County Fair Will Open Monday For Week At Carthage

The annual Moore County Fair will open at Carthage Monday, October 22 and run through Saturday night, October 27, with six days and nights of exhibits and entertainment.

The event is sponsored by the Carthage Junior Chamber of Commerce.

There will be the usual large array of farm produce exhibited, as well as commercial displays by school, home and civic clubs, scout units, manufacturing firms and businesses.

Highlighting the week long attraction will be the annual beauty pageant on Wednesday night, October 24 at 8:00 p.m., with the winner to be crowned "Miss Moore County High School of 1963."

Earl Barbour, Jr., is chairman of this feature event and expects 22 contestants, two from each of 11 high schools in the county.

Park Plan Hearing Held Here Today

Around 60 persons gathered at the town hall court room at 1 p. m. today for a public hearing on Mrs. James Boyd's gift of 400 acres of land east of Southern Pines to the State for a nature preserve State park.

The hearing was called by the State Department of Conservation and Development after requests for it had been made from persons opposing creation of the park in an area east of Bethesda Road and south of Connecticut Ave. extension.

Testimony at the hearing came too late for a report in today's Pilot.

Presiding was Robert Scott of Haw River, chairman of the C & D's Parks Committee. The other committee member attending was E. R. Evans of Ahsokie.

Officials and other interested persons attending and expected to be heard included: Tom Ellis, superintendent of State Parks; Andrew Jones assistant attorney general; John Allen, assistant to C. & D. director Robert L. Stallings, Jr.; Conlev Moffett, chief naturalist with the Division of State Parks; Alfred Radford, of the University of North Carolina, representing the North Carolina Academy of Science; and Dr. Frank Wood of Duke University representing the Nature Conservancy, a national non-profit group interested in preservation of wildlife and nature conservation sites.

Unemployment Office Moves To NG Armory

A change in location for the weekly visit of the representative of the Unemployment Security Commission to Southern Pines went into effect today at the National Guard armory on Morganton Road. It was formerly in the Information Center building. Days and hours of the weekly visit remain the same: Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon. The space in the Information Center was needed for other purposes.

Town Given Honor For Pedestrian Safety By AAA

Southern Pines received national recognition today as a "safe city" which had no pedestrian deaths during the year 1961, while cooperating in the pedestrian safety program of the American Automobile Association.

Presentation of a framed scroll honoring the one-year achievement was made to Mayor John S. Ruggles and Police Chief Earl Sewell at the municipal building by Joe E. Ward of Lumber-ton, division representative of the AAA.

The honor goes this year to only four towns in the eastern half of North Carolina, Laurinburg, Rockingham, Hamlet and Southern Pines, also to approximately the same number in the West. (Continued on Page 8)

Reid, Irvin Form New Partnership

Jack Reid and James L. Irvin, both of Southern Pines, have formed a partnership as successors to Paul Dana Associates of Pinehurst, it was announced this week. Each had been associated with the Dana accounting and auditing office for about the past 15 years.

The new firm is known as Reid and Irvin, Accountants—Pinehurst, North Carolina. The former Paul Dana offices in the Village Court Building will be retained. Both partners are members of the N. C. Society of Accountants.

A letter sent to clients and business associates by Mrs. Louise P. Dana, widow of the former head of the firm, said of the new partnership, "It was the wish of my husband that this be done, provided a satisfactory arrangement between them and the family could be worked out; and we are delighted that this has been accomplished."

Mrs. Nancy C. Blue and Mrs. Mary C. Richardson, secretaries who were with the Dana office, remain with the new partnership.

District Dental Society Elects Dr. VanderVoort

Dr. C. R. VanderVoort, whose home is in Southern Pines and who practices dentistry at Aberdeen, was elected vice president of the Third District Dental Society at its annual meeting held in Durham Sunday and Monday.

More than 200 dentists from the 22 counties in the district attended the gathering.

DOGWOOD IN BLOOM

Evidence of unseasonably warm weather of the past couple of weeks is a dogwood tree reported in bloom in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Schmelzer on Gun Club road, across from the ball park.

IN SCOUTING POST—Richard Muse, a native of Carthage, has replaced Jack E. Starnes of Monroe as one of the two Boy Scout professional executives now working in the Moore District which includes Moore County and a portion of Hoke County. With his wife and two children, he is living in the Knollwood Apartments. Lewis Weskey, the other executive, is stationed at Carthage. Starnes had served in the Moore District since July.

Petition Backs Chief Of Police Fired At Robbins

I. S. Martin, police chief at Robbins for the past five years, was fired from his job by unanimous vote of the Robbins town board in special session Monday night, with no official reason given.

Martin had been asked two weeks earlier by the board to resign, but had declined to do so. October 15 had been given as the cutoff date for his services, so the dismissal was made effective immediately.

Though the resignation request had been unofficial, as it was not decided in open meeting and there was no record on the minutes. (Continued on Page 8)

MANY AT HOMECOMING

About 350 persons attended last Sunday's Homecoming Day at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Maynard Mangum, pastor, reported this week. C. B. Deane of Rockingham, former Congressman and leading Baptist layman, was speaker at the morning service which was followed by "dinner on the grounds." The occasion marked founding of the church at Manly in 1879.

Special Superior Court Term Will Begin On Monday

A backlog of 59 cases composes the docket of a special term of criminal cases to be held next week at Carthage with Special Judge William J. Copeland of Murfreesboro presiding.

The grand jury will not convene as no new indictments will be sought. All the cases are old ones, which have been continued or not been reached for at least one term, some for as many as six terms, causing hardship for witnesses and defendants.

Solicitor M. G. Boyette hopes to clear them all off, as new cases are already stacking up for grand jury action and trial at the regular November term.

MURDER CASE—One murder case heads the list, calendared for trial Monday, that of Frank Young Yow, charged with second degree murder in the knife slaying of June Sullivan near Carthage June 11.

Also listed for Monday: Augusta Junior King, driving while drunk, careless and reckless driving; Vandell Nelson White, leaving car unattended on highway, attempting to steal tire; William H. Wood, driving while drunk; Robert D. Asheley, driving while drunk, unlawful possession of seal-broken whiskey; Frank Bry-an-Cooper, driving while drunk; Harry Lee Hill, driving while drunk; Willie Sellers, driving while drunk; William Carlyle. Rallies For Jonas, Kitchin To Be Held In County This Week

The red-hot 8th District Congressional race between Democrat A. Paul Kitchin of Wadesboro and Republican Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton centers in Moore County this week-end.

Mr. Jonas will have the stage on Friday and Mr. Kitchin on Saturday. Details in stories below.

The unique contest involves two seasoned members of the House of Representatives in Washington, pitted against each other by reason of Congressional redistricting. One of them, after the Tuesday, November 6, election, will have to give up his seat in the House.

Both are prominently mentioned as their party's candidate for Governor of North Carolina in 1964. Each of them is working night and day in these pre-election weeks for a victory that will be highly influential on the winner's career.

Republicans in Moore County, as throughout the District, are throwing unprecedented energy, with considerable fanfare, into the Jonas campaign, frankly bidding for the Democratic votes needed by their candidate to win. Moore Democrats are stressing party loyalty, while working steadily and quietly to get out a vote they believe can carry this county for Kitchin—provided a high proportion of registered party members go to the polls.

Meeting, Supper Set At Westmoore

Rep. Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton plans a full day in Moore County tomorrow (Friday), culminating in a chicken stew supper and rally at Westmoore School.

The free supper, with the public invited, will begin at 6:30 p.m., to continue into the following rally. Westmoore School is about six miles out of Robbins on the road to Seagrave.

The Republican Congressional candidate will begin his day with a tour of the Southern Pines business district, starting about 9 a.m.

A visit to the Trimble Products plant here is scheduled for 11 to 11:15, with another industrial plant visit set for noon to 1 p.m. at the Sandhill Furniture Corporation, West End.

Mr. Jonas and escorting GOP county leaders will have lunch at Carthage from 1 to 2 p.m., will visit in the Eastwood community from 2 to 3 and will be at Amerotron's Robbins plant for the shift change, 3:30 to 4:30. From there they'll go to the rally at Westmoore.

Plans for the Moore County Jonas visit—first appearance of the candidate here since Former President Eisenhower came to Pinehurst in September to endorse Jonas and appear with him on a luncheon program—were announced by James E. Harrington, Jr., of Pinehurst, Moore GOP chairman.

LUNCHEON FOR MRS. JONAS

There will be a dutch luncheon for Mrs. Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton, wife of the Republican Congressional candidate, at the Mid Pines Club, Wednesday of next week, at 12:30 p.m. Reservations should be made by calling GOP headquarters, 695-7783.

REGISTRATION FOR VOTING CONTINUES

Registration for voting in the November 6 election will continue during the coming week, to run through Saturday, October 27, with registrars at polling places on Saturday of this week and next week.

A new registration is being conducted in Moore County this year and all persons who did not register prior to the May primaries must register now to be able to vote November 6.

Local polling places are the fire station for North Southern Pines precinct; the town hall for South Southern Pines precinct; and Jackson Motors for the new Pinedene Precinct which extends south about as far as Westbrook's Market.

A separate registration on the Southern Pines municipal election books is being held, opening Friday and running through the 27th, with the registrar at the town hall, in anticipation of voting on four town bond issues only November 6. Persons hitherto properly registered for town elections need not register again.

Therapy Center Established At Local Hospital

The Matheson Memorial Center of St. Joseph of the Pines Hospital, providing recreational therapy for handicapped children and adults, as well as for all interested persons, has been established by Mrs. Constance M. Matheson in memory of her late husband, George W. Matheson of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Southern Pines.

Use of a large building near the hospital in Knollwood has been donated by the Sisters of St. Francis who own and operate the hospital. The building was once the Country Club associated with the Pine Needles Hotel which is now the hospital. The center will use the entire building with exception of a portion in which the offices of Dr. R. J. Dougherty are located.

Numerous individuals and organizations have already pledged cooperation and are active in operation of the center. Mrs. Matheson said, all volunteering their services in planning programs, teaching crafts or other phases of the unique project. It is hoped to make the facility a model for other small communities over the nation. Representatives have been pledged or will be sought from local civic clubs, churches, and other interested organizations. A troop of Girl Scouts is active at the center.

The help and guidance of organizations having special interest in or projects for the handicapped is being sought. Mrs. (Continued on Page 8)

SALES TO RESUME

Selling on the Aberdeen and Carthage tobacco markets in Moore County, along with other markets of the Middle Belt, will resume Monday, ending a one-week sales holiday.

1,000 Expected At Local Rally

The first political rally in the United States to be sponsored by Teen-Dems, the Democrats' "under-21" organization, will be held here Saturday at 2 p.m. in behalf of Rep. A. Paul Kitchin, Eight District congressman currently campaigning for reelection with many senior-party and YDC leaders helping.

Tentative acceptances have been received from Governor Sanford and U. S. Senators Sam J. Ervin and B. Everett Jordan by the host Moore County Teen-Dem group, to join Rep. Kitchin on the program.

Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines, director of the U. S. Travel Service, will be the keynote speaker at the rally, to be held at the East Southern Pines High school with 1,000 or more expected. Master of ceremonies will be W. Lamont Brown of Southern Pines, chairman of the Moore County Democratic executive committee.

The young hosts, most of them of high school age, are working enthusiastically for a successful event for Democrats of all ages, who will be motoring in from over the District and the State.

General chairman Ralph Hendren, local high school senior who is Eighth District Teen-Dems chairman and rally coordinator, as well as acting chairman of the recently organized Moore County group (120 membership), lists the following on his program:

Bert L. Bennett, State Democratic executive committee chairman; Tom I. Davis, State party headquarters secretary and editor of the North Carolina Democrat; Rep. H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen. (Continued on Page 8)

Jackson Serves As Convention Clerk

J. Elvin Jackson of Carthage, president of the Moore County Young Democrats, led a delegation to the State YDC convention at Greensboro last week.

By appointment from W. E. (Dub) Graham, Charlotte attorney and Moore County native who was the retiring state YDC president, Jackson served as clerk of the convention.

Attending from Moore in addition to the county president were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blue of Eagle Springs, Dock Smith of Robbins, Leonard VonCanon of West End, H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen and Hubert McCaskill of Pinehurst.

Some 1,200 delegates attended. David Reid of Greenville was elected state president to succeed Graham.

TUESDAY RALLY AT ROCKINGHAM

An 8th District Democratic rally will be held in Rockingham on Tuesday, October 23.

A caravan from Moore County plans to travel to Rockingham, leaving Carthage at 4:30; the Carolina Bank, Pinehurst, at 4:50; and Southern Pines Municipal building at 5 o'clock; and from Taylor Motors in Aberdeen at 5:15.
