Alleged Check Forger Arrested After Dramatic Hunt by Merchant, Officers

An AWOL Fort Bragg soldier, recently married and living at West End, was arrested Wednesday night on fraud and forgery charges.

Officers said he admitted having made fraudulent bank deposits, and issuing forged and fictitious checks against the deposits Monday, at Southern Pines and Aberdeen, and Wednesday at Sanford.

The soldier, Olie W. Olsen, 22, home town Pittsburgh, Pa., was arrested largely through the alertness and tenacity of a Sanford businessman, Japon Christmas, who had accepted one of the fictitious checks for $137.50. Christmas, who formerly lived in Southern Pines, then became suspicious of the check, and followed the youth, who had given the name of "David Bernard."

The chase led from Sanford, to Cameron, back to Sanford and back to Cameron, then to a country home six or seven miles away where the youth said he lived. On finding no one there had ever heard of him, Christmas went to the Sanford police.

He had noted the auto license number, which Cpl. P. H. Parsons of Sanford found belonged to C. T. Hicks, Jr., of West End—actually, it turned out, the brother-in-law of Olsen.

About 9 p.m. last night Deputy Sheriff J. A. Lawrence, accompanied by SBI Agent Gary Griffith, Cpl. Parsons and Japon Christmas, with Constable Oscar

Denoff Fails to Appear in Court; Bond Forfeited

A capias issued last week for Donald S. Denoff, local real estate developer and builder who was arrested for fraud and false pretense March 23, was returned to Moore County Recorder's Court Monday marked "not found in Moore County."

Judge J. Vance Rowe, presiding at the regular session of the court, ordered that the $750 bond posted by Harold A. Collins of Southern Pines for Denoff's appearance in court Monday of last week—when he failed to appear—be reduced to $500 and that amount be paid by the bondsman.

Denoff's arrest took place on a warrant sworn out by the Southern Pines Plumbing and Heating Company, charging that a check for $750 given to the company by Denoff, for subcontracting work on the parsonage of the Southern

Little Leaguers To Solicit Funds

Boys who are members of Little League and Minor League baseball squads will begin Saturday to make house-to-house calls in a "Buy a Brick" program for funds to complete the concession stand at the new Little League park on Morganton Road. The solicitation will continue for a week.

Tags depicting bricks will be sold for 50 cents each, with designation on the tag that a donation to the fund has been given.

Mrs. William F. Hollister, chairman for the project, said that bricks for the concession stand had been donated by the Sanford Brick and Tile Co., but that the "Buy a Brick" program is necessary to raise funds for labor and other expenses involved in the construction.

The boys will play their first practice games Saturday at the park—Little Leaguers from 9 a. m. to noon, and Minor Leaguers from 2 to 5 p.m. The "brick" tags will be given out to boys at those times.

Officers of PTA Will Be Elected

Officers for the next school year will be elected and parents will be invited to visit classrooms of the elementary, junior high and high schools, at the April meeting of the East Southern Pines Parent-Teacher Association, to be held Monday at 8 p.m. in Weaver Auditorium.

Mrs. Albert Grove, PTA president, said that the designation "Mom's Night" has been given to Monday's meeting, with mothers of students particularly urged to attend. Earlier in the current school year, the PTA had a "Pop's Night" which attracted an unusually large number of fathers to the meeting.

Fathers, of course, are urged to come, too, Monday, Mrs. Grove said.

Teachers will meet parents in classrooms and will be available to discuss students' work.

MARGARET TRUMAN, shown here with Donald Filippelli, Pinehurst Playhouse producer, arrived Monday to start rehearsals for her appearance at the Playhouse next week in "Time of the Cuckoo" which will open Tuesday evening to run through Sunday, April 15. The daughter of former President and Mrs. Harry Truman and the wife of Clifton Daniel, Jr., North Carolina native who is executive editor of The New York Times, she has had a successful singing and acting career and has appeared on nationally famous television shows. News of Miss Truman's visit to Pinehurst is found in stories elsewhere in today's Pilot. (Hemmer photo)

'Hoe Down' Friday Labor Survey at To Benefit Band West End Slated

An old-fashioned "hoe down," with round and square dancing and Nick Croty of Pinehurst calling the figures will be held at the East Southern Pines school gym Friday from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. to help pay for new uniforms that have been purchased for the school band. The event is sponsored by the Band Boosters Club. Music will be by the Carolina Cardinals. Details appear in a story elsewhere in today's Pilot.

Applications for work with a proposed sportswear manufacturing company at West End will be taken in a labor survey to be conducted Saturday.

Persons interested in work with a company reportedly interested in locating at West End are asked to apply at the fire station there from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Skilled sewing machine operators, pressers and cutters are wanted but there will be jobs also for unskilled workers.

Work Begins at Proctor-Silex Site

Clearing and grading work at the site of the Proctor-Silex plant, off Yadkin Road and facing the access road to the Trimble plant, was begun last week by the Daniels Construction Co., under supervision of the company's Greensboro office. The work is progressing rapidly. It is expected that details will be announced soon about an employment office and, later, a training program, for the 500 to 600 employees the company will hire for its electric iron manufacturing operations and other jobs in the plant.

About 3,700 persons registered for work at the plant during a three-day job application survey made before the final decision was made to locate the plant here.

Ceremony Opens Whispering Pines Golf Course

Formal opening of the first nine holes of the Whispering Pines Country Club's golf course took place Saturday morning with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the first tee. Cutting the ribbon is Mrs. A. B. Hardee, wife of the president of Sandhill Properties, the Whispering Pines development corporation.

president; William T. Shore, Whispering Pines salesman and partner with Mr. Hardee in the H & S Realty Co.; Ed Comer, salesman; Linwood Harmon, greens superintendent; Mr. Hardee who founded the rapidly expanding Whispering Pines residential development around two large lakes, a few miles north of Southern Pines; Avery Beck, golf pro at the club; Thomas T. Hayes, Jr., of Hayes, Howell and Associates, designers of the club-

Southern Pines Pharmacy Bought By Montesanti

Joe Montesanti, Jr., owner of the Broad Street Pharmacy, at the corner of N. W. Broad St. and Pennsylvania Ave., announced today that he has bought the Southern Pines Pharmacy, corner of N. W. Broad St. and New Hampshire Ave., from Mr. and Mrs. Graham Culbreth. The transaction was completed Saturday, effective the first of this month, he said.

Both businesses will continue in operation at their present locations, Mr. Montesanti said, with no changes in policy or personnel. Mr. Culbreth, who in partnership with his wife, Mrs. Lou Culbreth, has operated the Southern Pines Pharmacy since 1945, will be in charge of the prescription department at Southern Pines Pharmacy under the new ownership.

Remaining in the Southern Pines Pharmacy Building but not included in the sale and operating as an independent business will be Mrs. Culbreth's service in the sale and expert fitting of surgical supports. There is a separate entrance on New Hampshire Ave. to Mrs. Culbreth's rooms.

Mr. Montesanti, a pharmacist, has been sole owner of the Broad Street Pharmacy for the past 12 years and had previously been a partner in the business for five years, with Vance McMillan and the late Leon Talton.

The sale unites two of the community's oldest businesses. The

Nursing Course To Be Given at Moore Memorial

Personnel instruction in the nursing field, impossible in recent years because of unavailability of a qualified instructor, will be started at Moore Memorial Hospital within the next month or so.

This is the word that comes from Administrator D. L. McGoogan and Mrs. Betty McLeod, acting director of nurses at the hospital.

Mrs. McLeod, who has been at Moore Memorial for the past year, and who has a B. S. degree of nursing instruction from the New York-Cornell Hospital and Medical Center, where she took her nursing training, is now engaged in drawing up the schedule for the coming classes. They have as their goal, that aim of all good hospitals, to improve patient care. There will be a course of class-

FRED B. POLLARD
Pollard to Head Cancer Campaign; Chairmen Named

Fred B. Pollard of 205 Highland Road, was named general chairman of the 1962 fund drive in Moore County at the annual meeting of the Moore County Chapter of the American Cancer Society last Wednesday evening. The meeting, held at the Carthage Hotel, was attended by representatives from throughout the county.

The appointment was announced by Cecil Beith of Southern Pines, who is assuming the presidency of the Society this year. Mr. Beith, crusade chairman in 1961, replaces David Ginsburg of Carthage.

Making his report for last year, Mr. Beith said that $900 more was raised in Moore County than in the preceding year—an increase of 33%. The quota for the county this year will be $4,500.

Mr. Pollard, an executive with the Amerotron Company at Aberdeen, is a member of the Southern Pines town council. He has been active in community work, having served as chairman of the Southern Pines Girl Scout fund-

Flags Will Be Sold Saturday

Members of the recently organized Moore County Flag Committee will sell American flag "kits" in the business areas of county towns Saturday.

The committee, which is urging increased display of the flag, particularly on national holidays, plans to sell at cost a kit which includes a 50-star flag, three by five feet in size and made of washable, colorfast cotton, with a double-jointed hardwood staff and metal staff socket with necessary screws for assembly.

Price of the kits is $3.75 each, a spokesman for the committee said.

The Sandhills Kiwanis Club, the Southern Pines Rotary Club, American Legion, Boy Scout units and several women's organizations will also have flag kits for sale, it was stated.

House, Garden Tour Set Wednesday

The 14th Annual House and Garden tour sponsored by the Southern Pines Garden Club will be held on Wednesday, April 11th from 9:30 a. m. till 5:30 p. m.

Eight homes and gardens have been chosen for their outstanding good taste, originality and charm.

All homes on the tour will be clearly marked by green arrows and visitors can take advantage of lunch in Southern Pines at the Shaw House or in Pinehurst at the Woman's Exchange.

As in past years, the proceeds from the tour will be used to improve the beauty of the town itself. The planting around the school, gymnasium and auditorium on Massachusetts Avenue, the window boxes at shops, and the landscaping of the new Town Hall are examples of the projects of the club. The tour will begin at the Shaw House, located on old Route 1 and S.

W. Broad Street. Tickets will be on sale here and at all houses on the tour.

After leaving the Shaw House, persons making the tour will go, in this order, to: the home of Mr. and Mrs. Voit Gilmore on E. Indiana Ave., Southern Pines; the home of Mrs. Van Buren Ilsley, Highland Road, Southern Pines; the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Campbell, E. Connecticut Ave., Southern Pines; the gardens at Homewood, residence of Mr. and Mrs. Denison K. Bullens, in the Knollwood area of Southern Pines; the home and grounds of Mrs. C. Louis Meyer, near Pinehurst, off the airport road; the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Read Burr, Midland Road, Pinehurst; and the home of Mrs. O. V. Russell, also on Midland Road, Pinehurst.

Following is a descriptive guide to the tour as compiled by the

Colorful Shrine Parade Scheduled Here on Saturday

Bands and marching units of Oasis Temple Shriners will stage one of their colorful parades in Southern Pines Saturday morning April 7, reports Joe Thomas of Southern Pines, chairman of the arrangements committee.

Some 250 brightly garbed men, including the Temple's well known Oriental Band, uniformed motorcycle outfit and clowns, are expected to arrive in town about 10:30 a. m., with plans to start the parade at 10:45.

The units will form on New York Ave., in the park block and will march north on E. Broad St. to Connecticut Ave., cross the railroad and then proceed south on W. Broad to New York, finishing at the park block again.

The visitation of the Shriners here will be one of four scheduled for that day. The units also plan to visit and parade in Sanford, Siler City and Asheboro, Mr. Thomas said.

The bands and other units are composed of Shriners from throughout the Oasis Temple jurisdiction which includes all of North Carolina west of a dividing line that runs through Raeford. The recently formed Moore County Shrine Club is a member of Oasis Temple.

It has been about 10 years since Shriners paraded here, Mr. Thomas said.
