VASS NEWS & PERSONALS

BY MRS. CHARLES CAMERON

Team Honored

A community get-together and dance honoring the Vass-Lakeview girls team, County basketball champions, was enjoyed by some 200 parents, citizens, teachers, and high school boys and girls in the school cafeteria Friday night.

Decorations of blue and white, the school colors, were prevalent throughout the hall, with a display of basketball trophies at the entrance.

From the refreshment table covered with a white cloth with decorations of blue silhouettes of basketball players and centered with the gold basketball, the winning trophy, refreshments of punch, sandwiches, nuts and the squares were served.

Music for dancing was furnished by a juke box.

School principal, John McCarron, gave the welcome, and expressed appreciation to the parents and community for their interest in the school and players. To the teams, high praise was given for their outstanding playing and for winning the sportsmanship trophy for three consecutive years.

Special recognition was given David Crockett, a senior, and recent winner of a Morehead Scholarship and to David's sister, Ann, the County winner of the Recitation - Declamation contest held at Carthage on Thursday night of last week.

J. E. Causey presented the girls with a certificate and gold basketball, inscribed "1963 Champions", Presbyterian Circle, Moore.

Circles of the Presbyterian Women of the Church met last week with programs on "Evangelism." A social hour with refreshments followed each meeting.

Mrs. M. H. Chappell and Mrs. H. D. Jackson were co-hostesses to the Jane McGill circle on Monday night. Mrs. Eugene Hicks presided.

The Rev. H. L. Wilson, pastor, moderated the Bible study and presented the program.

Gifts for a Sunshine Basket for Mrs. C. M. McDermott, a shut-in, were brought to the meeting by members.

Circle 1 met on Wednesday night with Mrs. George I. Suber hostess at her home. Mrs. Hugh McLean presided and moderated the Bible study. Mrs. Lenwood Patterson led the program on Evangelism.

Local Scout Activities

Eighteen members and their leader, Clyde Smith, of Vass Troop 310 spent Friday night and Saturday on a camping trip at Camp Karl. The Scouts hiked with full pack to Camp, located near the W. S. Henning Farm near the Clay Road section.

Eighteen Cub Scouts from the Vass Dens toured the Karagheusian A. and M. Inc., plant on Monday of last week. They were accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. J. R. Blue, Mrs. Howard Gschwind, Mrs. Rody Futrell and assisted by Mrs. Walter Patno.

On Friday night at the Cub Pack meeting at the Vass Community House a kite judging contest was held among the Cubs. Winners were: John David McRae, prettiest; Robert Wicker and Nickey Futrell tied for the most unusual one.

Mrs. Thompson, a fifth grade teacher at the Vass - Lakeview School, was guest speaker and showed films made during her recent stay in Alaska.
