Mrs. Harriss Home After European Trip

Mrs. Barrett Harriss got home Friday after a month's stay in Europe where she visited Germany, Switzerland and England with the last week in Scotland. Arriving in New York following a Pan-American jet flight from London (via Greenland because of re-routing due to a 200 mile-an-hour wind), she found the next lap was to be made by helicopter from the International Airport to Newark to connect with her Eastern Airlines plane to North Carolina. The view of New York from the helicopter was wonderful, said Mrs. Harriss, and they passed right over close to the top of the Statue of Liberty in the Harbor, so they got an excellent view of the Lady with the Torch.
