Over 200 Enter Elks National Golf Tourney

More than 200 entries from 16 states are expected here next week to play in the second annual National Amateur Elks Invitational Golf Tournament, May 23-26.

The 54-hole medal play event will use both the Southern Pines Country Club and Mid Pines Club courses, with contestants alternating in the course they play. All golfers taking part will be members of Elks Lodges from the wide area to which invitations were sent.

The local sponsor is Southern Pines Lodge No. 1692, with Bob Strouse and Dr. Boyd Starnes as tournament chairmen. The lodge's headquarters is at the Southern Pines Country Club which will also be tournament headquarters. Pete Mitchell is the tournament director.

The two courses will be open Thursday for a free practice round by all contestants. Friday and Saturday will be qualifying days. All flights will have 18 holes of medal play on Sunday (May 26).

The many silver trophies for winners and three runners-up in all flights will be presented at 6 p. m. Sunday at the Southern Pines Country Club. The championship flight will consist of the 16 low players and other flights will be composed of 16 each.

Social Events
Social events include a 6 p. m. party for contestants on Thursday and a Saturday night dance free to all contestants and their guests. Numerous contestants are bringing their wives, the tournament (Continued on Page 8)

MISS COLE WINS KIWANIS AWARD

The Junior Builder's Cup—given annually by the Sandhills Kiwanis Club to a Moore County high school senior for home, school, church and community leadership—was presented yesterday to Miss Clare Cole of West End school, at the club's luncheon meeting in the Pinehurst Country Club. She was chosen from nine contestants, all of whom were guests at the meeting, chosen by their school principals. Club President Lawrence Johnson of Aberdeen made the presentation.

Resurfacing Work On No. 1 Highway Begins

Resurfacing operations by state forces will cause a detour along a portion of No. 1 highway from the north end of the local bypass to Cameron. One-way traffic will be maintained for a distance of 10.1 miles, and traffic delay time is estimated at 15 minutes.

Work on the project was to begin this week and will terminate around June 14, according to the Highway Commission.

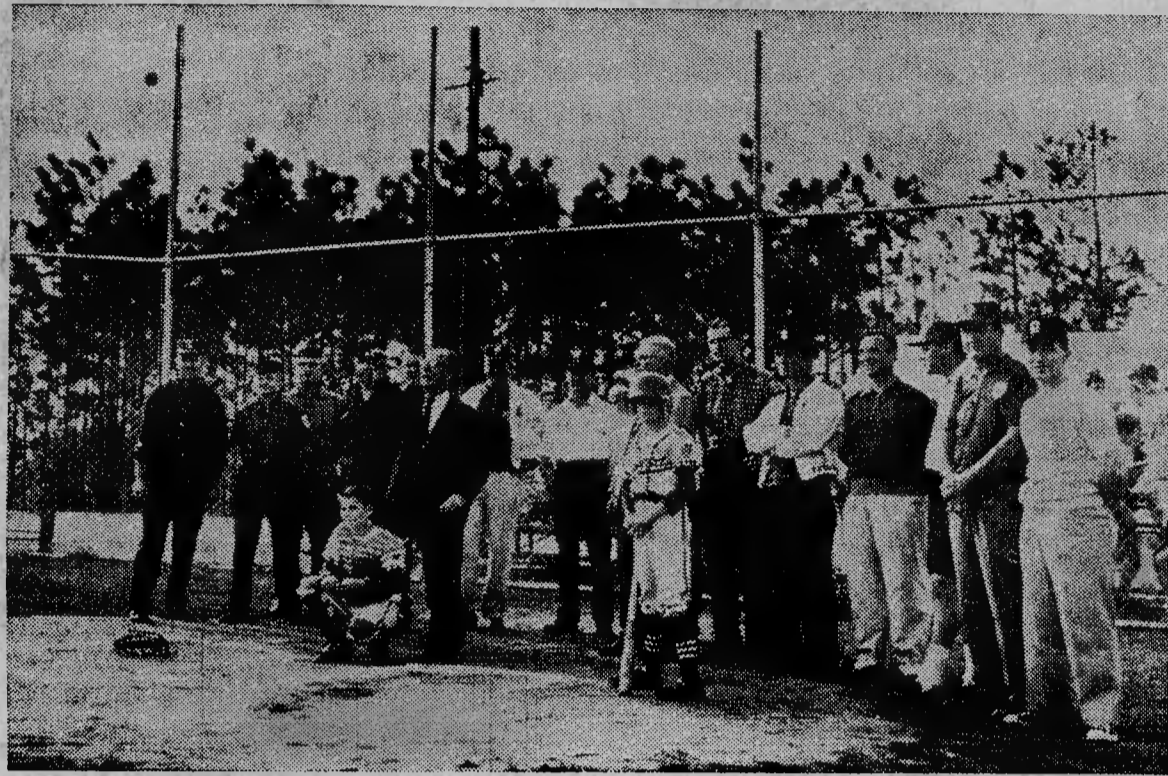

1952 AND 1955 VICTORIES RECALLED

Boros Wins Colonial At Fort Worth

Golfer Julius Boros, playing as professional from the Mid Pines Club here though he has made his home in Florida for several years, shot a 72-hole 279 total, to win the $12,000 first money in the Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament at Fort Worth Sunday. Gary Player was in second place with 283, winning $6,000, Jack Nicklaus placed third, taking $3,500.

Boros had won the Colonial tournament in 1960, his last tournament victory until Sunday.

Boros came to Mid Pines in 1949, the year he turned pro and married Anne (Buttons) Cosgrove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cosgrove, Mid Pines managers who now own and operate the club. His wife died when their son Jay, was born in 1951. In 1955, he was married at Aiken, S. C., to Miss Armen C. Boyle of Miami, Fla. He has not been directly active at Mid Pines since his second marriage.

PLAY BALL!— Mayor W. Morris Johnson (left-center, with glasses) throws out the ball to open the 1963 Little League baseball season here Saturday, as league officials and coaches watch. The Citizens Bank and Trust Company and the Southern National Bank, both of Southern Pines, announced today that they will be closed Monday, May 20, in observance of Mecklenburg Independence Day, a state holiday. These two banks will remain open on Thursday, May 30, Memorial Day. The Carolina Bank, with offices in Pinehurst, Aberdeen, Vass, Carthage and West End, will reverse this schedule, remaining open on May 20 and closing on May 30.

CARTHAGE CHIEF— Allan J. Benner, who completed his service as patrolman with the local police department yesterday, today assumed his duties as chief of police in Carthage, his home community. Police Chief Earl Seawell of Southern Pines said today he has several applications for the vacancy created by Benner's resignation and expects to fill the post by early next week. (Humphrey photo)

Council Names 4 To Town Boards; Zoning Discussed

Meeting Tuesday for their first regular session since the May 7 election, members of the new town council filled vacancies on three boards, called for a hearing on certain zoning matters and inspected and heard a report on the monthly financial condition sheet drawn up by Manager F. F. Rainey.

All the members were present—Mayor W. Morris Johnson, Mayor Pro Tem Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr., Town Treasurer Felton J. Capel and Councilmen Fred Pollard and C. A. McLaughlin. Hodgkins and McLaughlin are the newly elected members, starting their first terms.

Former Mayor John S. Ruggles was an interested spectator in the audience. P. I. York of West Southern Pines, whose term on the Southern Pines board of education expired May 1, was reappointed for a four-year term. Councilman Capel said other members of the board had praised York's service and that he is willing to serve again.

Cecil Beith was renamed to his post on the Planning Board, for a five-year term. Other members of the board, which investigates and makes recommendations on proposed zoning changes, are Ralph Chandler, chairman; Mrs. Katherine McCall, Bryan Poe and Walter Gore.

Appointed to the Zoning Board of Adjustment, a body that arbitrates disputes about zoning that remain unsettled by the Planning Board, were Mrs. Edna Blalock of West Southern Pines, who has been a member of the board, and William T. Huntley, filling a vacancy caused by the moving of Thomas Ruggles to Florida.

A third vacancy on the board remains to be filled and will be taken up at the June meeting. C. A. McLaughlin, now a member of the council, was formerly a member of this board but must resign because of his council position.

Zoning Hearing
The council called an informal hearing on zoning of areas annexed to the town over a period of several months, to be held at the next regular meeting, Tuesday, June 11.

The areas include: the Holiday Inn-Carl Andrews property on No. 1 highway, south; residential lots on E. Indiana Ave., Weymouth Heights; and areas on both (Continued on Page 8)

Veterans Planning Memorial Service

Members of Sandhill Post No. 134, American Legion, met Tuesday night to plan a Memorial Day Service at Mt. Hope Cemetery on Sunday, June 2, at 5 p. m.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, John Boyd Post, of Southern Pines, also will participate with a National Guard firing squad, Boy and Girl Scout troops, and several local ministers.

In charge of arrangements are Dan R. McNeill, commander of the Legion post, and Hubert Cameron, senior vice commander of the VFW.

Election, Fashion Show Set For PTA

Election of officers for the 1963-64 school year and a fashion show by Miss Loree Keen's Home Economics students are on the program for the final meeting of the East Southern Pines Parent-Teacher Association.

The meeting is set for Tuesday, May 21, at 8 p. m. in Weaver Auditorium.

Mrs. Albert Grove, president, asks that as many parents as possible be present. A slate of nominees will be brought in by the executive committee but other nominations may be made from the floor.

RESCUE SQUAD MEETING

Any one interested in joining a new Sandhills Unit No. 4 of the Moore County Rescue Squad, which was organized last night with Raeford Wells of Aberdeen as captain, is invited to attend a meeting of the group to be held at Home's Restaurant, Aberdeen, at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, May 22.

Survey Shows Demand For Proposed College

A survey of high schools within its commuting distance of the proposed Moore County community college, conducted during the past several weeks by the county board of education, shows an ample potential of student material, County Schools Supt. Robert E. Lee said this week.

The State Board of Education has said that such a college should serve a minimum of 400 students, this figure to be reached within its first five years.

That Moore and its neighboring counties should be able to provide at least this number was revealed decisively last Thursday night, when a census committee tabulated the questionnaires distributed in 49 high schools, filled out by the students and signed, with further comments, by the parents.

Returning 7,105 questionnaires out of 12,000 distributed, 3,366 students of grades nine through 12 answered yes, "while 2,068 were "uncertain" and only 753 said "no" to the question, "If a community college offering the first two years of college work and technical and other vocational courses were established in your area, would you enroll?"

In grades nine and 10, those which could logically be expected to enroll during the first two years of operation of a college opening in the fall of 1965, there were 1,068 answering "yes," 684 "uncertain," 215 "no."

Of their parents, 1,415 stated they were interested in furthering their own education, and 409 of these said they would like to enroll in order to finish high school.

Adult education classes would be an important feature of the college, to be set up as the demand was felt and faculty schedules permitted.

These and many other interesting data are being gleaned from the questionnaires, for inclusion in a comprehensive survey to be submitted to the State Board of Education, a major step in the Moore County effort to secure allocation of the college.

Until last week, the county board of education forged ahead on speculation, as the comprehensive higher education bill was still pending in the General Assembly. Last Friday, the legislation providing for the establishment of five such colleges was passed.

Conferring frequently with the State Board of Education, securing its approval on each step, Moore is the first county to move positively toward the goal, and is setting a pattern for competing counties.

Starting with an enthusiastic and overflowing public meeting last March 26, it (1) requested allocation of the college, (2) secured authorization to make the required survey and (3) is busy making it. The survey of high schools, with figures showing potential students, is a primary essential.

The State Board has set 30 miles as the farthest desirable commuting radius, which brings 46 high schools within range of the approximate Moore County site. However, according to C. Edison Powers, guidance director with the Moore County schools, who is heading the survey, three more schools just on or over the 30-mile line were included, on re- (Continued on Page 5)

GROUP WILL STUDY LONG-RANGE NEEDS

Meeting jointly at Carthage yesterday to survey future Moore County school construction needs, with a view to planning a proposed bond issue for schools and community college, the county's three boards of education and the commissioners named a committee to study the needs.

On the group are the chairmen of the three school boards involved: Jere McKeithen of Aberdeen, county board of education; N. L. Hodgkins of Southern Pines, and L. B. Creath of Pinehurst, with W. S. Taylor of Aberdeen representing the commissioners.

Also named to sit in with the group was H. A. Brogden of the John C. Muse, Certified Public Accountants, firm, auditors for the county.

ABC Sales Decline By $47,580; Healy Reelected to Board

Sales for the year ending March 31 in Moore County's two Alcoholic Beverage Control Board stores decreased by $47,580.80, as compared with sales of the previous year, it was reported this week.

L. J. Hinson, manager for the board, reported yesterday to a combined meeting of the board of county commissioners, county board of education and board of health at Carthage, that total sales for that year were $1,437,898.35 and that $145,000 in profits were turned over to the county treasurer.

The three boards met jointly, as required by law, to fill an expiring term on the ABC board. Jerry V. Healy of Southern Pines was reelected to the post. Other board members are James W. Tufts of Pinehurst, chairman, and C. M. Patterson of Carthage.

Following is Mr. Hinson's full report:

"The total sales for the past twelve months amounted to $1,437,898.35. From this amount of sales we have paid to the State Department of Revenue $170,820.23 in taxes and to the Federal government approximately $725,000 in taxes.

"The decrease in sales of $47,580.80 from the corresponding (Continued on Page 8)
