AT ROBBINS FARMERS DAY Old Times Live Again

A fine crowd, a picturesque parade, handsome and spirited horses and ponies, perfect summer weather and a general spirit of old-time hospitality added up to a successful Farmers Day event at Robbins Saturday.

This was the 11th time Curtis Hussey, the beaming wagonmaster, had shepherded his procession—now grown to hundreds of entries—straight out of the history-books and Wild West picturebooks through the streets of this upper Moore County town. Heading the parade in his 1906-model covered wagon, drawn by his enormous young Belgian draft horses, Reuben and Dolly, Hussey was host as well as wagon-master for events of the morning. (The afternoon was devoted to a horse show on the school park, sponsored by the Carthage Jaycees and Rescue Unit.)

Following Hussey's rig at leisurely pace were other ancient covered wagons, brightened and refurbished for the day; old buggies and broughams, farm wagons and carts, pony outfits and about 200 riders. The riders encompassed everyone from a two-year-old girl on her small pony to Malcolm Humble, famed trophy winner, in fancy costume on his silver-caparisoned palomino.

Whole families rode in the wheeled rigs, most of them dressed in costumes of many years ago, bringing olden times into the jet age. Winners Listed
The parade, lasting 35 minutes, wound up at "the Grove," where judging took place, and prizes were awarded to winners old and new, as follows:
Best rig, Curtis Hussey, for the fifth or sixth time; best parade horse, Malcolm Humble. (Continued on Page 6)

Walsh Appointed Blood Program's Local Chairman

Leo F. Walsh, Jr., an assistant cashier of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company, has been appointed chairman of the Red Cross blood program for Southern Pines. He succeeds Joe Sime, manager of the Pinehurst Motor Lodge, between Southern Pines and Aberdeen, who with his family is leaving the Sandplace. (Continued on Page 6)

Blue Knights Will Start Practice; Boys Urged To Try Out For Squad

J. H. Smith, head football coach at East Southern Pines High School, this week announced pre-season plans and urged increased interest in high-school football. Physical examinations will be given all interested high school boys in grades 9 through 12 at Dr. R. J. Dougherty's office in the Town Center at 1 pm on either Thursday or Friday, August 11-12. There will also be a meeting in the field house at Memorial Field Friday, August 12, at 7 pm for all boys who want to try out for the East Southern Pines Blue Knights team. "I did a little research this summer and found that the football roster of 1965 had fewer players than any team in its conference," Coach Smith said. "This to me is a black eye to a school that has had a winning tradition going back to six-man football," he continued. "Even then, the squads were larger than in the past few years. "I feel the boys of East Southern Pines High School should have pride and want to carry on the winning tradition in football for their school and community," he said. In inviting the boys to try out for football, Smith reminded them, "You are as (Continued on Page 6)

AGES 15 AND 17 2 Boys Drown In Small Pond Near Cameron

Two teen-age Negroes drowned Friday afternoon when one got beyond his depth in a half-acre pond near Cameron, and the other tried to save him. The pair, Joseph McCrimmon, 15, and Donald Andrews, 17, had been planting shrubbery for a nursery when, about 4 p.m., McCrimmon decided to cool off in the pond on the nursery grounds, according to his sister Theima, 11, who was watching.

When McCrimmon called for help, Andrews plunged in after him, reaching him about 25 feet from the edge of the pond. They struggled briefly together, went under together and did not appear again, the girl told Moore County Coroner W. K. Carpenter. She ran a quarter-mile into the village for help. Two white youths, Thomas Franklin Loving, 24, and his brother Charles Ed. win Loving, 18, recovered the bodies within a short time in (Continued on Page 6)

Brower to Attend School of Arts In Music Field

Hosea Cornelius Brower of West Southern Pines is one of 95 students to receive confirmation of final acceptance to the North Carolina School of the Arts for the coming year. The school will open September 5.

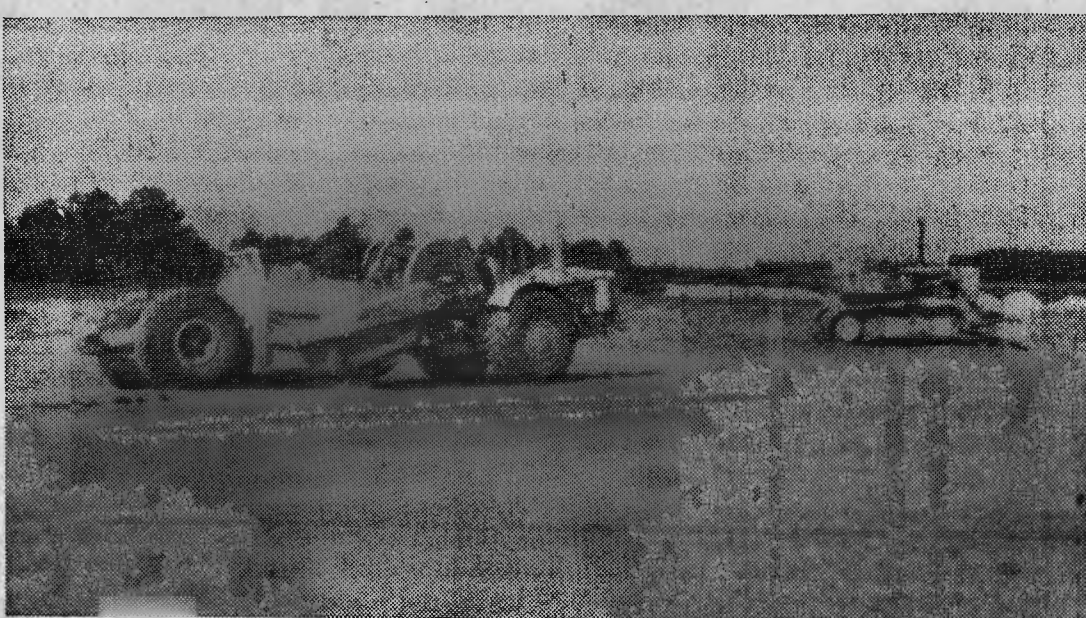

Brower, a 10th grader at West Southern Pines High School, attended the Governor's School in the field of the performing arts this summer.

A clarinet player who received the Bandsman Award during awards' day at West Southern Pines High School, he will continue his musical studies at the School of the Arts.

A total of 265 students will be enrolled in the school this fall—141 in music, 74 in dance and 50 in drama.

These students come from throughout the United States, Bolivia, Canada, Taiwan and Japan, with 153 from North Carolina.

Brower is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Carl Brower of (Continued on Page 6)

PLEDGES VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN Sam Poole Announces Candidacy For President Of State YDC

Sam Poole, local attorney, announced today that he is a candidate for president of the state Young Democratic Clubs, in the election to be held at the Clubs' annual convention September 29-October 1 in Winston-Salem.

Poole, who is well-known in YDC circles throughout North Carolina, has served as chairman of various committees in the state organization, and in 1965 was named one of North Carolina's top 10 Young Democrats.

"Democrats from all sections of the state have encouraged me to seek this office," he said. "I look forward to a vigorous campaign."

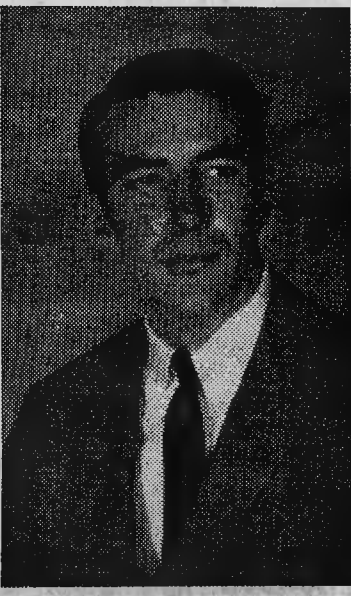

"Much has been done to improve relations between the YDC and the senior party," Poole noted, "and I will strive to increase cooperation and coordination between these groups."

"Though YDC members have varying political philosophies, all possess one common goal: a strong, unified Democratic Party," he asserted.

"I am especially appreciative of the strong support and encouragement given me by Moore County Democrats," the 32-year-old Poole said. He has been endorsed unanimously by the executive committee of the Moore County YDC.

Poole is a 1962 graduate of the UNC Law School and also received his undergraduate degree at Chapel Hill. He was vice-president of the UNC-YDC.

After two years in the Army and the completion of his schooling he practiced law in High Point and was president of the High Point YDC in 1964, when he moved to Southern Pines.

SAM H. POOLE

He would be the second state president from Moore County in the YDC's history. H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen also held the post.

Poole is the son of former State Senator J. Hawley Poole of West End, a veteran of 20 years' service in the State Legislature.

He and his wife, "Doodie," have two sons and live on Midland Road. The family are active members of Brownson Memorial Presbyterian Church.

FOR PINEHURST—Adel J. Petit, left, president of the Western Golf Association, presents to Peter V. Tufts, representing Pinehurst, Inc., a plaque for the Pinehurst Country Club, commemorating the playing of the Western Amateur golf tournament on the No. 2 course, Wednesday through Sunday. ## In Western Amateur Golf Jim Wiechers Wins

A field of 129 top amateur golfers was narrowed to a "sweet 16," and finally a hulking 21-year-old Californian eliminated all competition in the Western Golf Association amateur championship, played on the carefully tended No. 2 course at Pinehurst Country Club Wednesday through Sunday.

Work Proceeds On Airport Facilities

Work on the apron-taxiway addition to the Southern Pines-Pinehurst Airport is scheduled for completion in less than 30 days, according to Buck McKenzie, who leases the facility from the county.

The addition was made to provide additional parking and taxi space for planes. "Before this, one airliner discharging passengers clogged the apron and other planes had to wait the airliner's departure to park, if they didn't want to go on the grass," McKenzie noted.

More and more private jets are using the airport, and pilots of these planes will usually not take them off the pavement either for fear of miring the heavy planes in soft ground or picking up a rock which could damage the engines.

"Now we will have two entrances to the apron, forming a circular pattern," McKenzie explained. (See diagram)

Piedmont Airlines, which serves the Sandhills area, has already changed to prop-jet aircraft. These are propeller-driven planes which use jet engines to turn the props.

They are now planning to turn to "pure" jet aircraft, and have ordered six 80-passenger, two-engine jets, said McKenzie.

"It is possible that they may have one or two such planes in operation within six months," McKenzie said. "But before they can land here we will have to add an additional 1,000 feet to our runway, along with a parallel taxiway."

The runway is presently 4,500 feet long, and McKenzie noted that discussions would soon get underway on the proposed addition. "The County has plenty of land; the problem is to find the money," he said.

He stressed the importance of a proposed taxiway to parallel the present runway for about half its length. "This is so a plane going down to the end of the runway to take off can do so without clogging the strip for incoming planes," McKenzie explained.

Money has been appropriated to provide for three "T" hangers, each designed to hold one small plane, and all connected. Others can be added as they are needed, McKenzie said.

The winter season will start about October 1, and regular airport hours then will be from 8 am until 10 pm.

COUNCIL MEETS Campbell House Incorporation Given Approval

Articles of incorporation for Campbell House, the residence and former estate of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Campbell of New York City, given last January to the town to use for public service and recreation purposes, were approved last night by the town council in its regular August meeting.

Councilman George H. Leonard, Jr., chairman of the Campbell House Committee, and W. Lamont Brown, town attorney, presented the plans to the council.

Called Campbell House, Inc., the property was set up as a nonprofit perpetual corporation with nine directors as the governing body—five appointed by the town council, including one council member; one selected by the West Southern Pines Civic Club; one selected by the presidents of the East Southern Pines civic clubs; one by the board of directors of Pinehurst, Inc.; and one by the county commissioners.

By virtue of appointing a majority of the directors the town will maintain control over the property and its use. "By setting up the corpora-

BUSINESS, GENERAL, ARTS SUBJECTS Several Adult Education Courses Scheduled By Community College

Sandhills Community College will offer a variety of courses in its Adult Education Program in the fall term, according to D. L. Furches, director of the program.

Details of hours, classroom locations, and names of instructors will be announced before the beginning of each class of the Adult Education Program, Mr. Furches said.

Persons interested in enrolling should register as soon as possible with the Director of Adult Education at the Broad Street office of Sandhills College in Southern Pines.

Classes of special interest in the business field are: BEGINNING TYPING — A non-credit course for those who would like to "learn to type" will be offered two nights each week. The complete course entails 44 hours and two sections will be arranged if enrollment demands.

SHORTHAND—A new method called "Stenocript," which uses letters instead of symbols, and which is nationally recognized as an efficient, speedy, and easy-to-learn method. In the Stenocript class offered at Sandhills this past quarter, one student learned to take 80 words per minute in 20 hours, half of the hours of the complete course.

REAL ESTATE — A 21-hour course which will cover sale, promotion, contracts, legal aspects, and other relevant subjects. (Continued on Page 5 Sec. 2)
