

Farm Uses Peach Cooling Method

The Derby farm near Jackson Springs, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Currie, has installed hydrocooling peach-packing equipment that cools peaches by about 40 degrees, making possible shipping the fruit in cardboard boxes. The process reduces the amount of labor as well as the packing cost, said Ashton Richardson, superintendent of the packing house. Among the packing house workers are Joe and Jim Lambeth, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lambeth and grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Currie.
