Bequest Made to Hospital in Will of Mrs. Jackson

A substantial bequest to Moore Memorial Hospital at Pinehurst is made in the will of the late Katherine Harley Jackson, wife of H. Arnold Jackson of Pinehurst, who is one of the hospital directors. Mrs. Jackson, who, with her husband, gave the Harley and Sheldon Jackson Memorial Emergency Service facilities to the hospital, completed in 1957, died May 2. Her will was probated in Moore County and in Suffolk County, New York.

In her will, after making a number of personal bequests, Mrs. Jackson directs that the remainder of her estate, both real and personal, be divided into two portions.

One of these portions—the will does not indicate the value of either portion in terms of dollars—is set up as a trust fund from which a niece will receive the income during her lifetime. Upon the death of the niece, Adelaide Harley Bujalski of Dallas, Texas, the principal of this trust is to be divided between Moore Memorial Hospital and the Greenwich Hospital Association, Greenwich, Conn., "in the ratio of their respective annual in-patient days for the calendar year preceding the date when they become entitled to this bequest."

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, the will states, contributed to both the Greenwich Hospital and Moore Memorial Hospital funds for constructing, equipping, furnishing and decorating an emergency service for accident cases. In both hospitals, these facilities are known as "The Harley and Sheldon Jackson Memorial."

Harley and Sheldon Jackson, the will explains, were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson. In May, 1941, Harley Jackson died as the result of an automobile accident. In July, 1943, Sheldon Jackson, the will states, "who was a lieutenant and combat pilot in the United States Army Air Corps, died in the service of his country while piloting his plane in the South American tropics."

The will states: "Because both of our sons died as the result of accidents, it is our desire that the Greenwich Hospital and the Moore Memorial Hospital shall always have funds available to provide comfortable and attractive furnishings for the Harley and Sheldon Jackson Memorials which we have established in said hospitals, and for the purchase of the best medical and surgical equipment obtainable, so that the respective Emergency Service for Accident Cases shall at all times be equipped to render the finest medical and surgical care and attention to victims of accidents."

"Accordingly," the will continues, "I direct that the Greenwich Hospital Association and Moore Memorial Hospital shall always keep all property which they may respectively receive under any provision of this my Last Will and Testament separate from their other funds and properties, and shall separately invest the same."

Marie Hurst . . . in action at the O K Bowl

Amputations Don't Stop Her From Bowling

Marie Elizabeth Hurst 14-year-old Southern Pines girl whose legs were amputated below the knee in 1955 because of a rare disease, recently took up bowling, along with her twin sister, Barbara Jean, showing that the sport can be enjoyed even by a person with artificial limbs.

W. R. (Buddy) Winters, manager of the O K Bowl, where the photo was made, said that this picture is expected to appear in three widely circulated bowling magazines, the "BPAA" magazine, "Southern Bowler" and "Bowling Illustrated." The twins are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hurst, 360 E. New Jersey Ave. The Hursts' other children are Albert Donald, 11; Jerry Vincent, 9; Richard Anthony, 7, and Charles Leo, two and a half years old. Marie and Barbara graduated this year from St. Anthony's elementary school and will enter Southern Pines High School as freshmen in September.

In March, 1955, after Marie's operation earlier that year, local civic, fraternal, church and veterans organizations, led by the Elks Lodge, staged a chicken supper that, with other contributions, netted over $1,000 to help with the medical expenses of Marie's illness and operation. Later that year, an Elks contribution and a bicycle raffle conducted by the Volunteer Fire Department covered the expense of Marie's first pair of artificial limbs which cost several hundred dollars. Marie's courage and cheerfulness, during her painful illness and later, in adjusting to her handicap, have been noted by all who know her. (Humphrey photo)

Manslaughter Charge Brought After Accident

A coroner's jury convening in the courtroom at Carthage Friday night found probable cause on a manslaughter charge against Tracy Everett Ritter, 20, of Robbins, Route 2, in the highway death of a seven-year-old Siler City boy, Gary Lynn Brewer, in June.

Ritter was ordered held for grand jury action at the August term of Moore County Superior Court under $2,500 bond, which he made.

The case arose from a collision of two cars June 18 on the Howards Mill Road near Robbins. Ritter told the jury that he had stopped before entering from a side road but did not see the approaching car. The result was an almost head-on collision.

Patrolman Tommy Clark said both cars were demolished in the crash and five injured persons taken to Moore Memorial Hospital at Pinehurst. The Brewer boy was carried on to the N. C. Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill where he died five days later. Others injured were his mother, who was driving the car, and five-year-old sister, whose skull was fractured; also Ritter, who suffered cuts and abrasions, and his teen-aged brother, who had a broken leg.

Coroner Ralph G. Steed of Robbins presided over the inquest.

WORK OF MRS. COMER PRAISED

Assistant Court Clerk Resigning

Mrs. Rachel Comer, assistant clerk of Moore County Superior Court since 1952, has submitted her resignation effective Saturday.

Mrs. Comer, who has served during the past year as vice-president of the North Carolina Assistant and Deputy Clerks of Court Association, was to have been elevated to the presidency at the annual meeting to be held at the Institute of Government, Chapel Hill, this weekend. Instead, she said, she is submitting her resignation to the association.

C. C. Kennedy, Moore clerk of court, to whom Mrs. Comer submitted her resignation, said of her, "It is hard to find words to express my regret at losing her. She has been invaluable in the office and in her service during court terms. She is a highly competent person as well as being always pleasant and courteous, and it is hard to see how we will get on without her."

Mrs. Bessie Beck, also an assistant clerk of court, and Mrs. Daisy Riddle, deputy clerk of court, will carry on the staff work with the aid of a new clerk whom Kennedy said he expected to employ this week.

Labor Survey For Possible Industry Set at Carthage

A labor survey will be conducted in Carthage on Tuesday, August 8, for the purpose of receiving applications for employment by a manufacturing firm which is considering locating there.

Hours of the survey will be from 8:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. in that part of the William Penn Theatre building that has been recently remodeled.

Representatives of the company will be there to take the names of applicants, both male and female, and to hold interviews. Experienced and inexperienced persons are needed. A training program will be conducted.

If ample labor proves available, the plant will be in operation at an early date. The plant will be of modern construction and have 70,000 or more square feet of floor space, it was reported in Carthage.

The firm manufactures ladies' sleeping wear and will employ more than 200 persons when in full production, the announcement said.

Most of the employees will consist of women but there will be a number of men working in the plant.

The North Carolina Conservation and Development Commission in a release to the Carthage Industrial Development body last week rated the company as superior.

The State C & D has been working with the local industrial body for the past several weeks in an effort to find an industry that might like to locate in Carthage.

Carthage citizens are elated at the prospect of getting new industry for the county seat.

COUNTY GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Woodward, Chatfield to Play For Title

BY CHARLES ROSE

Two tournament veterans will match shots Saturday morning at the Southern Pines Country Club in quest of the Moore County golf championship.

The two, Bill Woodward and Harry Chatfield, will tee-off at 9:30 a. m. in their 18-hole match play final round. It should prove to be a close match.

Woodward, of Robbins, is a many-times past champion and a slight favorite, as Chatfield, of Southern Pines, has never won a local county tournament, but has won the first, second, and third flight titles in the annual

Chatfield advanced to the finals of the championship flight in high fashion as he downed three tough opponents: Will Wiggs, 3 & 1; Joe Carter, this year's medalist, 1-up, 19 holes; and Clyde Mangum, 3 and 2, this past week.

Woodward downed upsetting Tom Grey 1-up; Bill Wilson, Sr., 3 & 2; and Robby Moreland 2 & 1 this week, to advance into the finals.

Another match of importance Saturday will be the finals of the first flight with a battle of young golfers, in Topper Parks and Auburn College golfer, Hill Boswell, a summer resident here. Parks defeated Charles Rose, one up 22-holes, and Will Wiggs 4 & 3, to meet Boswell, who won over Cecil Beith, 2 & 1, and Peter Tufts, 3 & 2.

Clark to Defend Singles Title in Senior Tourney

The senior Sandhill Invitational tennis tournament will start Thursday of next week, running through Sunday, August 13, when the finals are expected to be played.

Malcolm Clark of Southern Pines, last year's men's singles champion, is expected to be on hand to defend his title.

Mrs. Raymonde Jones, however, defender in women's singles, who won easily all three times she played in the local event, is not expected to return. Her husband, Colonel Jones of the XVIII Corps, has been transferred from Fort Bragg to another State. The outstanding French star will be greatly missed, as she won many friends along with her trophies. Her duties as the mother of four left her little time for tournament-playing out she was an outstanding winner wherever she went and this spring was accorded the SLTA ranking of No. 1 in women's singles in the South.

While actual entries have not been received, Sam Daniels of Reidsville, winner of the Sandhill for several years, and a number of others of his calibre are expected to be on hand, maintaining the prestige of the Sandhill as an outstanding tennis event of the State for the past 14 years.

Sponsored by the Sandhill Tennis association in cooperation with the summer recreation program, the tournament will have Billy Megginson as director.

Registration will take place at the principal's office in the high school building at 9 a. m. Enrollment will be restricted to students who will be 16 years of age on or before July 1, 1962.

Work Begins at Ball Park Site

Clearing and grading began this week at the site of the proposed Little League baseball park, opposite the National Guard Armory on Morganton Road.

The town council last week leased to the Little League a tract of land 400 feet square on which will be located a regulation Little League playing field, a practice field, stands for spectators and other facilities.

Plans for the park are now being worked out by the Little League board of directors.

The visitors are being accommodated largely in private homes, and will be entertained by local young people at an outdoor supper and swimming party tonight at the Southern Pines Country Club. The tournament is sponsored by the Sandhill Tennis association in cooperation with the town summer recreation program.

The visitors include four from one Winston-Salem family, David, Rosalind, Jane and Joyce Meschan, and an attractive pair of twin girls from Raleigh, Ann and Fran Lynch. Ray Stallings of Goldsboro has a tennis-playing twin Kay, who was runner-up in the Junior Sandhill last year, but has a summer job and could not come this year.

Local entries are Charles McLaughlin of Southern Pines, in boys' events, and Charles Sneed and Robert Pearce of Pinehurst, in junior boys'.

Some 60 boy and girl tennis players started arriving here Wednesday, and were still coming in this morning—the largest field in many years in the Junior Sandhill Invitational tournament.

With 40 first-round matches scheduled for today, play got under way early on the town courts. Interruption came about 11 o'clock in the form of a rain-shower, which, however, cleared up in about a half hour without damage to the courts.

Several days of exciting play are foreseen, with large spectator galleries expected, especially Saturday and Sunday when semifinals will take place.

An entry list of 61 includes 45 boys and 16 girls—the largest feminine contingent in the 14-year history of the junior tournament. Only three entries—all boys—were local, the rest coming from over North Carolina with a sprinkling from other states.

Defending their 1960 titles are Buddy Jordan of Goldsboro in junior boys' singles, and Jane Davenport of Greensboro in junior girls' singles. Earlier this summer Miss Davenport won the State Junior Girls Singles championship.

Seedings announced by Billy Megginson, tournament director, were:

Junior boys' singles (up to 18 years old)—No. 1, Buddy Jordan, Goldsboro; No. 2, Larry Tanner, Rocky Mount; No. 3, Ray Stallings, Goldsboro; No. 4, Jim Sloan, Clinton, S. C.

Boys' singles (15 and under)—No. 1, Ed Parker, Raleigh; No. 2, Billy Trotter, Raleigh; No. 3, David Jennings, Greenville, S. C., and No. 4, Richard Holderness, Greensboro.

Girls' singles—No. 1, Melinda Wyrick, Greensboro; No. 2, Jane Meschan, Winston-Salem.

Seedings in doubles events in the four brackets will be made Friday, and play in those events will begin as the singles matches get into quarterfinal rounds.

Superintendents To Attend Meet

They are Luther A. Adams, Southern Pines; Lewis Cannon, Pinehurst; and R. E. Lee of Carthage, superintendent of the county school system.

Attending with Mr. Adams will be his wife and older son, Tommy. The two other Adams children, David and Libby, will stay with their grandmother, Mrs. Luna C. Wallace, at Albemarle, during the time of the conference.

During the conference, public school administration, new school laws and other matters will be discussed and explained.

OLD WAGONS TO BE IN PARADE

Farmers Day to Be Held at Robbins

A covered wagon drawn by four oxen, a snappy surrey with fringe on top—all kinds of rigs right out of the history books and picturebooks will parade at Robbins Saturday morning at the sixth annual Robbins Farmers Day.

A wooded section near the shopping district has been designated "The Hitching Post" and the parade will start there at 10 a. m., winding up there some time later for a show of horsemanship and the award of prizes. These will be given by the Robbins Merchants association for the "Best Rig," "Oddest Entry" and "Best Animal."

It will be an all-day event for old-time town-and-country hobnobbing, with many prizes given away by the sponsoring Merchants association, local organizations and individual merchants at their stores.

Whole families ride in some of the rigs and until you've seen a covered wagon rolling along with a dozen little faces grinning out the back, you've missed a lively chapter of North Carolina history.
