ON POINT—Several members of the N. C. State Ballet's First Company, which will appear at the Pinehurst Auditorium November 18, are caught in an action photo during a performance.

Exotic Exponent Of N. C. State Ballet Company Pays Quick Visit To Area 'Selling' Her Product

Long-limbed and looking not unlike a ballet dancer, with her high cheekbones and high-piled dark chignon topped with a Japanese-type gold stick ornament, Mrs. Annette S. Boutwell of Raleigh is an exotic exponent of the product she is "selling," the North Carolina State Ballet Company.

She was in Southern Pines last week, making one of the lightning-like stops in an itinerary which pretty well covers the state for Mrs. Boutwell, who is the ballet company's executive secretary. The NCSEBC will give two performances in the Pinehurst School auditorium, November 18.

She and the company's president, Mrs. Aldred N. Derouin of Pinehurst, are just two of the individuals who are dedicated to the promotion of this company of amateur dancers who perform like professionals and work like horses.

These are two—but the number of converts to the idea of ballet is increasing daily—thanks to the few who have steadily and staunchly plugged the N. C. State Ballet, the first ballet company in the U. S. to receive the official blessing of the state government.

Since the charter was issued in 1959, other states have picked up the lead from North Carolina, with the result that at least six

In & Out Of Town

Guests over the weekend, here with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Butler and with Miss Helen K. Butler, were Kate Butler, a sophomore at Duke University, Mary Linda Lewis, Lucy Kinnerly and Ann Parker, all seniors at UNC-CH.

Here last week at the Howard Butlers on E. Indiana Ave. were Mr. and Mrs. Birch Brook of Terre Haute, Ind. Arriving Friday for a short stay with them are Mrs. Butler's sisters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Engstrom of Lake Worth, Fla. and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson of Kushequa, Pa.; also coming Saturday for the weekend are the Engstroms' son, Lt. James Engstrom, his wife, and their daughter, Jaime, of Cherry Point.

Returning Monday from Wrightsville Beach, where she spent the weekend, was Mrs. L. T. Avery. She visited her son, Thomas L. Avery, his wife, and their two young daughters.

Graham Culbreth, a patient last week at Moore Memorial Hospital, has returned to his home at 610 S. Ridge St., where he is recuperating. Home for the weekend with his parents was Tom Culbreth, a senior this year at N. C. State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Alton Blue and children, Georganne, Janni and Jill, of Orlando, Fla., spent a day last week with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Simon in Southern Pines. Mr. Blue is connected with the Martin Marietta Company of Orlando.

Mrs. Charles W. Beers has returned to her home at 310 N. Page St., after visits in Miami and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. James Boyd was the Saturday overnight guest of the Paul Greens in Chapel Hill.

Here for the rest of the month with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Marready on Saunders Blvd., are their daughter and son-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. R. A. Smith and son, Robert Allen, II, who returned to the states last week from Okinawa where Sergeant Smith has been stationed with the U. S.

Army. On December 1, they plan to go to his next assigned station, Fort Hood, Texas.

Miss Mildred F. Hatfield is back from the summer at Bradford, Pa., and is at her home on Morganton Road.

Back at their Midland Road home after several months in Miami, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Dreger. They were called to Florida because of the illness of her brother-in-law, Eugene K. Riley, who died there in September.

Miss Inza Abernathy of 220 S. Ashe St. left Wednesday for Valdece after receiving word of the death of her father, Preston Abernathy, on Sunday at his home there.

Arriving Wednesday for about a 10-day stay with Mrs. Donald R. Scott on Morganton Road were Mrs. Marie Louise Luscher of Zurich, Switzerland and Mrs. Bernice Sanborn Foster of Worcester, Mass.

Miss Harriet Barnum has returned from her summer place at Stonington, Conn., and is at her home on S. Ridge St., Ext. for the winter season.

HD Clubwomen Enjoy Luncheon At Carthage

Nineteen Home Demonstration Club members enjoyed a luncheon at the home agent's office in Carthage on Thursday. The occasion was a leader training school for the November Home Demonstration Club meetings.

Mrs. Jean Hubbard, home economics agent, told those present that she was tricking and treating. The lesson was on "Using Conserved Foods in Family Meals."

A discussion was held as to the need to make a food conservation plan and to learn new ways of using conserved foods.

Recipes for the dishes that were served were distributed for members' use. These recipes will be distributed to club members throughout the county. Those wishing to hear the discussion and receive a recipe sheet should attend Home Demonstration Club meeting in November.

Members attending were: Mrs. Theo Berg, Mrs. Harry Charles, Pinebluff; Mrs. Annie Chisholm, Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Manly; Mrs. Southern Pines; Mrs. Charles Gschwind, Rainbow; Mrs. Edward Causey, Lakeview; Mrs. Robert Coffey, Cranes Creek; Mrs. G. P. Jones, Mt. Holly; Mrs. Lena Shepley, Mrs. Flora Whitman, Deep River; Mrs. Velma Currie, Holly Grove; Mrs. Floyd Barber, Bethlehem; Mrs. Maxine Patterson, Heartfire; Mrs. James McKay, Little River No. 2; Mrs. Paul Greene, Eureka.

Also, Mrs. Betty Morgan, assistant home agent, Mrs. Lucile Hyman, secretary and Mrs. Jean Hubbard, home agent.

Kelly's Opening Fashion Show To Be November 11

Opening of a new business—Kelly's Flower and Gown Shop on U. S. Highway 1, South—has been postponed a week because of non-delivery of stock, according to the owner-manager, Mrs. Dorothy Kelly of Rockingham.

The opening Fashion Show, with local models participating, will take place Wednesday, November 11, from 7-9 pm, said Mrs. Kelly this week. Mayor Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr. of Southern Pines will be present to cut the ribbon for the formal opening.

Door prizes and treats for children will be given away at that time.

The shop specializes in dresses and gowns for all occasions, including wedding ensembles. Cut and artificial flowers are sold and also, Christmas decorations.

Evanston Couple Plans To Build Soon In Knollwood

Planning to build as soon as possible on the lot in Knollwood they have just acquired through the Resort Realty and Development Company, are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Smith of Evanston, Ill.

The Smiths spent about three weeks here at Charlton Motor Court while awaiting final closing on the sale, which took place this past week. They are now back in Evanston.

A former food broker in Chicago, Mr. Smith has recently retired and he and his wife plan to make this their permanent home.

They have one son who is married and doing graduate work at Princeton University.

Joyce Williford Speaks At FHA District Rally

On Saturday, six members of the Southern Pines chapter, FHA, accompanied by Miss Whitlow, the chapter advisor, and Mrs. Bushby, attended the District III Rally at 71st High School in Fayetteville. The girls were Ellen Bushby, Patti Larson, Carolyn Niles, Sandy Smithson, Joyce Williford and Karen Wright.

The theme for this year's rally was "citizenship" on which a skit was centered. The speaker, William E. "Dub" Graham, a Charlotte attorney, elaborated on this theme.

The girls voted for the state parliamentarian and elected Ann Troublefield. After lunch, there was a report about the National Convention in which Joyce Williford spoke.

Monday night, November 2, the FHA had its monthly meeting the girls began to make sock monkeys for the children at NC Sanatorium at McCain. At the meeting, Donna Wellman, Becky Austin, and Barbara Jones served refreshments. Patti Larson was elected to be the co-ordinator of the steak dinner to be served to school superintendents on November 18.
