

Dr. Dawson Speaks To Class Of '63; Plaque Presented To John S. Ruggles

It was one of the hottest nights imaginable—the program was long, long, long—yet as each graduate walked across the stage at Weaver Auditorium last Thursday evening to receive the prized diploma from the hands of Chairman N. L. Hodgkins of the Board of Education, it is a fair guess that heat and time and everything faded before young dignity, Hope personified.

Five Get Diplomas At St. Anthony's; Awards Presented

Margaret Dougherty received the General Excellence Medal and Diane Black the Rebecca Smith Memorial Religion Award, at the Awards Day program of the 8th grade graduating class of St. Anthony's parochial school Friday.

No mathematics or English medals were given this year, as these were incorporated into the General Excellence medal, said Sister Catherine Leonard, principal.

The Rebecca Smith Memorial award for the Catholic student excelling in religion studies was established last year by Father Francis M. Smith, pastor, in memory of his mother.

Father Smith gave the commencement address and awarded diplomas Sunday at exercises held in St. Anthony's Church, marking the graduation of five 8th grade students. They were Margaret Dougherty, Diane Black, Carole Drexel, Mary Ann Cuff and Thad Jones.

The convent will be closed this weekend as the Sisters of Notre Dame who operate it and teach the classes leave for their summer assignments. Four will do graduate work. Sister Catherine Leonard at Villanova University near Philadelphia and Sisters Barbara Anne, Anne St. Joseph and David Marie at Trinity College, Washington, D. C., while Sister Helen Philip will teach in summer school at Queens Village, L. I., N. Y.

3 Bottles Of Whiskey Stolen Thru Window

Somebody broke a window pane in the back of the Pinehurst store of the Moore County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board last night, reached in and extracted three bottles of whiskey.

L. J. Hinson, ABC board manager, said that was the extent of the loss. No entry was made into the store.

The broken window and loss were discovered this morning.

M. G. Boyette Heads Bar Association

M. G. Boyette of Carthage, Solicitor of the 20th Judicial District, has been elected president of the Moore County Bar Association. He succeeds W. Lamont Brown of Southern Pines.

Other officers named to lead the Bar during the next year are W. Harry Fullenwider of Southern Pines, vice-president; Dock G. Smith, Jr., of Robbins, secretary; and Brown, William D. Sabiston, Jr., of Carthage, and Lawrence McN. Johnson of Aberdeen, members of the Executive Committee.

Meeting at the Holiday Inn Monday, the Bar confined the program to the selection of its new leaders and to a discussion of legislation now before the General Assembly which deals with the recent Supreme Court decision requiring that all indigent prisoners be provided with counsel when they are charged with serious crimes. The Bar endorsed such legislation, as have many associations throughout the State.

The members also heard a report from J. Talbot Johnson of Aberdeen that a memorial slab covering the grave of Alfred Moore, for whom this county is named and who served on the United States Supreme Court, would soon be officially dedicated. Funds for the slab have been provided by the Bar and by members of the DAR Chapter in this county, of which Mrs. M. G. Boyette of Carthage is president.

In order to help keep the docket clear for civil cases, the members also voted to study the new Federal rules of initial pre-trial conferences and adopt portions of the rules which will assist in the trial of cases here. Moore County, it was noted, was a leader in the State in adopting the rules for pre-trial calendaring, a system generally accredited for the quick disposition of cases.

Mr. Dawson's speech followed to a certain extent the pattern of many commencement speeches. He addressed his remarks chiefly to the audience, telling of his present work, of its problems and how he cherished memories of his

Local Girl Scout Leaders Elected To Council Posts

At the first meeting of adult leaders in the newly formed Pines of Carolina Girl Scout Council, held at the YWCA in Raleigh, Mrs. Alfred Derouin of Pinehurst was elected second vice president of the council.

The new organization includes 19 eastern and central North Carolina counties, including those which were, like Moore, in the Central Carolina Council.

Mrs. David S. Coltrane of Raleigh was elected Pines of Carolina Council president. Mrs. J. M. Caddell of Sanford is third vice president. Other officers are: Mrs. W. Z. Betts, Raleigh, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. R. Boozer, Raleigh, recording secretary; and Wasson Baird, Durham, treasurer.

Mrs. W. R. Bonsal III, of Southern Pines, is one of a group of members at large elected to serve with the officers. Elected to a two-year term on the nominating committee was Mrs. W. P. Davis of Southern Pines.

Speaker for the organizational meeting was Mrs. Robert R. Coker of Hartsville, S. C., whose topic was "Aims of Girl Scouting." She emphasized the importance of good leaders to help develop Girl Scouts who would later make good homemakers and citizens. The new council becomes effective July 1.

BEST CROP IN YEARS REPORTED

Assembly Samples Sandhills Peaches

Twenty-one pretty girls from the Sandhills peach-growing counties gave the State's lawmakers at Raleigh a welcome "peach-break" Tuesday morning as they served fresh peaches and peach ice cream to the members of the Senate and the House.

It was the annual "peach ice cream party" hosted by the N. C. Peach Growers Society, to remind legislators and the public that peaches are ripening in Sandhills orchards.

It also publicizes one of North Carolina's most progressive industries which this year will produce an estimated 1,400,000 bushels of fruit.

The girls, wearing summer dresses and sashes publicizing Sandhills peaches, were gathered together and started on their way by a committee headed by Bert Stutts of Pinehurst, appointed by T. C. Auman of West End, who is in his third term as president of the peach growers' group. Accompanying the girls to Raleigh were former State Sen. J. Hawley Poole of West End, prominent peach grower and member of the State Board of Agriculture, and Clarence Black, manager of the Sandhills Experiment Station in Montgomery County.

They served 10 bushels of peaches along with 10 gallons of peach ice cream.

The peaches served were Dixie Reds. Those and the Cardinals, which has similar characteristics, are in full production at this time.

Greeting the delegation and welcoming them to the floor of the House was Moore Rep. H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, Speaker of the House.

Many of the peaches are being shipped out to northern markets but plenty are on sale at the orchards throughout the "peach growing triangle," so called because most are in the three-cornered area with West End, Candor and Ellerbe as its tips.

This year's crop of early varieties is somewhat short of normal, according to President Auman, but the later varieties are ripening in quantity and a full crop is expected. Quality of all varieties is reported excellent. At Raleigh on Tuesday, Mr. Poole called the 1963 crop the best in many years.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED TO YOW

A hearing has been set for June 23 at Troy for Jack Yow, 22-year-old Southern Pines resident, on a charge of manslaughter.

The charge followed the death of Frankie Phipps, 14, local boy who was fatally injured when an automobile driven by Yow was wrecked near Candor early Saturday, May 25.

A warrant charging manslaughter was served on Yow here Monday by Southern Pines police, to whom it has been sent from the office of Montgomery County Sheriff Sam Smitherman of Troy.

The investigating patrolman said that the car driven by Yow—owned and loaned to him by Milton Kaylor of Southern Pines—left the road on a curve and overturned at least five times.

Bobby Auman In U. S. Peace Corps

Bobby Auman, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Auman of West End, left today for Las Cruces, N. M., where he will have a three months' training course before assignment in the U. S. Peace Corps. He expects to be assigned to Guatemala.

He is Moore county's first entry into the Peace Corps, for which he was accepted about two years ago and granted a delay in order to complete his course at Davidson College. He came home from Davidson last week, one summer term short of getting his degree. He will return to college for a diploma later.

A graduate of West End High school, he grew up on a farm, where he worked with his father, well-known farmer and peach grower. He left college for one year in order to help on the farm and peach orchards and gain experience he may use in Guatemala. He is interested in writing and won a statewide journalism contest while a high school student.

W. E. Jackson, Jr. West End Native, In Federal Post

William E. Jackson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jackson of West End, on Friday began work in the International Division of the Bureau of the Budget in the Executive Office Building, Washington, D. C.

His initial assignment will be overseeing the military assistance programs of the United States in such countries as South Viet Nam and Laos. The Bureau of the Budget is the primary agency assisting the President in preparing and co-ordinating his overall program in the domestic and international fields. A major function of the Bureau is to control the expenditures of the executive departments and to initiate savings wherever possible.

Extensive study and preparation has qualified Mr. Jackson for this position. A graduate of West End High School, he received an A. B. degree in 1957 from Davidson College, where he majored in economics and political science and was a letterman on the track and cross country teams. At Davidson, he was a member of the International Relations Club and served on the Elections Board. He then went to the University of North Carolina, where he held a departmental assistantship in the Graduate School of Political Science and received his A. M. degree in 1959.

Blood Collection Set For West End Monday

A bloodmobile from the Red Cross center at Charlotte—from which both hospitals in Moore County draw supplies of blood—will make a one-day visit to receive blood donations, on Monday, June 17, at West End. Hours are from 12 noon to 5:30, at the school cafeteria.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile to Moore County will be in July.

Brochure Tells Why Moore Needs College

Brochures outlining Moore County's qualifications as site for one of the proposed comprehensive community colleges recently authorized by the General Assembly were presented to the State Board of Education in Raleigh Wednesday.

Supt. R. E. Lee of the Moore County board of education delivered the booklets to Dr. I. E. Ready, director of curriculum studies for the State board. Copies will be distributed to all board members.

The brochure included results of two and a half months of investigation and planning by county school officials including a detailed survey of need for the college in Moore and portions of eight other counties—the territory it would be built to serve.

It is the first such complete study to be presented to the State board of education by a county seeking to be allotted one of the colleges.

Friday, July 11, has been set by the State board for a presentation and explanation of Moore County's college application, by Supt. Lee to the full State Board of Education.

Town's Program Of Recreation To Start On Monday

The town's summer recreation program in East and West Southern Pines will begin Monday, June 17, to run through August 15.

John Williams, high school coach, is director of the program which is planned and supervised by the town's Recreation Committee, a group appointed by the town council.

J. R. Wynn of the West Southern Pines School faculty is supervisor in that area.

The plans include entertainment for children of all ages and also for some adults. Activities will be sponsored Monday through Friday each week for nine weeks.

Assisting Williams in East Southern Pines will be Lou Manning and Dick Seymour, both of whom worked with the program last year. Manning is a swimming and water safety expert.

Miss Sandra Fitzgibbon will be in charge of activities on the town park block and will conduct a swimming program for younger children. A rising senior at East Carolina College, she is a qualified Red Cross Water Safety instructor, with a senior life saving certificate. She was life guard and swimming instructor at the Pinehurst swimming pool in 1961 and worked part-time as life guard at the Elks pool here last summer.

In West Southern Pines, Miss Cora Steele will be in charge of outdoor games for younger children, the story hour, indoor games, and girls' and women's softball. She will also work with Wynn on the basketball and volleyball program.

Mrs. H. A. Wilson is in charge of arts and crafts. Curtis Jones will have charge of the Little League baseball in West Southern Pines and will work with Wynn in Pony League baseball for older boys and the men's baseball program. Wynn will have charge of tennis.

Director Williams stressed that parents of each child taking part in the recreational program must sign a card relieving the town of responsibility in case of injury. These cards will be available (Continued on Page 8)

'Miss Carthage' Contest Set Saturday

The second annual Miss Carthage Pageant will be held Saturday night, June 15, in the Carthage High School auditorium starting at 8, under the sponsorship of the sponsorship of the Carthage Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The winner will be entitled to compete in the Miss North Carolina Pageant next month in Greensboro. In addition she will receive a trophy and cash award of $200.

First runner-up will receive $50 and a trophy. Second runner-up will receive $25 and a trophy. A "Miss Congeniality" will be selected by the girls, with the winner receiving a trophy. All contestants will be presented an official "Miss America" charm bracelet with "Miss Carthage Pageant of 1963" engraved on it.

Eight girls have entered the pageant. Listed with their talent choice, they are:

Sarah Louise Bambauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bambauer, Carthage, recitation; Judy Lee Brinkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brinkley, Whispering Pines, song and dance; Molly Dotson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. B.

Army engineers this week installed 3,500 feet of six-inch, temporary water pipe from the municipal lake to the pumping station, to increase the flow of water needed for a full supply in hot weather, Town Manager F. F. Rainey told The Pilot today.

Temporary Water Line Installed, Lake To Station

The 14-inch pipe from the lake to the pumping station has been losing efficiency for some time, as silt and corrosion built up in it. Construction of another similar line, parallel to it, allowing the old pipe to be closed off and cleaned out, is one of the primary projects being financed by the water bonds voted here last fall.

Rainey said today that materials for this project have been ordered and work is due to begin on it soon.

The manager stressed that there is no water shortage and that the six-inch line, feeding 500 gallons per minute from the lake to the station, together with the old line, is furnishing ample water for the town's needs.

Southern Pines has enough raw water to serve a city three times its size, he said.

Council To Meet; Zone Hearing Set

The regular June meeting of the town council will be held Tuesday of next week, June 18, in the town hall courtroom, postponed from the usual "second Tuesday" meeting time.

Councilmen will gather in special session at 9 a. m. Saturday for a public hearing on a proposal to re-zone a lot on the south side of New York Ave., between S. W. Broad and Bennett Sts., from residential to business designation.

SLIGHT DAMAGE

Local volunteer firemen were called this morning to the Alex R. Chisholm home on Aiken Road where a small fire in a closet was easily extinguished. Damage was reported slight.
