Boys Win Prizes in Football Contests Of Skill in Passing, Punting, Kicking

Prize winners in the recent Pass, Punt and Kick football contest at Memorial Field, for boys six through 10 years of age, have been announced as follows in the various age groups, listed in order as first, second and third prize winners in each group (two prizes only in each of the first two groups):
Age six years—Frank Denoff and James Slate.
Age seven years—John Cuff and Jackie Dove.
Age eight years—Herb Wilson, Joe Parker and John Wadsworth.
Age nine years—Fred Hollister, Chuck Maness and Morris Hitson.
Age 10 years—Alan Moon, Donny Denoff and Gary Fuller.
The winners received prizes of footballs and football equipment.
The contest, which involved skill in passing, punting and kicking a football, was part of a nation-wide program sponsored by the Ford Motor Company and the National Football League. Jackson Motors was the local sponsor.
Scores turned in here have been forwarded to regional officials to see if any of the local boys will be eligible for regional competition. John Williams, local high school coach, supervised the local contest.
Further prizes will be given in regional contests. The national winners will, with their fathers, be given an opportunity to meet President Kennedy at the White House and will be accorded other honors.

Operations of Boys Home Told To Rotary Club

R. N. (Rube) McCray, director of the Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw, described the origin and development of that institution at the luncheon meeting of the Southern Pines Rotary Club in the Country Club Friday.
Mr. McCray, who was coach and athletic director at William and Mary College for 15 years, said that the Home now houses 32 boys in two "cottages" and that facilities for as many more have been promised by two state-wide civic organizations.
Most of the boys, he said, are at the Home because of difficulties in their family life. He said that there are no locks on any room at the Home.
Club speakers for tomorrow's meeting are Avery Beck and his son, Larry Beck, golf professionals at the new Whispering Pines club.
Robert Scott, son of the late Gov. and Sen. Kerr Scott, who this week was named master of the N. C. State Grange, will be the November 3 speaker. Dr. Benjamin Swalin, director of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, will address the club on November 10.

Solicitors of 3 Courts in Moore Attend Conference

Solicitors of three lower courts in Moore County attended the state-wide conference of traffic court solicitors in Raleigh Tuesday, sponsored by the North Carolina Traffic Safety Council, Inc.
Attending from this county were W. Lamont Brown of Moore County Recorder's Court at Carthage; Howard C. Broughton of the Southern Pines Recorder's Court and Robert N. Page III of the Aberdeen Recorders' Court.
The program for the day-long conference in the Hall of the House included Gov. Terry Sanford, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Edward Scheidt, representatives of the Traffic Safety Council and three solicitors who spoke or conducted discussions on various aspects of handling traffic cases in the courts.
The group had lunch with Governor Sanford at the executive mansion.
Recommendations of the solicitors will be reviewed by the recently appointed Governor's Coordinating Committee on Traffic Safety, as the committee develops the state's official program to combat traffic accidents.
Rural housing loans have an interest rate of 4 per cent per year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

Harry W. Gage, 82, Dies at Bath, N. Y.

Harry W. Gage, 82, a winter visitor to Southern Pines for many years, died October 16 at Bath, N. Y., according to information reaching Southern Pines this week. Funeral services were held at a funeral home in Bath.
Mr. Gage, who is survived by his wife, Mrs. Irene Clark Gage, was a retired employee of a Rochester, N. Y. optical company. He was a member of the Dover, N. H. Masonic lodge.
In recent years, Mr. and Mrs. Gage had spent the winter season at the Parkview Hotel.

Christy's Dairy Mart, New Business, Schedules Grand Opening For Friday

Grand opening of Christy's Dairy Mart, a new dairy bar and restaurant in the north half of the Pinedene Building on old No. 1 highway, south, will take place tomorrow. The public is invited to come and see the new establishment which has special prices on certain items for the occasion.
Opening of Christy's marks the completion of a long-planned project of Robert C. Burns, owner of the building and proprietor and manager of the new business.
Mr. Burns bought the building in 1955 with a dairy bar and restaurant project in mind, but for various reasons work on the plan had been delayed until recently. His wife, the former Dorothy Burcham of Winston-Salem, is active in the business and has worked with him in designing and decorating the place. The name "Christy's" is derived from their 23-months-old daughter, Christine, who is called Christy. A portrait of the child hangs on the wall by the door, done by Beth Turner, commercial artist of Southern Pines, who also painted two large murals on the north wall, depicting Sandhills golf and equestrian scenes.
The Christy's location has been completely remodeled and redecorated and all equipment was custom-built to suit the space. Equipment was designed and fabricated by Stainless Steel Fabricators, Inc., a division of Montgomery - Green Co. of Raleigh.
Longmeadow dairy products, which are distributed in the area by Clarendon Farms, are handled exclusively by Christy's. Take-home service is featured as well as service at the dairy bar and in the restaurant.
Special equipment includes a "Charrock" broiler which combines gas and charcoal broiling in preparing one of Christy's specialties, a "charcoal-burger." The Burns also plan to use it later for steaks. Also among the special equipment items is a continuously producing ice machine.
Twenty-eight persons can be seated in booths and at a counter which features a new patented design that provides a rounded, table-like extension of the counter for each stool, giving counter customers the equivalent of individual tables.
Mahogany paneling is used on walls other than the north wall having the Beth Turner paintings.

A large window extends across nearly the whole front of the establishment.
Mr. Burns moved to Southern Pines from Ohio with his family in 1939. He is the son of the late George C. Burns and Mrs. Mabel I. Burns who lives on Country Club Drive. Mrs. Mary Loup, the local man's grandmother, resides with Mrs. Burns.
Mr. Burns attended the local high school before serving in the Army Air Force in World War II. After the war, he attended and was graduated from Presbyterian Junior College at Maxton.
He subsequently was with the Geigy Chemical Company and managed the Fairway Motor Court when it was first opened. Mr. and Mrs. Burns lived for two and a half years near Las Vegas, Nev., returning to Southern Pines in May of this year. In Nevada, Mr. Burns was payroll and cost accounting clerk with the Blue Diamond Corporation, a division of Flintkote, a large building materials manufacturing company with nation-wide operations.
Mr. Burns has a sister, Mrs. John Emmett French of Myrtle Beach, S. C.
Mr. and Mrs. Burns live in a trailer near their place of business. Working full-time also at Christy's are Tommy Joe Burcham, Mrs. Burns's brother, who is assistant manager; Miss Carolyn Faye Rogers of Southern Pines, waitress; and Mrs. Naomi Cameron of West Southern Pines who is in the kitchen.
Mr. Burns, who for years has had a hobby of cooking, is obviously pleased that his long-held dream of operating a local eating establishment has come true.

LIONS SEE FILM
Twenty-five members and guests of the Pinehurst Lions Club Wednesday night attended the Club's weekly dinner meeting at the Legion Hut. Dinner was cooked and served by the American Legion Auxiliary. Dr. J. C. Grier, Jr., program chairman, showed the group the film, "Operation Abolition."
Milk production on American dairy farms in 1960 averaged above 7,000 pounds per cow for the first time in history.
