Mrs. Cora G. Hopkins of High Point visited Miss May Chapman for several days over the weekend.

Mrs. Sam Dixon and her four children spent the past weekend with Mr. Dixon in Boone.

Mrs. Aldridge Returns To Stage Here This Week

Catherine Aldridge of Pinehurst plays a mystery character in "Come Blow Your Horn" playing through Sunday at the Pinehurst Playhouse.

A former Hollywood professional, Mrs. Aldridge worked with the Circle Theatre in Hollywood—"one of the first theatres to use natural staging—what we were doing was new and vital!" She has the Equity Library Show and several seasons of summer stock to her credit.

She gave it all up to marry an Englishman, James Aldridge, and lived in England for a year, near Liverpool. Her busy schedule now includes the Sandhill's Woman's Exchange, being leader of Girl Scout troop 110, serving as vice president of the St. Anthony's P. T. A. and riding herd on her four children.

Her grandfather, James Barber, was one of Pinehurst's first winter residents. Mrs. Aldridge now lives with her mother, Mrs. Harry Hogg, in Pinehurst.

Student Science Fairs Being Held In Southern Pines, At Carthage Friday

A Science Fair is being held at East Southern Pines High School today, to run through 8:30 p.m., and another is set for the high school gymnasium in Carthage tomorrow (Friday), with exhibits from various schools of the county system. The public is invited at both locations.

In the Southern Pines event, grades 1 through 12 are exhibiting science projects and equipment made and used during the school year. The projects in grades 7-12 will be judged for possible participation in the District and State Science Fairs to be held later this month in Chapel Hill and Raleigh.

High School Principal Glenn L. Cox said that the exhibits are intended to further an understanding of the work being carried on in science by the students. Exhibits will demonstrate a scientific principle and will consist of charts, models, diagrams of collections with a scientific objective.

The exhibits being judged are graded on the following points: ability, scientific thought, skill in handling the materials, thoroughness, clarity, and dramatic value.

In the Moore County Science Fair the students will set up their projects in the gym today and on Friday at 2 p.m. the projects will be judged and awards presented to the winners of the Junior and Senior Divisions.

The Science Fair, open to the public from 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday, consists of more than 100 projects prepared for display by students from the 7th through the 12th grades.

Sponsor is the Sandhills Kiwanis Club. Chairman of the Fair is Don McClusky, member of the Aberdeen High School faculty.

'HAPPY' IMPROVING

"Happy" Talbert, driver of the Carolina Hotel's bus for many years, is improving at Moore Memorial Hospital where he has been a patient since suffering a heart attack in mid-February.

Interested Group Enjoy Lewis's Talk

Fulton Lewis, III, son of the radio commentator, was the speaker at a meeting promoted by a new youth organization, Young Americans For Freedom, Monday night.

Held in Weaver Auditorium, the occasion drew a group of adults many of whose names had appeared on the invitation to the meeting mailed a week previously. Few young people were present.

Dr. John C. Grier, Jr. of Pinehurst, introduced the president of the youth organization, William L. Wicker of Aberdeen, who, in turn presented the speaker who is Field Director of the group.

The speech that followed had as its title "the difference between Conservatism and Liberalism." Delivered with great skill and a potent array of statistics, it was perhaps over-simplified to suit the age of the audience the speaker was doubtless expecting.

Mr. Lewis's remarks were well-received, though, for one who called himself "a conservative", they approached the radical. He called for the withdrawal of the United States from the UN and the abolishment of the international body, claimed that "one out of every three people in the world is living in slavery," and, in the question period, wound up by hinting that President Kennedy was trying to establish a rule of tyranny with himself in the star role and; "it would be a good thing" if he were impeached.

The audience though small was enthusiastic especially enjoying the speaker's jokes on the "neoliberals" and his clever imitation of President Kennedy's accent.
