

Charles R. Haynes Succumbs at 78 In Massachusetts

Funeral services were held Friday at Pittman Chapel, Forest Hills, Mass., for Charles Rogerson Haynes, 78, of Clinton, Conn., who died Monday of last week at the home of his brother, Winthrop P. Maynes, in Boxford, Mass. Burial was in the family lot at Mount Hope Cemetery, Forest Hills.

Mr. Haynes had been a winter visitor in Southern Pines at various times and spent part of the last two winters here, visiting his sister, Miss Louise Haynes, who has been a winter resident here for many years.

Mr. Haynes had partially retired from business life as an executive of a rubber and chemical company. He was a 1904 graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In his later years, he spent much of his time with his hobby of music. He was an accomplished musician on piano and organ.

Mr. Haynes was an active member of the Church of the Holy Advent in Clinton, Conn., and was a vestryman there at the time of his death. When in Southern Pines, he attended Emmanuel Episcopal Church. He enjoyed golf here and won many friends by his warm and kindly personality.

His wife, Mrs. Annette Austin Haynes, who had visited here with him, died in April, 1958. His brother and sister are the only survivors.

Funeral for Mrs. Dickenson Held at Pinehurst Church

Mrs. Louise Shaw Dickenson, 37, died at noon Wednesday of last week in Moore Memorial Hospital after a lingering illness.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in the Pinehurst Community Church with the pastor, the Rev. Roscoe L. Prince, officiating. Burial took place in the Culdee Church cemetery.

Mrs. Dickenson was born in Pinehurst, the daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Shaw and the late Mr. Shaw. Besides her husband and mother, she is survived by two sons, Billy, 13, and Jimmie, 8; two sisters, Mrs. Karl Andrews of Pinehurst and Mrs. Russell Brami of Fayetteville, and two brothers, Robert F. Shaw, Jr., of Fayetteville, and Holland Shaw, of Greensboro.

Mr. Dickenson is associated with Golf World magazine at Pinehurst. The family resides in Colonial Heights, Aberdeen.

Now there are more places to pitch the family tent or park the family trailer in North Carolina than ever before—and their popularity indicates that 1960 will set new records in campground visitations.

Dr. Walsh Serves As Pathologist At Poultry Lab

Three poultry diagnostic laboratories are now being operated by the N. C. Department of Agriculture, Dr. H. J. Rollins, state veterinarian, announced this week. They are located in Robbins, Murphy and Rose Hill.

The 1959 legislature made appropriations for equipment, personnel and operating expenses for these laboratories, he explained, subject to land and buildings being furnished by the counties or communities in which they are located.

The laboratory at Robbins was established to serve the poultry industry of Moore County and adjacent areas. It is located on the corner of S. Broad and Rockingham Streets in Robbins near the fire station. The lot was furnished by the Town of Robbins, and the building was constructed by the poultry and feed industry of the area.

Dr. Michael G. Walsh, Jr., is the poultry pathologist at Robbins. He obtained his pre-veterinary education at Belmont Abbey College and North Carolina State College. He received the degrees of B. S. and DVM from Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Oklahoma. Since March of this year he has worked in the Poultry Diagnostic Laboratory in Raleigh, Southern Pines has been his home since 1940.

Miss Ester Carter has been employed as laboratory technician. She is a registered nurse and graduated from the Hamlet Hospital School of Nursing, Hamlet, N. C. Miss Carter was supervisor of several departments at the Chatham Hospital, Siler City, N. C., prior to accepting employment with the laboratory. She is a native of Robbins.

On the Blue Ridge Parkway, where campers increased from 8,877 in 1954 to 48,069 in 1959, two new campgrounds—one in North Carolina and one in Virginia—were added this year and stayed full like those already established.

Memorial Books Given to Library
