160-LB. SPRINTER

Carter Burwell Stars in Track Meets for Citadel

Carter Burwell, a 19-year-old freshman member of the Citadel track team, took four first places for the freshmen in the Georgia Tech-Citadel track meet in Charleston two weeks ago. He won the 100 yard dash (9.7 seconds), the 220-yard dash (21.7 seconds), the 220-yard low hurdles (24.0 seconds), and the hop step and the jump (42' 11 1/2"). He paced the freshmen with 20 points as they went on to win 90 to 46.

The following week, he duplicated this feat of scoring four firsts and a third on a very soggy track at Furman U. in Greenville, S. C. He took the 100-yard (10.0 seconds), the 220-yard dash (22.0 seconds), the 220-yard low hurdles (24.9 seconds), the hop, step and the jump (41' 9 1/4") and a third broad jump with (21' 11 1/4"). The 5'8", 160-lb. sprinter lost 20 pounds to sacrifice weight for speed, and it has greatly improved his times. He is becoming a threat within the conference in the dashes and is already known around the coaches' circles for his lightning-fast starts.

Coaches at the Citadel are looking for a fine performance from him at the State and Conference meets in Columbia in May.

Cadet Burwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Burwell, Jr. of Pinehurst.

TEEING OFF * WITH deNISSOFF

Wilton Garrison, Charlotte Observer sports columnist, here last week for the North-South Women's Golf Championship, in his Sunday column delivered a well-deserved pat on the back to Joe Roddey, Pinehurst Country Club tennis professional.

At 68, Roddey, as Garrison points out, can give pupils of all ages a good fast workout.

We were surprised to learn from Mrs. Roddey that her husband, a Princeton University and Davidson College graduate, formerly in the banking and textile business in his native Rock Hill (S. C.), had been a professional teacher of tennis for only three years.

During the past two seasons at Pinehurst he has resurrected the formerly popular sport out of almost total extinction here, and it is a pleasure to see action once more on the courts, which have expanded to four with the completion and opening last month of two additional courts.

We think Mrs. R. teams beautifully with her husband as a real partner in the endeavor to return tennis to the Pinehurst sports scene. A former physical education instructor, she is always gracious and friendly and often lends a hand in helping the young beginning players.

And, with true Southern hospitality, she dispenses gallons of hot cocoa or iced tea, as the weather demands, to competitors and gallery alike whenever tournaments or exhibitions are in progress.

Anyone Can Play
The week of May 1-7 has been designated by Gov. Terry Sanford as "International Typographical Union (ITU) Week in North Carolina." The ITU, the Governor noted, on May 5 and 6, will celebrate its 110th anniversary with more than 2,000 workers in N. C. represented.

In this connection, we think there should be a "Let's Bait the Editors Week," because that is a field where the typographers, and composers, are really expert and anyone can, and usually does, play.

In the constant bickering which seems to go on, in small weeklies, between the editorial and composing room staffs, tension is built up gradually during the week and reaches its peak as the clock races toward the deadline on "press day." That is the time when the delicately adjusted temperaments of the editors are strained to the breaking point, and do "the boys in the back room" know it!

When we first began this column, with the trial run of the Pinehurst Page in the fall, one of the gentlemen from the composing room ambled up to us just about at our noon deadline Thursday and asked, with be-guiling (and sadistic) innocence, "what does 'teeing off' mean?" "It means," we snarled, "that we get mighty teed off at you and your tricks and your so-called sense of humor." Or words to that effect.

We also asked for criticisms, both adverse and otherwise, on the new page. We received none from our readers but quite a few from our fellow workers—one of whom particularly objects to our describing pine trees as "alluring." He says they aren't.

A former associate editor of the paper, now sweating out his last year at the UNC School of Law, takes issue with what we consider most innocuous—the asterisk in our "teeing off" headline.

And so it goes.

Actually, though we wouldn't want them to know it, we are constantly amazed that the typographers, composers, and all those who have to do with the mechanics of the paper not only put up with the editors week after week, but that they do such a clean, deft, and remarkably uniform job—week after week.
