Former Resident Of Pinebluff, To Wed Hungarian In Bangkok

Planning to be married in Bangkok, Thailand, on Saturday, October 31, are Miss Leena Stewart and Laszlo Bogathy.

The prospective bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart of Pinebluff. Her parents were members of Bethesda Presbyterian Church in Aberdeen.

Miss Stewart, who was for several years with the Congressional Library in Washington, D.C., has for some time had a position with the Department of State Agency for International Development at Taipei, Taiwan.

The two met in Laos where Mr. Bogathy worked for U.S. firms. During his previous military training, he studied engineering in Prague, and is now establishing his own engineering firm in Bangkok, where the couple will live following their marriage.

Planning to be there for the wedding is a cousin of the late Mrs. Stewart's, also a former member of Bethesda Church, who now lives in Taipei.

A Hint At The Pentagon Starts Pair On Trail Leading To Retirement Here

A casual mention of Southern Pines three years ago in Washington's Pentagon, started a chain reaction which eventually led a former Pennsylvania couple to the Sandhills to make their permanent home.

Sound like a security leak? Not at all. Here's what happened.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoyle, who lived 30 years in Philadelphia, and moved to Clarksburg, W. Va. when the coal brokerage company for which he worked sold out to a company there, started looking around in 1961 for a place to live after his retirement.

The Hoyle's son, who has been working for the U.S. Government in Washington since his graduation from the University of Maryland, heard of Southern Pines when talking with a friend in the Pentagon. He passed the word along to his parents, who came down here to look the place over.

"On my second visit, I liked it here so much, I decided this was where I wanted to live," said Mr. Hoyle, who liked it more and more on each subsequent trip. He and his wife bought a home at 215 Maple through the Barnum Real Estate Agency in May, 1961, and this week, following his retirement October 20, they moved in. Mr. Hoyle, who plays golf, says he has tried out the Southern Pines Country Club course and thinks this is where he will be playing. His wife plays also, but the courses in West Virginia were too hilly for her; however, he hopes to get her started again here.

The couple expects their son from Washington and his wife and the three grandchildren here for a short stay next week.

In & Out Of Town

Mrs. John Paterson returned home this week from Westfield, N.J., where she was the guest for about 10 days of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Clancy. While there, Mrs. Paterson went to the New York World's Fair, and Radio City and attended several Broadway plays, including "The Sound of Music."

Miss Hollis C. Haney, director of the Sandhill Regional Library (which includes the Moore County Library), Tuesday flew to Norfolk, Va., where she attended the Southeastern Library Association meeting.

After two months in the north, where she visited in Maine, Philadelphia, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Huntington, W. Va., Miss Hattie Rusk is back here for the winter with her niece, Mrs. Arthur Davenport, at the latter's home on Country Club Drive.

Back at their home on Bethesda Road for the season are Mr. and Mrs. Allan P. Preyer, who spent the summer at their home at Black Mountain.

Mrs. Millard F. Tompkins has returned to her Knollwood home from Bellport, N.Y.

After nine years here, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cornell expect to move within the next week to Spartanburg, S. C. Mr. Cornell has been an executive with Amerotron in their Aberdeen office. The couple's son, Marvin, Jr., is a junior this year at Pfeiffer College. During the past summer, he served as Waterfront Director at Camp Easter in the Pines. Mr. and Mrs. Richard James last week were in Raleigh for a one-day meeting of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Company.

Miss Polly Dix is back from Bellport, N.Y., where she spent 10 days with friends and visited the World's Fair.

Mrs. Donald Case of Morganston Road is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, where she has been undergoing treatment for the past week.

Returning home Monday from a flying trip to Texas, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jellison who visited their daughter, Mrs. James Spring and her family.

Mr. Spring, who is general manager of the Shamrock Hilton Hotel, returned with the Jellisons for a short stay with his mother, Mrs. J.J. Spring and sister, Mrs. Joan McKinney.

Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske was returned to Boston, Mass., after a visit at her home here, Paddock, Jr.

The Henry Harpers of Halcyon Drive, expect to return tomorrow, Friday, after a motor trip to their former homes in Akron, Ohio, and Toronto, Ont., Can.

Arriving Wednesday for a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. Bradley J. Hurd is her cousin, Comdr. Sir Dudley Colles, with his daughter, Mrs. John Hyde-Thomson, both of London, England.

Here for the weekend with her mother, Mrs. H. W. Dorn, was Miss Dorothy Dorn of Raleigh.

Fosters Back From North

Dr. Clarence B. Foster is back in his office after two weeks in New England. He was accompanied by his wife, and the couple visited his family in Burlington, Vt.

In Providence, R.I., Dr. Foster took a short graduate course in cataract surgery under a leading specialist in this field, Dr. Fred Stevens. Because of this visit north, Dr. Foster was not here to assist in the Glaucoma Clinic, sponsored October 15 by the Lions Club of the area.

Madigans Are Back After Wonderful Asiatic Trip

Back last week from the wonders and wilds of their 6-month visit to the Orient came Don and Mary Madigan to settle in, once more, in their little house on North Ridge Street.

"It couldn't have been more wonderful, or a more interesting trip," Col Madigan said, and his wife added: "How we hated to leave!"

Col. and Mrs. Madigan arrived back at their home on North Ridge Street last Wednesday. They had spent a great part of their time abroad in Thailand, from which beautiful country the exciting letters published last summer by this newspaper had come. Friends in Bangkok introduced them to some of the leading citizens, who in their turn passed the American couple on to other Thais, living in different parts of the country. Thus they were able to see both the jungle and the teak forest country, as well as go swimming in the China Sea and visit some of the primitive native villages.

On leaving Thailand the voyagers took ship for the Malay Straits, visiting among other places, Borneo, Ceylon, Java, and Indonesia, where they almost got caught up in the recent uprising. Another near-miss was their arrival in Singapore at a time of crisis during which a number of people were killed.

Because of these difficulties—and the fact that they had spent so much time in Thailand, which they had so loved—their visits to other noted beauty spots were briefer than originally planned.

Another reason for their short stops may have been the fact that, unlike the people of Thailand, the people of some of these former colonies of Britain, France, Belgium and other nations, were somewhat hostile towards white people.

Said Mary Madigan: "At first, they were aloof and unwilling to make friends. The country people, especially, seemed almost frightened of us and would slink away into the woods. But we found that if we were quiet and calm, and did not try to take pictures or talk; if we let them alone, after a while they would come closer, smile, even, and then start to be really friendly."

All of the Madigans' travels were accomplished by ship. That is, they followed the coast-line, taking freighters from port to port. In that way they saw the great variety of the Asiatic coast with its many islands. The final lap to home base was by ship, too.

The first thing they did on landing was to hop a plane for Columbus, Ohio, where the children are; Jerry at college and Bob not too far distant with his air force outfit. There Bob joined his parents and drove them on back to Carolina.

The wanderers had been discovered the day after their arrival, out in their yard with Bob, who was taking pictures of the third member of their party: a gentleman named Tiki.

Tiki is a squat tub-shaped personage, a god, no less. He is carved from heavy wood and no one knows how old he is and for how many years he has watched over the doings of the primitive Polynesian tribe from which he came. The Madigans found him in the Philippines.

Tiki spent a few nights in the Sandhills, then was shipped back to daughter Jerry, where he will join another friend of the journey, a small wooden buddha, in Jerry Madigan's apartment in Columbus.

School Highlights

By JILL FORSYTH Homecoming Queen

Last Friday night (Oct. 23) during the half-time of the annual Homecoming Game, Miss Cindy Cheek, a senior escorted by Charles McLaughlin, was crowned the Homecoming Queen for 1964 by Miss Susie Hill, last Mike McKinnon.

The Homecoming Court was made up of Binky Rawlinson, also a senior; Linda Link and Susan Reeves, juniors; Jane McGoogan and Barbara Ritchie, sophomores; and Janice Burroughs and Mary Lee Katavolas, freshmen.

The new queen and her court were honored at the Homecoming Dance at the Country Club Saturday night. It was reported that there was a big turnout for the dance and the music, which was provided by the "Mellow Tones," was great. Since the dance was such a success this year, let's hope this festive affair continues to be a part of the school activities.

U. N. C. Theatre

Last Saturday two senior girls, Patty Larson and Jeanne Allred, accompanied Mrs. McPhaul to Chapel Hill to attend the annual Theatre Workshop of the Carolina Dramatic Association. They attended classes on lighting and costuming and that evening attended the play "My Fair Lady" presented by The Carolina Playmakers. They hope to be able to use the information given at the workshop when their annual play here next spring.

Mock Election

This year the students are presenting a "mock election" in which the students have chosen up sides for and against the current Presidential candidates. Mr. Page is the advisor for the Republican campaign and Mr. Crumpler is the advisor for the Democrats. The halls have been decorated with posters and pamphlets are being passed out.

Campaign speeches by representatives from each party will be given on Monday and the student body will then vote with the rest of America on November 3. All this is a fine experience in politics for the students and has made us more aware of the importance of being an interested citizen.

Game & Pep Rally

There will be a pep rally Thursday night (tonight) at Memorial Field, starting at 7:30. Friday night the Blue Knights will play Robbins at Robbins. Game time is 8 p.m. The Blue Knights are on their way to the play-offs so let's see and hear all you supporters out there cheering the team on to a sure VICTORY! Support your team!

PLAYING LAST GAME AT DUNN TODAY

JayVee Gridders Top Aberdeen 29-0 In Finest Effort Of Current Season

By FRED HOLLISTER

The Southern Pines JayVees put out their finest effort of the season in last Thursday's game, defeating arch-rival Aberdeen by a score of 29 to 0.

This game was a fine display of team work. High-scoring full-back Eddie Johnson received fine blocking from backs and linemen alike as he rambled for four touchdowns and kicked two extra points.

One of the game's biggest highlights came in the second quarter when Johnson, with Hollister holding, booted a 27-yard field goal. This was an unusual feat in junior high football.

The scoring outburst gives Johnson 58 points for the season. The Southern Pines ground game worked so smoothly that the Junior Blue Knights were not forced to rely on their passing attack or their punting to bring them out of serious danger. Hollister connected on two out of three passes to Gene Sessions. Johnson completed his only pass on a fine catch by Billy Strickland.

The locals also played well on defense. Randy Arnold was a standout in this department, making several tackles in the Aberdeen backfield.

The Southern Pines aggregation is just beginning to show their football potential. Great improvement has been shown over earlier season play and the coaching staff is extremely pleased with this progress.

Today's game (Thursday, October 29) marks the end of the 1964 season. The contest is to be played against Dunn at Memorial Field.

Eddie Johnson, who has been chosen a player of the week for the third time, scored all of the 29 points for Southern Pines on October 22nd. Eddie played a fine game against the Red Devils of Aberdeen. He is in 9th Grade and attends the Methodist Church.

Bill Suttles is a guard on both offense and defense and he played one of his best games last Thursday. Bill is in 9th Grade this year after attending the Catholic school for eight years. He attends St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Randy Arnold, who has been chosen twice, also played a good game Thursday, by making some of the key tackles. Randy is in 8th Grade this year and he is a member of the Baptist Church. The three players were chosen by Coaches Williams and Hood.
