MOORE COUNTY RECORDER'S COURT
Carthage Youths Draw Penalties For
Defiance of Law On Streets of Town

Five Carthage youths ranging in age from 16 to 21 faced Judge J. Vance Rowe in Moore County recorder's court Monday, drawing penalties for actions performed in defiance of the law on the streets of their home town. They pleaded guilty in three separate cases.

David Phillips, 16 years old, had been under $1,000 bond to Moore Superior Court for breaking, entering and larceny when he was picked up three days before the term opened for public drunkenness, cursing and resisting arrest. In Superior Court, he was sentenced to serve 12 to 18 months, preferably at a first offenders' camp. He was held over in Moore County jail to face the earlier charges in Recorder's Court.

A companion, Hayden Davis, 21, drew 60 days suspended on payment of $35 and costs, on strict good-behavior conditions during the next 12 months. Young Phillips drew six months suspended for two years on good-behavior conditions, covering his prison term. During the term he must, by Judge Rowe's judgment, "obey all rules and regulations of the prison camp," then, on completing the prison sentence, "appear in this court and show by statement from the superintendent of said camp that he complied with the terms of the judgment while there, and then continue to be on good behavior during the remainder of said two-year probationary period."

Larry Smith, also of Carthage, drew four months suspended on payment of $25 and costs for public drunkenness, resisting arrest and malicious damage to town property. He was ordered also to pay the Town of Carthage about $15 damage he did to the police car, and not to violate the law during a 12-month period.

Night Officer John McDonald, who made all five of the arrests, testified that when he tried to pick up young Smith near the courthouse, the boy told him, "You're not man enough to get me into that car." The boy soon found he was wrong, but in the process kicked dents in the fender of the car and in the dashboard.

The other two young defendants were Larry Thomas Bennett, 16, charged with allowing another to speed his car, and hTomas Wayne Caddell, 19, exceeding safe speed. Both were additionally charged with possession of pyrotechnics. Testimony was that the boys had streaked about the county seat in Bennett's car shooting off firecrackers Halloween night.

Each youth drew 30-day road sentences, suspended for 12 months on payment of $10 and costs, on good-behavior conditions, those for Bennett including immediate arrangements to reenter school, and regular attendance for at least the balance of the school year.

Another teen-ager, Richard McGoogan, 17, of Eastwood, was the only Negro defendant of the day. Pleading guilty to exceeding safe speed in a case in which an accident occurred, he drew 60 days suspended on payment of $35 and costs, and payment of the medical expenses of a girl passenger in his car who had been injured.

Woodrow Eldridge, former Carthage police chief who has been in court several times, mainly because of domestic problems, since he left the town employ several years ago, was there again Monday for failure to comply with terms set for the support of his children. Though Eldridge, now a truckdriver, had paid some amounts during the past few weeks, Judge Rowe ascertained that he was delinquent in the sum of $100 for September and October. He ordered commitment of the road sentence to issue unless the defendant can show on or before next Monday that the amounts due for those two months have been paid up in full.

Other cases disposed of:

Jack Britt, Biscoe, public drunk, disorderly conduct, 60 days suspended for 12 months on payment of costs, probationary conditions; Bass Black, Carthage, assault with deadly weapon (chair), judgment continued on payment of costs and good behavior in his home and elsewhere during the next 12 months; William Ascar Murray, Jr., Southern Pines, careless driving, accident, 60 days suspended on payment of $25 and costs, not to violate speed laws during next 12 months; Mrs. Marvin Whitley, Vass, Route 2, unlawful possession of taxed whiskey for sale and selling, 60 days in jail suspended for 12 months on payment of $50 and costs, not to violate prohibition laws during next 12 months; William Oscar Hatch, Southern Pines, violation of prohibition laws, possession and selling, three months suspended for 12 months on payment of $100 and costs; Charlie Stafford, Aberdeen, violation of prohibition laws, possession and selling, 60 days suspended for 12 months on payment of $50 and costs; Norman Harold Kennedy, Robbins, Route 2, public drunkenness, 30 days or $25 and costs (acquitted of driving while drunk); Hubert Fox, Robbins, assault with deadly weapon, public drunkenness, not guilty.

to North Carolina...

a glass of beer
means many things

To those areas in the state which permit its "legal sale," beer is a symbol of relaxation at the end of a beautiful day's drive amid the scenic splendors of the dramatic Blue Ridge Mountains.

To most North Carolinians a glass of beer means a light refreshment of moderation, from the "legal sale" of which substantial tax revenues contribute to many needed and worthy county and municipal services.
