowns braved goose-bumpy weather Wednesday night at the Moore County Fair, as Judy Phillips, 17, of Carthage High school, won the title "Miss Moore County High School of 1959." With her crown and banner, she was given $50 for her school and $25 for herself, in the contest presented by the Carthage Jaycees.

First runner-up was Emmaday Collins and second runner-up was Wilma Kay Hunsucker of Robbins. Miss Collins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Collins of Southern Pines, and was one of two entries from Southern Pines High School.

Cash awards were also made to the two runners-up and to the schools they represented.

The new queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Roy Phillips of Carthage, received her crown from last year's queen, Ann Edwards of Vass-Lakeview High school, and a congratulatory kiss from another title-winner, Judi Klipfel of Asheboro—"Miss North Carolina."

Miss Klipfel was a contest judge, along with Dr. Jim Hullin, president of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, and Hal Tysinger, Sanford photographer.

Despite nippy weather, a large crowd gathered before the outdoor platform across which the girls paraded to shouts and cheers.

There were two entries from each of 11 high schools in Moore. (Continued on page 8)

Rotary Halloween Party Set Saturday; Children Will Collect UNICEF Funds

If a Halloween "trick or treat" child comes to your door Saturday night with an orange and black paper cup and you drop a nickel in it, you have paid for a shot of penicillin that will cure a case of yaws that is eating away the face of a child in Nigeria.

If you drop a dime, you protect 10 children from tuberculosis in Chile.

A quarter will give 50 Indian children a glass of milk.

Thirty cents will buy the ointment to cure a case of trachoma, the eye disease, in Taiwan.

A dollar will buy the DDT to protect a family from malaria for a year. It is the price of the sulphate tablets to treat a child with leprosy for three years.

On the paper cups and tags which the children will be wearing, you'll see the word UNICEF, standing for United Nations Children's Fund.

Pease Is N & S Seniors Winner; Women Playing

Walter F. Pease of Plainfield, N. J., defeated Paul A. Dunkel of Hackensack, N. J., to win the North and South Seniors golf championship at Pinehurst Saturday, 4 and 3. (Details of the tournament in story on page 11.)

Trophies were to be presented late this (Thursday) afternoon in the North and South Senior Women's championship which was played in five classes over two courses yesterday and today—a 36-hole, medal play event.

Mrs. Reinart M. Torgerson of Forest Hills, N. Y., was leading a field of 231 players at the end of the first 18 holes on Wednesday, with a 79 on the No. 1 course. One stroke back in second spot was Mrs. Charles F. Bartholomew of Brookline, Mass.

Tomorrow (Friday) the senior women—50 years old and over—will stage an 18-hole medal play, better ball of pair tournament.

1,123 Vote In Moore, Approve 7 Proposals

Local Precinct Votes For All Bond Projects

Although Moore County voters turned down two of the nine State bond proposals—with 1,123 persons voting, on Tuesday—Southern Pines precinct—with 188 voting—registered approval for all nine of the issues. Voting everywhere was very light.

The two rejected by narrow margins by the county as a whole were funds for armory construction (529 for, 549 against) and historical sites restoration (534 for, 541 against).

These same issues appeared likely not to be approved statewide, with another bond proposal—for port facilities at Southport—leading by only a narrow margin Wednesday, as returns continued to come in.

The official state-wide election canvass will not take place until November 17.

Moore County returns were all in by 9 p. m. Tuesday at the office of Sam C. Riddle of Carthage, chairman of the Moore County board of elections. The board was making its official canvass of the returns today.

Definitely approved by the whole state and by Southern Pines and Moore County were: $18,891,000 for educational institutions; $12,053,000 for mental institutions; $1,500,000 for community colleges; $500,000 for local hospitals, construction; $466,000 for correctional institutions; and $140,000 for blind rehabilitation center. The armories proposal called for $100,000; the ports proposal for $500,000; and the historical sites plan for $250,000.

New Scout Troop To Be Organized Wednesday Night

A new Boy Scout troop is being organized under sponsorship of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

All boys who are interested in joining, and their parents, are invited to a meeting at the church, Wednesday, November 4, at 7:30 p. m. Boys 11 years old and older are eligible.

Thomas Ruggles will be scoutmaster and George Morrison, assistant. John Ruggles will be troop committee chairman. The Rev. Martin Caldwell, rector of the church, is institutional representative.

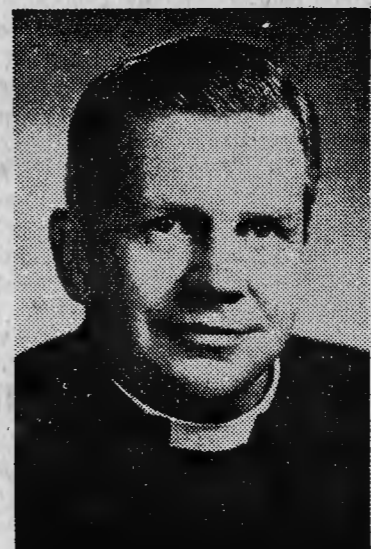

Members of the troop committee include Lawrence Lyerly, Burton Q. Perham, W. T. Short and Cad Benedict.

Joe Woodall, district Scout executive, will be at the meeting to explain organizing procedures. He said the troop will be the 18th Scouting unit in Southern Pines, including Cub packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts.

Membership is not confined to boys connected with Emmanuel Church, it was stressed. The church is a sponsoring institution, but membership is open to any boy who wants to join.

WINS $150 PRIZE

Lamont Brown, Jr., 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lamont Brown of Southern Pines, was notified today by The Charlotte News that he has won $150 in that newspaper's "football bingo" contest. The local boy picked winners of 24 out of 25 games in last week's contest.

BISHOP KINSOLVING

Two Bishops Will Figure In Episcopal Church Events Scheduled On Weekend

Episcopalians in the Sandhills will celebrate two important events during the next four days and bring to Southern Pines two of the most important figures in the Anglican Communion. On Friday night, the Rt. Rev. Arthur B. Kinsolving, bishop of Arizona, will be the speaker at the annual parish dinner of Emmanuel Church. On Sunday morning the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, bishop of Texas, will be the preacher at a special Episcopal service to be held in The Village Chapel in Pinehurst.

The dinner on Friday will be held in the Southern Pines school cafeteria. In addition to hearing Bishop Kinsolving, members of Emmanuel Church will also elect three new vestrymen to succeed Lt. Col. Timothy Cleary, E. Nolley Jackson, and John L. Morgan, Jr., whose terms expire. Colonel Cleary and Dr. Robert VanderVoort will discuss the proposed parish budget for 1960.

On Sunday morning, congregations from eleven Episcopal churches of the central North Carolina area will hold their services jointly in Pinehurst. The celebrant for the All Saints' Day Eucharist will be the Rt. Rev. Louis C. Melcher, minister of The Village Chapel and retired Bishop of Central Brazil. Bishop Hines will preach and choirs numbering over a hundred voices will participate. (Continued on page 8)
