PLAY DEPICTS PAST YEAR'S WORK

300 Attend Home Club Achievement Program; Various Awards Presented

The Moore County Home Demonstration Clubs Achievement Program was held Friday at Union Pines High School between Carthage and Vass. A covered dish supper was served at 6:30 p.m. with grace offered by the Rev. Charles Wooten, pastor of Vass Methodist Church. At 8 p.m. the program was held in the auditorium.

Mrs. Paul Cole, County Council president, presided. The devotions were offered by the Rev. Paul Boone, pastor of Carthage Methodist Church. Greetings were brought by William Walton, principal of Union Pines, and F. D. Allen, county extension chairman.

A play "Queen Cole and Her Subjects" written and directed by Mrs. Charles Cronham of the Hearthfire Club, was presented, depicting some of the highlights of the past year's work done by the 21 clubs.

Home Demonstration Club Awards are given each year by the Carolina Bank. L. B. Creath of the bank presented these awards to the following clubs: first, Springfield $50; second, Cranes Creek, $25; third, Bethlehem $15; and fourth, Westmoore $10.

Fair booth awards were presented by Leon Harkins, first vice-president of the Carthage Junior Chamber of Commerce: first, Bethlehem $30; second, Hearthfire $20; third, Cranes Creek $15; and honorable mention, High Falls, $15, Springfield $15 and Little River I, $15.

Miss Hollis Haney, Regional Librarian presented reading certificates to the following: Mesdames James McKay, J. R. Blue, Robert Coffey, M. M. Routh, Myrtle Marks and Bunyon Smith; and advanced reading certificates to Mesdames James Hardy, Lloyd Thomas, M. N. Blue, C. E. Adams, Edgar Graham and W. M. Thompson.

Seventeen clubs arranged exhibits of handiwork that club members had made. Mrs. Jean Hubbard, home economics agent, said that the exhibits were one of the highlights of the entire event.

Joe Thomas Wins Top Award At Raleigh Meeting

Joe C. Thomas won top award at a meeting of the board of directors of the N. C. Automobile Dealers Association Thursday at Raleigh.

The award was given at a presentation dinner for directors and their wives, and those attending the Eighth Annual Workers Conference, held Friday at Sir Walter Hotel headquarters, and was for having 100 per cent membership in both state and national organizations, for the third year, in Mr. Thomas's district.

The district covers Moore, Montgomery, Richmond and Anson Counties. Ralph Leach of Aberdeen is area chairman for Moore.

Mrs. Thomas attended the two-day meeting with her husband, who is manager of the Pinehurst Garage Company.

On Friday, the wives of those attending were entertained at a luncheon at the Carolina Country Club.

A reception and dinner honoring directors, their wives, and speakers for the conference, was given Thursday evening.

State Ballet Wins Strong Approval At Second Appearance In Sandhills

The North Carolina State Ballet made its second appearance in the Sandhills Wednesday night, in a performance in the Pinehurst school auditorium. Among the audience of enthusiastic spectators were many parents and friends of the members of the corps, as well as those who came because of their keen interest in seeing and welcoming this form of art comparatively new to these parts.

The ballet has a special interest for this area as the president of the state organization is Mrs. A. N. Derouin, of Pinehurst, and several local young people are among the performers, including Anna Dell and Buddy Smith, whose dancing has been a feature of recent local school programs.

The evening opened with the classic ballet on points, danced to the music of Schubert. In these first three numbers the corps displayed charm and grace and executed the difficult traditional turns and steps with a maturity and command indicative of the best professional training.

Highlight of the program was the dramatic "Legend of Happy Valley," in which the character dancing of the four stars was strikingly effective. The cast gave the action of the story full dramatic impact, the interperative dancing done with extraordinary skill to the haunting tones of the Copland ballad. Beautiful

Dent Colt Wins $36,140 In Race Run At Aqueduct

Point du Jour, three-year-old colt owned by Mrs. Magruder Dent of Southern Pines and Greenwich, Conn., captured the 16th running of the $55,600 Roamer handicap at the Aqueduct race track near New York City Saturday.

Ridden by Jim Combest, Point du Jour, a French import, clicked off the mile and three sixteenths in 1:56 and three-fifths, leading a large part of the way and taking the $36,140 first money.

Mr. and Mrs. Dent own Pine Cone Farm, just north of Southern Pines, past the Kenwood section, and operate a training stable there.

Mrs. Dent was the owner of Mr. Moonlight, a fine three-year-old which died some time after running in the Kentucky Derby. Retired at the end of the 1962 season was an outstanding Dent mare, Smashing Gail.
