16-Year-Old Boys Sent to Prison For Robbery at Store Near Eastwood

William David Phillips and Ronald Colling Brown, both 16, of the Carthage area, drew road sentences of 12 to 18 months in Moore County Superior Court Tuesday.

They pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and larceny in the robbery of Garner Maness' store near Eastwood, where they stole hundreds of dollars' worth of food and merchandise.

Because of their youth, Judge Q. K. Nimocks, presiding, made a "strong recommendation" that the Prison Department assign them to Camp Umstead, the first offenders' camp at Butler.

In another case where several youths banded together to strip a service station-store of its wares, Billy Cole drew sentences of 12 to 18 months each, to run concurrently, on two counts, while Richard Cole as accessory drew 90 days.

The Cole boys pleaded nolo contendere in the breaking and entering and larceny case. Residents of Lee county, they had gone across the line into Moore to strip Wilmoth's Service Station and store near White Hill of practically all its wares.

Two prison camp escapees, Ronald Ackley and Preston Jackson, drew 12 months' sentences suspended on condition they attempt no further escape while serving out their current terms.

Johnny Thacker, Negro youth who had escaped several times from both the Morrison and Leonard Training schools, pleaded guilty to 14 separate break-ins and robberies in Moore County, as well as three in Winston-Salem and two in Raleigh.

He drew not less than two nor more than three years in prison, with the court's recommendation that he receive psychiatric examination.

In the case of Clyde Chriscoe, charged with non-support of minor child (a 15-year-old son), a defense motion for a directed verdict of not guilty was allowed and the defendant released.

True bills were handed down by the grand jury against Alec Everett, 82-year-old man charged with second-degree murder; Raymond Lloyd Brown, auto larceny; Howard R. Bullin, breaking and entering L. H. McNeill's place in Southern Pines; Bernice McLeod, Vass Negro, on counts of both rape and carnal knowledge; James Early Fore and Charles L. Johnson, breaking and entering, larceny and receiving, both at Walls Service Station and Harbours Store, at Cameron last January 27.

Next Concert To Bring Cile Turner Back To Sandhills

With the approach of November 30, date set for the second concert of the Sandhills Music Association, officials of the society met Monday to lay their plans.

The concert will feature Cile Turner, of radio and TV fame, singer of blues and her own ballads, who has sung in Washington, Boston, New York, London, and many another big city and smaller town; also the Pinehurst Forum. Mrs. Turner will be assisted by the Sandhills Octet, vocal group of local singers.

The latter, headed by Dr. Bruce Warlick, under the direction of R. H. Poole of Aberdeen, will also sing several numbers "on their own."

Plans developed at Monday's meeting included a quick wrap-up of ticket sales to complete the assignment of series tickets for the last three concerts, also continuation of the drive for memberships on which this cultural effort largely depends for community support.

Tickets, reserved and unreserved, for the series, and single concert tickets, as well as memberships are on sale at the Barnum Agency.

Present last Monday were Mrs. John S. Ruggles, treasurer, in whose downstairs office the meeting was held, Leonard Muddimer, president, Mrs. James Boyd, president-elect, Miss Katherine Wiley, chairman of the ticket sales committee, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cozzens in charge of advertising and program layout.

In 1958, the citizens of Wake County, N. C., had a per capita income 82 per cent of the national average. On the other hand, the per capita income in Newton County, Ark., was only 17 per cent of the national average.

3-6-1 RECORD FOR SEASON

Blue Knights Beat Carthage 32-6 in Final Game Played at Memorial Field

By RONALD MCCRIMMON The Southern Pines Blue Knights scored a 32-6 victory over the Carthage Bulldogs in the last game of the season, Friday night.

Carthage won the toss and elected to receive, but was unable to move the ball and was forced to punt. The Knights took the ball on the Bulldogs' 45-yard line and in three plays moved to the 30-yard line. Tailback Eddie McKenzie then passed 30 yards to Fullback Johnny Bristow for a touchdown. This was the only score in the first half for the Knights.

Carthage scored early in the second quarter, starting a march on their own 23-yard line. Quarterback Larry McCallum began with a 47-yard run which was stopped on the Knights' 30-yard line by Wally Wallace. Carthage took five plays to move the ball to the seven yard line where Larry McCallum passed to Eddie Cockman for a seven-yard touchdown pass. This was the only score of the game for Carthage.

In the third quarter, Wingback Dan Thomas ran the reverse which covered 18 yards to score for the Knights. Fullback Bristow carried the ball for the extra point. The Knights had a 13-6 lead going into the fourth quarter.

In the fourth quarter, McKenzie tossed to Bristow for another 30-yard touchdown pass. Bristow also scored the extra point on a run.

McKenzie passed to end Harold Williford from the 20-yard line for another touchdown.

In the final minutes McKenzie passed to blocking back Wally Wallace from his own 43-yard line. Wallace caught the ball on the Bulldogs' 40-yard line, evaded two Carthage players and ran 40 yards to score.

The Blue Knights scored 19 points in the last quarter. This year every player in the backfield has scored a touchdown.

The Knights had 10 first downs, 266 rushing yards and 155 passing yards, for a total of 421 yards, the most they have gained this year. They completed 6-22 passes. They had one pass intercepted, punted three times for a 36 yard average, lost one fumble, and were penalized 70 yards.

Carthage had four first downs, 171 rushing yards, 51 passing yards, and completed 4-9 passes. They punted six times for a 35-yard average; lost one fumble; and were penalized 57 yards.

The Knights finished the season with three wins, six losses, and one tie—not a true picture of their power. Several games were lost by only one or two points and the team had several bad breaks without which they could have changed the situation more favorably.

Next year the squad will lose seniors Wally Wallace, Eddie McKenzie, Harold Williford, Larry Michaels, Bob Madigan and Dickey Hoskins, but prospects should be good with many young, experienced players.

Mrs. Frank McNeill Heads Committee For Alumni Group

A constitution for the proposed St. Andrews Presbyterian College Alumni Association is being drafted by a committee which is headed by Mrs. Frank A. McNeill of Aberdeen.

The constitution and organizational framework will be presented to an alumni luncheon in April for further consideration by all alumni of the new college, Mrs. McNeill said in making the announcement.

The April luncheon will kick off installation ceremonies celebrating the inaugural year for Dr. Ansley Cunningham Moore, St. Andrews' first president.

Alumni activities of the new consolidated college at Laurinburg were launched on Homecoming day last Saturday. The event attracted three hundred alumni of Flora Macdonald and Presbyterian Junior Colleges which merged to form St. Andrews.
