Local Volunteers Win 2 Trophies At Sandhill Firemen's Meeting, Pinebluff

The Southern Pines Volunteer Fire Department brought home two trophies from the annual convention of the Sandhills Firemen's Association, held Wednesday afternoon and evening at Pinebluff, with the Pinebluff department as host.

The Southern Pines teams won second place in both major activity events, the water fights and water races, with Cumberland Road and Laurinburg, respectively, taking first place.

Southern Pines Chief Joe Garzik delegated his two team captains to receive the runner-up trophies, L. J. Ryder, Jr., for the fights and John Cornell for the races.

In the races, Laurinburg won with a time of 17.2 seconds, while Southern Pines scored a close 17.4 seconds.

Some 200 firemen, many with their wives, representing 22 of the 42 member departments, enjoyed the full program which opened with a business meeting, followed by a tour of the Sandhills by bus and car, the fights and races, beauty contest, chicken barbecue supper and dance. Because of chilly and overcast weather, the final three events, scheduled to have been held at Pinebluff Lake were staged at the Fire House, which served as convention headquarters.

Beauty Contest
Five departments entered candidates in the beauty contest, which was won by Brenda Heath of Fayetteville, a sparkling blonde wearing fire truck red, sponsored by the Cumberland Road department.

The new queen was crowned by Margaret Hardy of Cameron, last year's queen, who was first runner-up in the recent "Miss Sanford" contest and when Sanford's Penny Clark became "Miss North Carolina" Saturday night, stepped into her shoes as "Miss Sanford" for 1965-66.

Another Cameron girl, Barbara Brown, was runner-up as the firemen's queen. Other contestants were Betty Ann Key of Vass, Carol Jean Oxendine of Pembroke and Barbara Hildreth of Wadesboro.

Sherwood Brockwood, Jr., of Southern Pines, Moore County fire marshal, served as master of (Continued on Page 8)

McPherson Named Director, Public Housing Authority

At a meeting Monday afternoon in the municipal building, the Southern Pines Housing Authority appointed Garland McPherson, local certified public accountant, as its executive director.

With John C. Parrish, chairman, presiding, the Authority also named R. F. Hoke Pollock as its attorney. Mr. Pollock had formerly done some work for the group on a volunteer basis, without formal appointment.

The second Monday in each month, at 2 p.m. was set as the five-member group's regular meeting time.

Mr. McPherson, local public accountant, will serve the Authority on a part-time basis. The group, appointed by Mayor Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr., several weeks ago, is currently investigating possible sites for low-rent public housing units here and, subject to federal Public Housing Authority approval and cooperation at various stages, is expecting to move ahead with other phases of the project.

In addition to Mr. Parrish, the members of the Authority are the Rev. Martin Caldwell, E. Earl Hubbard, T. R. Goins and Lt. Col. Frank M. Smith.

Faculty Members Added To Staff Of Local College

Recent staff appointments to Sandhills Community College have been announced by Dr. Raymond A. Stone, president.

They are: Mrs. Regina S. Schendler, Pass-a-Frille Beach, Fla., director of nursing education; Loyd Rawls, Fayetteville, auto mechanics; Carl A. Lang, Menomonic, Wisc., drafting and audio/visual coordinator; Waltz Maynor, Pembroke, mathematics; Brayom E. Anderson, Tarboro, director of adult education extension programs; J. L. Capehart, Fayetteville, guidance counselor; and William E. Watson, Sanford, English.

Mrs. Schendler was director of the Associate Degree Nursing program at the University of Nevada. Prior to that she was an assistant professor of nursing at Dutchess Community College in New York. Mrs. Schendler obtained (Continued on Page 8)

LETTERS SENT TO PARENTS

Police Warn Sidewalk Bike Riders

(Bicycle Safety Rules Are Listed On Page 8.)

Because bicycle riding on sidewalks has become a nuisance and has caused several recent accidents in which elderly people have been struck, Police Chief Earl S. Seawell has opened a bicycle law enforcement campaign. Local officers have been instructed to warn all children riding a bicycle on the sidewalk—which is against the law here. Names will be taken and letters will be sent to parents stating that if the child is caught again court action will be taken, the chief said.

Following is a copy of the letter which goes out signed by Chief Seawell. About a dozen of the letters had already been sent, early this week:

"Dear Parent:

"Your child— was stopped by a Southern Pines Police Officer on the sidewalk. Southern Pines has a law prohibiting riding bicycles on the sidewalk. During the past several weeks we have had several elderly people hit by bicycles and are asking your help in putting a stop to this before someone is badly injured.

"If your child is caught again riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, we will have to proceed with court action against the child. Also, the parent could be held responsible for any injury resulting from an accident.

"Enclosed is a copy of Bicycle Safety Rules and Regulations. Please make sure that your child knows them."

Mental Health Center Expands; 2 Join Staff

The Sandhills Mental Health Center at Pinehurst, a publicly supported facility that serves Moore, Hoke and Richmond Counties, enlarged its staff this week, getting its first full-time clinical director, Dr. Don R. Schulte, and an additional psychiatric social worker, William W. Winborne III. Both started work on Monday, coming here from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Dr. H. D. Horne, psychiatrist who is also in private practice here, will continue his part-time association with the clinic; and Mrs. Mark J. King, Jr., remains as full-time administrative director and psychiatric social worker. The services of a part-time psychologist from Chapel Hill will also continue.

Dr. Schulte, a psychiatrist with several years of experience both in general medical practice and in his specialty, will direct an expansion of the clinic's services, stressing preventive work and early analysis of mental illness through the schools, the clergy, the courts and public health departments. He and Mr. Winborne are expected to work frequently as a team in these projects.

Mr. Winborne will spend one day a week in Richmond County and Mrs. King will continue visits to Hoke County. Although patients and their families will be (Continued on Page 8)

Courses To Start Here Monday For Summer Students

Eight teachers have been selected to work with approximately 190 summer school students in the Southern Pines Schools this summer.

Registration for all classes will be held on Friday, June 18, at the high school office from 9 am to 4 pm. Classes will begin Monday, June 21, at 8 am.

The following assignments have been made by Glenn L. Cox, principal of the East Southern Pines High School, where the summer classes will be held.

Ralph Foushee and David Page will be instructing the East Southern Pines Driver Training course. This course will include 30 hours of classroom instruction and six hours of under-the-wheel-driving training. The first of three complete training courses has already begun. Most students have been assigned to one of the courses. Others should contact the high school office.

A new venture this summer will be the offering of a Remedial Reading course for any grade (Continued on Page 8)

Boosters Set Supper Meeting For June 23

At a covered dish supper meeting at the Southern Pines Country Club, Wednesday, June 23, at 6:30 p.m., the Blue Knights Boosters Club will elect officers, hear a report on athletics of the past year at East Southern Pines High School and present a check to the school as the club's contribution to the athletic program.

John E. Mallow, retiring club president, said the club has had a successful year and called next week's supper meeting "the most important get-together of the year for all Blue Knights Boosters."

The club is an organization of adults interested in the athletic program of the local school.

Mackall Proposed But Rejected As Site For Huge Atomic Lab

There was a flurry of excitement in this area this week when it was learned that the big Camp Mackall tract, just south of Moore County, was being proposed to the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington as one of two North Carolina sites for possible location of a $280 million National Accelerator Laboratory for Research in High Energy Physics.

But the excitement didn't last. Although Camp Mackall was included in the state's official site proposals handed to the AEC in Washington, Tuesday, by former Secretary of Commerce and N. C. Gov. Luther H. Hodges, Sen. B. Everett Jordan and W. P. Saunders of Southern Pines, director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, Mr. Saunders revealed Wednesday that the delegation had been informed the Mackall area could not meet the AEC requirements.

The revelation came Wednesday from the tri-weekly News-Messenger of Hamlet which scooped the state's press in an exclusive telephone interview with Mr. Saunders who was quoted by the paper as saying that Mackall would not be chosen and continued: "I hate to be the one to tell you this, since I live in that part of the state also, but perhaps it is better to go ahead and let the public know the facts so they won't get their hopes too high."

The News-Messenger quoted the C & D head as saying that Mackall was ruled out primarily because of its sandy soil which was not deemed stable enough as base for the gigantic, mile-wide structure that would be erected on the 3,000-acre site the AEC stipulated for the atomic lab.

Also, the News-Messenger said, the Mackall area would be deficient in hotel and motel accommodations for the thousands of visiting researchers and students who would be constantly coming and going. The facility itself would employ some 2,000 permanent scientists and engineers.

Mentioned also as a drawback was the lack of a close, large airport, providing service to all (Continued on Page 8)

Much Rain Slows Recreation; Full Schedules Listed

(Editor's Note: The complete East Southern Pines weekly public recreation program is summarized in a tabulation on page 11. Readers are urged to clip it for future reference. Special events will be added from time to time, announced in advance in The Pilot. Note also one permanent change in the program, as told in the story below. The daily West Southern Pines program is also outlined in the story to follow.)

Opening of the Southern Pines summer public recreation program in East and West Southern Pines was practically drowned out this week by almost continuous rain which fell Monday through Wednesday.

However, Ben Utley, director of the East side program, and Joe Wynn, West side director, expect their wide range of activities for youngsters and adults to move along as scheduled, once the sun starts shining.

Utley said this week that a change in the regular weekly schedule for East Southern Pines (as printed in full on page 11) cancels tennis instruction on Wednesday mornings (tennis remains on Mondays and Fridays) and substitutes bowling for (Continued on Page 8)

COUNTY SCHOOL BILL NOW LAW

Moore County's much amended controversial school bill was enacted into law several days before the expected adjournment of the 1965 General Assembly at noon today (Thursday). The bill authorizes the county commissioners to call a countywide election on whether the county, Southern Pines and Pinehurst school systems will be consolidated into a single county system; and separately, on whether there will be a countywide special supplementary school tax not exceeding 30 cents per $100 of property valuation. Details of organization and election of a new seven-member county school board are also spelled out, for use if consolidation is approved.

No complete copy of the final bill, as amended last week, has been available locally. Next week, The Pilot will review in detail this and other Moore County legislation enacted during the General Assembly's session. State Sen. Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines and Moore Rep. Clyde Auman of West End were winding up their legislative duties in Raleigh today.

FUNDS ALLOTTED

Moore Projects Get Help From Assembly Bills

Two Moore County projects got a boost from the General Assembly in bills ratified last week. An appropriation of $50,000 (reduced in committee from a requested $64,000) was authorized for facilities at the Weymouth Woods—Sandhills Nature Preserve just East of Southern Pines. And $14,000 was made available for construction of a caretaker's house at the Alston House ("House in the Horseshoe"), a State historic site in Deep River Township, where the bullet-scarred old residence was restored and furnished by the Moore County Historical Association. It is the site of a Revolutionary War skirmish.

At Weymouth Woods, the appropriation will provide for a combined nature museum and ranger's office. L. M. Goodwin, Jr., is in charge of the tract. Also included in the project is a short road into the property and construction of a parking area, along with more work on the trails and continued identification marking of plants and trees.

Backing the Weymouth Woods bill were the county's two legislators, Sen. Voit Gilmore and Rep. Clyde Auman; Rep. Pat Taylor, speaker of the House; W. P. Saunders of Southern Pines, director of the Department of Conservation and Development; Lt. Gov. Robert Scott and others. The Nature Preserve is a unit of the State Parks system.

Former Resident Faces Murder Trial, Charlotte

Richard Harloe Caldwell, 16-year-old Charlotte boy who is a former resident of Southern Pines, is scheduled to go on trial Monday in Mecklenburg Superior Court for the fatal beating of Deanna (Penny) Green, 18.

Caldwell moved to Charlotte with his family several years ago, after residing and attending school here. He was indicted on a first degree murder charge Wednesday. He is accused of killing the girl, a neighbor, in his home April 27, and placing her body, which was found several days later, under the Caldwell house.

Refuse To Be Satisfied With 'Synthetic Living,' Graduates Told By Speaker

Speaking to the 60 graduates of East Southern Pines High School at exercises in a packed Weaver Auditorium last Thursday night, Tom Wicker, Hamlet native and chief of The New York Times Washington Bureau, told the young people that if they refuse to be satisfied with "synthetic living," they will still know the meaning of struggle and challenge—and "the going will get rougher and richer."

He said he doesn't ask any more of the graduates' generation than "to keep the old Adam in the human heart."

"Never be afraid to laugh," Mr. Wicker urged. "If you aren't, you won't be afraid to doubt, either. Laugh hardest of all at anybody who tells you there is any one true way to believe..."

Diplomas were presented to the graduates by Dr. C. C. McLean, chairman of the board of education, who was introduced by Glenn L. Cox, high school principal. Supt. J. W. Jenkins congratulated each graduate. Mr. Jenkins introduced the speaker who worked here nearly 20 years ago as executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Nancy Clara Tate delivered the salutatory and Charles Allan McLaughlin, Jr., the valedictory. The High School Band played for professional and recessional and performed during the program.

Special features—the reading of board of education resolution (Continued on Page 8)

DESPITE DISEASE Bumper Crop Of Peaches Likely: Most Since '51

North Carolina's estimated peach crop points to a production of 1,700,000 bushels, as compared with the very short crop of 250,000 bushels produced in 1964, according to the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service. If the present forecast materializes, the crop will be the largest since 1951 when the harvest was the same as expected for this year.

Aberdeen Tax Rate Increase Approved

The Aberdeen town board, in regular meeting Monday night, tentatively approved an estimated budget of $124,075 for 1965-66, with a tax rate of $1.35 per $100 property valuation.

The rate, up from $1.25, represents the first municipal tax hike in many years. While the 1960 property revaluation resulted in a slight boost of revenue, the actual rate remained unchanged at that time.

The budget reflects the higher cost of city services, anticipated expenses in connection with the current water and sewer survey and a capital outlay item of $9,700, of which about half is earmarked for an addition to the Fire House, said town officials.
