

BOTH IN TEXAS

Air Force Sons Of 2 Pinehurst Families Killed

The sons of two Pinehurst families—both serving in the Air Force in Texas—were killed this week in unrelated accidents, one an automobile collision, the other the crash of a jet bomber.

The Rev. and Mrs. Roscoe L. Prince were notified Monday that their son, Airman 3-C William L. Prince, 19, was killed when two automobiles collided at a highway intersection near Goodfellow Air Force Base near San Angelo. Two other airmen were killed and eight persons injured.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McKenzie were informed of the death of their son, 1st Lt. James T. McKenzie, 26, when the B58 supersonic jet bomber on which he was a crew member crashed and exploded on taking off from Carswell Air Force Base near Fort Worth where he was stationed. All three crew members were killed.

Funeral services for Airman Prince will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Pinehurst Community Church of which his father is pastor, conducted by the Rev. George Houck, pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Mount Hope Cemetery, Southern Pines.

Donations may be made to the William Prince Memorial Music Fund which was established this week by interested Pinehurst residents, to be administered by officers of the Community Church, for benefit of the church's music program, in such items as library, supplies or equipment.

Military rites will be accorded Lieutenant McKenzie in services conducted at Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., where burial will take place.

Trotting Races Set for Sunday

The Pinehurst Driving and Training Club has carded an exceptionally attractive race program for the season's opening matinee of harness racing for Sunday, March 11, over the Pinehurst track. Post-time for the first race is 2:30 p. m.

Entries are drawn from the choice lot of three-hundred richly-bred trotters and pacers that are being trained for competition during the coming season over the country's leading tracks. A series of six races with well-filled fields is programmed and a special feature will be a parade of horses with records of two minutes or faster.

A novel attraction will be the first public appearance of TWEEDLEDEE and TWEEDLEDUM, the famous twins in the Clearview Stable, owned by Norman Woolworth of Winthrop, Me.

Deal to Be Lutheran Minister Here

Jack Deal, senior at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Columbia, S. C., has accepted a call by the Board of American Missions of The United Lutheran Church in America to become the first full-time minister and mission developer of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Southern Pines, it was announced today by Dr. Donald Houser of the Board of American Missions in New York City.

Pastor Deal served the local group, which draws its membership from Pinebluff, Aberdeen, Pinehurst, Carthage and Southern Pines, during the past summer. He will begin his new duties shortly after graduation from the Seminary on May 15 and prior to his ordination sometime in June.

Pastor Deal is married to the former Carolyn Hollar of Hickory. They have two children, Don, age 11 and Cathy, age 7.

The local Lutheran group has grown steadily since its initial service two years ago. Negotiations are currently underway to purchase a parsonage on E. New York Avenue and an option to purchase was taken recently on several acres of land between Aberdeen and Southern Pines as a future church site.

Lutherans in this area of the State are rather scattered and it is anticipated this church will serve Lutherans and the unchurched from the entire surrounding Sandhills.

Outdoor Service Marks Start of Episcopal Home Project Here

This was the scene as a service was held and ground was broken Sunday afternoon for the Episcopal Home for the Ageing of the Diocese of North Carolina, to be located on a 13-acre tract given by the Boyd family, fronting on Ridge St., between Maine and Rhode Island Aves. This open field site, where the Rt. Rev. Richard H. Baker, D. D., bishop of the diocese, turned the first spadeful of earth, is now almost hidden from Ridge St. by dense woods and undergrowth.

here. Many of the more than 200 Episcopal Laymen, attending a diocese-wide convention here Sunday, joined members of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and visitors to witness the ground-breaking and participate in an accompanying service.

Others taking part in the service were the Rev. Martin Caldwell, rector of Emmanuel Church; the Rev. William Moultrie Moore of Charlotte; the Rev. John C. Mott of Greensboro; and Thomas F. Southgate of Winston-Salem, a leader in raising funds for the home, who was the principal speaker.

Recognized were Mayor John

S. Ruggles, N. L. Hodgkins, treasurer of the home; and Mr. and Mrs. John L. MacDougall, administrators, all of Southern Pines; also Mrs. Edwin A. Penick of Raleigh, widow of the late Bishop Penick who originated the move for the Home; Mrs. T. P. Thomas of Wilson, vice president of the Churchwomen of the diocese; and Freeman Edgerton of Charlotte, president of the diocese's Laymen.

Cloudy skies, chilly air and a few drops of rain caused some discomfort at the ceremony, but just as Bishop Baker started to the ground-breaking, partial sunlight broke through the clouds.

Mr. Cosby revealed that $425,000 has been raised toward cost of the home.

Speaking prior to the ground-breaking itself, Bishop Baker said, "With all the authority invested in me, I express my gratitude, reflecting the gratitude of every person in the diocese, for the wonderful leadership of all leaders in the Home project. I will continue to thank God for the many people and the many influences that have brought it to pass."

Mrs. Busbee Dies At 85 in Home at Jugtown Pottery

Mrs. Jacques Busbee who with her husband founded the famed Jugtown pottery in upper Moore county more than 40 years ago, died in her log cabin home there Friday morning at the age of 85.

Though a victim of arteriosclerosis, she had been in good health physically until the previous week, when a touch of flu had sent her for several days to St. Joseph's hospital. She was returned by her own wish to Jugtown, where she remained in bed, cared for by a housekeeper-companion. She died peacefully in her sleep.

A simple memorial service was held Monday morning in the cabin, attended by friends of the neighborhood and others from farther places, who braved a snowy morning to pay tribute to a unique personality and a lifetime filled with accomplishment.

Following the reading of psalms by the Rev. Martin Caldwell of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Southern Pines, those present joined in his prayer thanking God "for Thy daughter who has taken (Continued on Page 8)

Garland Pierce Named Chairman Merchants' Group

At the organization meeting of the board of directors of the newly formed Southern Pines Merchants Council, Monday night, Garland Pierce was elected chairman, Dick Mattocks secretary and Mrs. Hollie Sisk treasurer.

The board had been given authority by the membership to elect officers for the Council.

A number of policies, regulations and projects were drawn up. Memberships will be limited to people within the limits of Southern Pines and will be of two types:

1. Active merchants who sell products or services.
2. Associate members composed of other business people who want to affiliate.

Dues for each type will be $2 per year. A membership drive will be started under leadership of Dante Montesanti, a member of the board.

The Council will be independent—not affiliated with any state or national organization. (Continued on Page 8)

Brochure Notes Progress, Growth Of St. Joseph's

A brochure showing the growth and progress of St. Joseph of the Pines Hospital from its opening in 1948 through 1961 and detailing some of the hospital's operations during 1961 has been mailed to nearly 4,500 families in Moore County, it was announced this week.

Charles Paul, a member of the hospital's Advisory Council, called the brochure a "report to the community," giving a picture of the hospital's activities, organization and financial operation.

The Catholic Diocese of Raleigh took over the former Pine Needles Hotel in 1948. Mr. Paul recalled, "and a small band of highly skilled Nuns moved in and started to make it work."

COURT OF HONOR

A Moore District Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held at 8 p. m. Monday in the West End High School auditorium, it was announced today by C. C. Thompson of Pinebluff, district advancement chairman.

Public Invited to Formal Opening of Southern National Bank on March 15

The formal grand opening of the Southern Pines office of the Southern National Bank of Lumberton will be held from 4 to 9 p. m., Thursday of next week, March 15, it is announced by Hector MacLean of Lumberton, Southern National president.

The bank will open for business at 9 a. m. the next day, March 16.

After a brief ceremony at the bank building at the corner of S. W. Broad St. and New York Ave., the doors will be opened, with the public invited to inspect all the facilities of the bank. There will be gifts and refreshments for all, said William H. Gentry, Jr., vice-president in charge of the Southern Pines office.

In the opening ceremony, the Rev. Maynard Mangum, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the invocation. Mr. MacLean will speak prior to a formal ribbon-cutting.

In connection with the opening, the bank will give away a stereo console phonograph.

On hand to welcome the public will be Southern National officers from Lumberton, Fayetteville and Hamlet as well as the local directors and staff members. (Continued on Page 8)

Job Applications To Run Thru Saturday

"A steady flow of applicants" was reported this morning at the National Guard Armory on Morganton Road, as a three-day labor registration began for jobs in a 600-employee light electrical appliance plant that is expected to locate here.

The registration, which will serve as actual employment applications to the company, continued this afternoon.

The hours for Friday and Saturday are:

Friday—9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m.
Saturday—8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

A wide variety of jobs are open, including office and clerical workers, inspectors, machine operators and light hand assembly workers. The company plans to employ about half men and half women.

Training programs will be conducted so that unskilled persons need not hesitate to apply.

Name of the company that plans to build a plant here is being withheld pending completion of negotiations and determination by the company, through the labor registration, that this area can supply sufficient workers for its needs.

Curriculum to Be Discussed at PTA Meeting Monday

The high school's curriculum and how parents can help in selection of courses by students entering high school this year will be discussed at the March meeting of the East Southern Pines Parent-Teacher Association, to be held in Weaver Auditorium at 8 p. m. Monday.

Taking part in the discussion will be Supt. Luther Adams, High School Principal Glenn Cox and Don Moore of the faculty.

Mrs. Albert Grove, PTA president, said that parents of both high school and elementary students should find the program of interest.

A nominating committee is expected to make its report on nominations of PTA officers for the 1962-63 school year.

Saunders to Run For State Senate In May Primary

William P. Saunders of Southern Pines announced this week that he would be a candidate for the State Senate in the Democratic primary in May.

Mr. Saunders's name had been mentioned frequently in connection with the office. After Wilbur Currie of Carthage—who was Moore's senator in 1959 and other former sessions of the General Assembly—said last week that he would not run, it was generally assumed that Mr. Saunders would be a candidate. To date, he is unopposed for the nomination. His statement follows:

"During recent weeks many people have asked that I become a candidate for the State Senate from the 12th senatorial district comprising Moore, Hoke, Harnett and Randolph counties. "After giving the matter serious consideration, I have decided to become a candidate for the office in the May 26 Democratic primary.

"If nominated and elected, I will try to represent Moore County and the district in a manner in keeping with a progressive and growing state. To be of service to the people of Moore County will be a high honor and privilege for me.

"I will appreciate the support and suggestions of the people of Moore County in the primary campaign." (Continued on Page 8)

Girl Scouting's 50th Anniversary To Be Observed

Girl Scout troops of Southern Pines and other Moore County communities will join girls over the nation in observing Girl Scout Week which will begin Sunday, marking the 50th anniversary of the founding of Scouting for girls in the United States.

In Southern Pines, troops will attend churches together in uniform on Sunday—Troop 82 at the United Church of Christ, Troop 129 at Brownson Memorial Presbyterian Church and Troop 104 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

There will be window displays and other activities during next week. Most elaborate of the displays is planned by Troop 104 in the window of the Mill Outlet Store on S. W. Broad St. The girls as living models will sew, carve soap and carry on other craft work learned in Girl Scouting.

Superior Court Civil Term to Start Monday

The regular civil term of Moore superior court will start Monday with Judge Robert M. Gambill of North Wilkesboro presiding.

Eight uncontested divorces will be the first items for action, with several motions in pending cases also to be heard on the opening day, and a number of old cases to be cleared from the docket. A number of cases are calendared for trial through Thursday.

Blue Knights Win Tournery

By RONALD McCORMON

The Southern Pines Blue Knights defeated the Pinehurst Rebels 39-32 to capture the Moore County Basketball Tournament Saturday night before an over-capacity attendance. This was the third time the teams had battled it out. Pinehurst handed the Knights their only defeat of the season. The championship game was played in the Elise High School gym at Robbins.

The Knights got off to a slow start in the first half and trailed 20-14 in the low-scoring game. The Knights hit 7 for 34 from the floor; Pinehurst 9 for 21.

In the second half the Knights changed their defense from a zone to a man-for-man, that they had used in the first half to keep the fouls down, and easily overtook the Pinehurst Rebels with the excellent outside shooting of Dick Seymour who hit four straight shots from the floor. At the end of the third quarter the Knights had a two-point lead. In the final quarter Pinehurst was never able to overtake the Knights' lead, although the game was very close down to the final minutes. This was a slow-play game with each team playing for the good shots.

Southern Pines hit for 35 per cent from the floor; Pinehurst 26 per cent. Pinehurst was unable to match the rebounding abilities of Seymour and Williford for the Knights. Wallace, Bristow and McKenzie displayed excellent ball-handling abilities in the (Continued on Page 8)
