PLAYHOUSE STAR

Holly Hill, At 22, Has Much Acting Experience

A native of Lenoir, N. C. is Holly Hill, leading ingenue of the Pinehurst Playhouse, who is starring as Isolde, glamorous wife of a Connecticut cartoonist in Peter DeVries' comedy, "Tunnel of Love," which opened Tuesday at the Playhouse.

Her co-star is Bruce Hall who plays the part of Augie Poole.

Holly Hill comes to the Pinehurst Playhouse with an impressive line of credits for her 22 years. Her first professional theatre experience was at the Commedia Repertory Theatre in San Francisco.

She has done summer stock at Cape Cod's Orleans Arena Theatre and at The Grist Mill in Andover, N. J., as well as several off-Broadway productions.

A charter member of the Dallas Theatre Center, where she played for two years, she has recently returned from a national tour of "Playboy of the Western World."

Speaking of her current role at the Pinehurst Playhouse Holly says, "Both she (Isolde) and Augie have this sort of joy of living that runs through the whole show. If you met Isolde at the PTA, she'd sparkle a bit more than the other women there because she doesn't get bogged down in things."

FHA Girls Appeared On Peggy Mann Show

The Pinehurst Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met in the multi-use room of the Pinehurst School last Wednesday.

The club discussed plans for the Mother-Daughter Banquet, to be held April 10.

The County Rally will be held April 2 at Carthage. At the Rally, Brenda Sheffield will be installed as County president.

Several girls are planning to go to the State Rally at Raleigh, April 20.

Tuesday 11 girls from the sophomore and senior home economics classes went to Durham to be on the Peggy Mann TV Show.

The girls wore ensembles which they made and were judged on these. Janice Fields won first and Barbara Cole won second prize.

Miss Helms, a teacher at Pinehurst, gave a most interesting talk on Europe, Germany in particular. Miss Helms lived in Germany for two years and became quite familiar with the country. She showed many colorful slides taken in Europe.

Ann Stevens, daughter of Mrs. S. T. Stevens and the late Mr. Stevens, who has been in girl scouting since Brownie grade, continuing through to her senior year in high school, receives her award—a trefoil charm—from her mother. At extreme left is Mrs. Wesley R. Viall, Jr. leader of Troop 69 and president of the Pinehurst PTA, who presided at the meeting. (Hemmer photos)

TEEING OFF * WITH deNISSOFF

Anyone living in a resort, especially one dedicated wholeheartedly and single-mindedly to golf as this one is, tends to become very sensitive to atmosphere, and by atmosphere, we mean, of course weather.

We find ourselves given to fantastically optimistic weather predictions also. For instance, last Saturday morning, when the precipitation was considerable, we were talking with Betty and Bob Barrett, owner-managers of the Pinecrest Inn, when a gentleman from Virginia looking every bit as gloomy as the weather gripped in out of the wet. Seems he and his wife had made a special trip down from Alexandria, where the atmosphere has apparently not been too salubrious either, for a weekend at Pinehurst.

Turning our back on the formidable downpour that looked determined to continue for the next three days at least, we wildly prognosticated that tomorrow (Sunday) would probably be a perfect day with sunshine and birds singing, "just like Friday."

We really believed it too. And if the Virginia couple had stayed over long enough, which they didn't, we would have been proved right, for the sun did come out about 3, balmy breezes blew and birds sang, right on schedule.

All this reminded us of "Sam," the doorman about a million years ago at The Carolina Hotel. Sam, with his patent-leather hair, his accent of pure Brooklyn, and his face that looked like a New York subway map, it was so criss-crossed with lines, was about the first glimpse of Pinehurst that guests at the Carolina ever got.

Managers came and went, but Sam seemed to be there forever. He was probably the best booster for the weather that this resort ever had.

Everyone consulted Sam the first thing about the temperature and the outlook for the day.

The daily consultation with Sam took precedence in importance even over breakfast. And, we must admit, that he could call his weather shots—when he seemed to be lying like the trooper he was about the prospect for fair weather on a day when it was "raining all around and pouring in the middle," sure enough, by later in the day, the sun almost always came out.

What his secret was, we don't know, but it was a good one.

HERE and AWAY

Mrs. Robert K. Dorries, Jr. and children, Stacy and Diane, arrived this week from West Chester, Pa. to spend two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Strode. Mr. Dorries is joining his family on the weekend.

Leaving Monday to join Sam Dixon in Boone were his wife and their children, Jane, Sam and twin daughters, Marie and Mildred. Mr. Dixon, who was with the Carolina Bank here, is now associated with the bank in Boone.

Sunday overnight guests with Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Robins on Midland Road were Dr. and Mrs. Lee Turner of Candlewood Isle, Conn., who were en route to Florida for a visit.

Spending her spring vacation from Colby Junior College, New London, N. H., with Lucy Simpson at Hobe Sound, Fla. is Lee Hobson. Joining them Wednesday for a week at Hobe Sound was Deena Delany, who returns here March 27 for the remainder of her spring holiday from the National Cathedral School with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O. Delany.

Arriving next Wednesday to visit Mrs. James How at Shadowlawn Cottage are her son, Edmonde W. Buckminster and his fiancée, Miss Gretchen Ann Barr-Stoddart, both of New York City, and Gretchen's mother, Mrs. J. F. Hamilton of Auckland, New Zealand.

Leaving Friday for her home in Union, S. C., after 10 days with her daughter, Mrs. Peter V. Tufts, is Mrs. Joe Plexico.

Tom Ragan arrives this weekend from Culver Military Academy for about 10 days with his parents, Adm. and Mrs. Thomas C. Ragan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rettew and two daughters visited their third daughter, Anne, at Virginia Intermont School in Bristol, Va. last week. They went up especially to see the water ballet which Anne's swimming class presented.

Buzz Burwell, who attends Tabor Academy in Marion,

Mass., has arrived for his spring vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Burwell, Jr.

Also home for the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. James W. Tufts are their sons, Tim and Fred, both students at St. James' School near Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Cote arrived from Greensburg, Pa. last week for the spring season at their cottage here.

Mrs. Richard Creed of Washington, D. C. spent several days this week with Maj. Gen. and Mrs. I. T. Wyche.

Wallace O'Neal returned Monday night from a weekend visit in Palm Beach, Fla.

House guests last week of the John R. Sibleys on Midland Road were Mr. and Mrs. Marion C. Earry of Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. John J. Farrell arrived Thursday from Florida and will be at her cottage through April. With her for spring holidays is her son, Jim. Mr. Farrell will join his wife on weekends, coming down from Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Udell C. Young got here Friday from Larchmont, N. Y. and are at their place on Midland Road for the balance of the season.

Here at their home on Village Green East are Mr. and Mrs. H. Sinclair Kerr, with three of their children, from Pennington, N. J. Guests for a week of Gordon Brawley are his brother, Frank Brawley, and a friend, Gustav Mueller, both of Harrisburg, Pa. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Todd at Lenape Cottage are Mrs. James H. Todd, Jr. and her two sons, Jimmy and David, of Fairfield, Conn., also, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Todd, II of Rye,

NICKNAME

The people of North Carolina received their nickname "Tarheels" during the Civil War. The term was reportedly used by Gen. Robert E. Lee to describe the sticking quality of North Carolina troops. It came from the threat of the state's soldiers to tar the heels of other troops who sought to abandon their positions during battle.
