Larceny, Forgery Charged In Moore Recorder's Court

Floyd Criscoe, 19-year-old youth of Carthage, Route 2, charged with larceny of a typewriter and receiving stolen goods valued at $150, was found guilty in Moore County Recorder's Court at Carthage, March 9, of receiving stolen property, knowing or having reasonable knowledge that it was stolen.

The property was an IBM electric typewriter belonging to the Carthage schools, and the charges were preferred by the Carthage school principal, H. L. Brinkley.

In continuing prayer for judgment for Criscoe, on payment of costs, Judge J. Vance Rowe took note of the fact that "the typewriter has been returned, in good condition."

The case was heard during a short session of court, held on March 9 because of the opening of Superior Court Monday, March 11.

Probable cause was found against Bobby Ross, 18, of West End, on a charge of forgery, and bond was set at $300 for his appearance at the May criminal term. Ross pleaded guilty to forging a check for $56.53, drawn on the Carolina Bank at Pinehurst made payable to "James Robert Smith" and signed "G. H. Ritter," then given on February 16 to Ginsburg's Department Store at Carthage.

Dewey Winfred Maness of Carthage, Route 1, pleaded no contest to assault with deadly weapon and threats, also drunken driving. On the first count, he drew 90 days, suspended for two years on payment of costs and good-behavior conditions, and was directed not to carry on or about his person during the two-year period any shotgun, rifle or pistol. On the second count, he drew 60 days suspended on payment of $100 and costs, with the usual 12-month revocation of license.

A similar sentence was imposed on Henry Burgwyn Brady, Jr., of Carthage Star Route, who pleaded guilty to drunken driving.

Not guilty was the plea and not guilty the verdict in the case of James Ector, Jackson Springs, charged with temporary larceny of auto.

On a charge of larceny of 50 bushels of wheat valued at $100, Marvin Elwood Hicks of Thomasville, Route 2 pleaded not guilty. The case was continued until March 18 without any testimony taken, when it was learned that some principal witnesses had not been able to appear.

In the only other case of the day, Leonard Palmer of West End was fined $15, plus costs, for speeding 55 in a 35-mile zone.

Jonas Sends Out Questionnaires On Current Issues

Congressman Charles Raper Jonas has begun an extensive polling of the views of Eighth Congressional District residents on current issues.

He said questionnaires have been sent to district residents, with the questions ranging from opinions on tax cuts, aid-to-education and the "Domestic Peace Corps" to the Cuban controversy and foreign aid. In all, 10 subjects are included on the 1963 questionnaire with a total of 21 yes-and-no answer blocks. Additional comments are invited.

Based on response to Congressman Jonas's previous questionnaires, about 10,000 replies are expected. The results will be published in The Congressional Record and made available to anyone interested after the answers are tabulated.

Congressman Jonas added, "Any person who does not receive a questionnaire that would like one can just drop me a note at my Washington office (1010 New House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.) and I'll be glad to send them one."

SEAL SALE STARTS — Eight-year-old David Unzueta of Charlotte presents Governor Sanford with the first Easter Seals to "kick-off" the 1963 appeal as Wilson Lowery Jr., of Trenton and Senator John R. Jordan, Jr. of Raleigh look on. Senator Jordan is State Chairman for the drive and Lowery, State 4-H Club President, is State Youth Chairman. The 1963 Easter Seal campaign goal is $200,000.

Boating Mishap Deaths Rise In '62; Obeying Rules, Courtesy Urged

"Everything that could happen, did happen" to Tarheel boaters during the 1962 season according to an article in the April issue of "Wildlife in North Carolina."

Fatalities rose from 35 in 1961 to 39 in 1962, but total boating accidents decreased from 87 to 70 for those years, writes Duane Raver, managing editor of the Wildlife Commission's monthly magazine.

This account points up the troubles North Carolina skippers encountered and voices the hope that the upcoming season will be a safer one. The article expresses the opinion that Tarheel waters are becoming safer since the number of boating deaths remains about the same and accidents are declining.

The article notes the increase in water skiing accidents and fatalities over previous years, which should serve as a warning to this season's skiers. Wear an approved lifesaving device and don't take chances, says the writer. Failure to use lifesaving devices played a part in numerous other boating accidents.

According to the author, there is no "set of rules" which, when followed, will assure an accident-free year. But, he continues, strict adherence to North Carolina boating regulations, and the use of common sense and courtesy will help keep boaters out of the fatality column for 1963.

Summer 'Music Camp' At St. Andrews Set

Three weeks of vocal and instrumental musicianship will be offered to young people between the ages of 12 and 20 in a lake-side campus setting at St. Andrews Presbyterian College, Laurinburg. The camp begins June 10 and closes on June 30, with May 15 as the deadline for applications.

Last year's camp attracted young musicians from a five-state area stretching from Georgia through the two Carolinas to Virginia and West Virginia.

The camp faculty will be chosen from St. Andrews Conservatory of Music faculty members and teachers at other institutions. The St. Andrews Music Camp will again be directed by Franklin West, who is acting head of the St. Andrews Conservatory.
