Year-Round Service Seen Remote At Local Airport

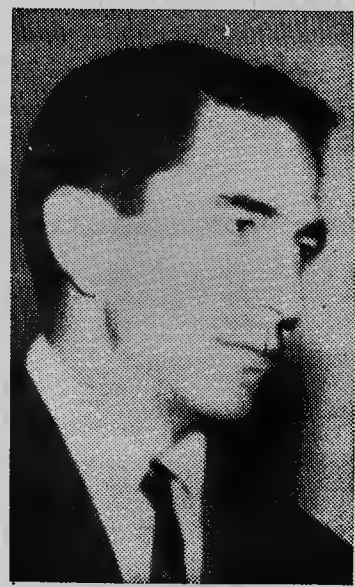

Year-round flight service in and out of the Pinehurst-Southern Pines Airport before another few years is doubtful, airport and communities' representatives have been told. But they hope to obtain extensions of the present October 1-April 30 schedule into September and May to serve the area's large convention business in those months.

The group representing the Pinehurst-Southern Pines area discussed airline service extension last week in Washington, D. C., with Charles S. Murphy, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Before then the group talked about the matter with executives of Piedmont Aviation, Inc., of Winston-Salem.

Piedmont's authority to run flights in and out of the area's airport is limited currently to the October 1-April 30 period.

Members of the group representing the area in the talks with CAB and Piedmont were W. S. Taylor, chairman of the Moore County Airport Authority; William P. Davis, a member of the authority; Albert S. Tufts, vice chairman of the board of directors of Pinehurst, Inc.; and Southern Pines Mayor Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr.

OF STATE YDC

Poole Is Installed President

The newly installed president of North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs told an installation banquet audience Saturday night the return of young people to the Democratic Party must be achieved through positive action and positive thinking.

Sam H. Poole of Southern Pines addressed the more than 300 YDC members, senior Democratic Party leaders and other guests at the Holiday Inn here. Mr. Poole, a 32-year-old attorney, maintains his law office at Aberdeen.

He told the dinner audience that "four eyes must be fixed on the future." He warned of the "temptation to glorify the past at the expense of the future." In speaking of the return of youth to the party he was referring to the Democratic setbacks in last November's state and local elections.

The installation dinner was held during the state YDC's mid-winter meeting. Poole and other state officers elected for 1967 were installed by Lt. Gov. Robert W. Scott.

Installed with him were Vince Leffer of Willard, vice president; Mrs. Betty Lewis of Chapel Hill, national committeewoman; Milton Kern of Greensboro, secretary; and Claude Sitton of Morganton, treasurer.

The national committeeman is Lonnie Carey of Burlington, who has another year in office.

US Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr. of Indiana advised the YDC members to keep the question—

Schedules of list takers are posted in public places or inquiries may be made at police stations or the county accountant's office.

AIDING BURNED BOYS' FAMILIES

$3,321 Total Given In 'Fund For Five' Drive In 2 Counties

A total of $3,321.83 had been donated to the "Fund for Five" when the collection formally closed Tuesday.

The fund was set up to aid the families of four boys who were fatally burned in a Hoke County camping accident last fall with hospital, medical and funeral expenses. Also to be aided is the family of a fifth boy who was burned but survived.

Dr. Boyd Starnes of Southern Pines, chairman of the Moore County section of the drive on behalf of the Southern Pines Elks Lodge, quoted D. R. Huff, Jr., of Ashley Heights in Hoke County as to the grand total.

Of that amount, $1,333.12 was contributed in Moore County, Dr. Starnes said. Assisting with the Elks-sponsored Moore campaign were Mrs.

MERCHANTS TO MEET MONDAY

Officers and directors for 1967 will be elected, said Dante Montesanti, the 1966 chairman of the group.

An outstanding matter of interest to come before the meeting will be tentative plans for organizing a Chamber of Commerce here. The Chamber proposal was announced last week.

Several persons active in the Merchants Council have taken part in the Chamber of Commerce planning.

Watson Named To Post With County Schools

Kirby Watson, superintendent of Southern Pines schools, has accepted the position of director of federal programs with the Moore County schools, effective July 1, when the Southern Pines, Pinehurst and Moore County systems will be merged, it was learned this week from Moore Supt. Robert E. Lee.

Three administrators with the city units will continue in their present positions during the year 1967-68, then, following the consolidation of high schools in the new Area III school to be opened in September, 1968, will continue where they are as principals of elementary schools.

These include Supt. Fred G. Lewis of Pinehurst schools; A. K. Perkins, principal of East Southern Pines High school, and H. A. Wilson, principal of West Southern Pines schools.

Lee said the appointments followed conferences with the administrators as to their preferences, since all wished to remain in the county and if possible in the communities which they are now serving. Unofficial as yet, they will be made official by the Moore County board of education in the spring when approval is given on the full list of those

Support Given Move To Build County Library

The county's recently organized Friends of the Library group has voted to support the board of the Moore County Library in its appeal to the County Commissioners for a new library building in Carthage.

At a meeting held on Saturday at the Carthage Hotel, Chairman Richard Slack of the Friends group pointed out that at present the federal government is paying 49% of the cost of new library construction. He urged that application for Federal assistance be made as soon as possible while funds allotted for the current fiscal year, which ends on June 30, are still available. In view of trends in Government spending, it is likely that funds for this purpose may be reduced after that date, he said.

It was unanimously agreed that an efficient county library is an essential part of Moore County's expanding educational system, and that its cost would not be excessive. It would require from the County about $19,000 a year (Continued on Page 8)

Former Carthage Youth, 17, Dies Of Gun Wound

William Doyle (Bill) Miller Jr., 17, a native of Carthage, was found dead of a gunshot wound about 4:50 pm Monday at his home in Statesville.

Iredell County Coroner Bill Baynard ruled the death a suicide.

Statesville Detective Lt. C. R. Lloyd said the elder Miller described the boy as being "very moody" and that he had suspended his driving privileges Sunday for two weeks because the boy had "talked back" to Mrs. Miller the day before.

Lt. Lloyd said the investigation showed the youth shot himself above the top of the right ear with a .22 caliber single-shot rifle on the back porch of the Miller home, 134 Water Street.

He said the youth's grandmothers, Mrs. Curtis Muse and Mrs. S. R. Miller, found the body when they went to the porch on hearing the shot. The officer said one of the

IN CLERK OF COURT OFFICE

Mrs. Beck Recognized For 16-Year Service

An informal Monday afternoon party in the clerk of court's office at the courthouse in Carthage, complete with a gift, refreshments and spoken tributes—honored Mrs. Bessie Beck of Carthage for her service in the office since August, 1950.

Mrs. Beck's resignation from her present post of assistant clerk of court became effective today, February 1.

Attending the event—a surprise to Mrs. Beck who was lured out of the office while preparations were being made—were Clerk of Court Charles W. MacLeod, his office staff, other county officials and employees from throughout the courthouse and representatives of the press.

Judge J. Vance Rowe adjourned Moore County Recorder's Court, at which he was presiding, to attend the ceremony along with Solicitor

W. Lamont Brown who with words of praise, presented to Mrs. Beck a silver tray, the gift of the staff of the clerk's office.

The tray is inscribed with her record of service—first as a deputy clerk then an assistant and as clerk of court from the death of Clerk C. C. Kennedy last May to Mr. MacLeod's assumption of the elective office last December 5. She continued as assistant clerk until her resignation today.

Mrs. Beck said that, with a house to keep and two teenage children, she felt she wanted to be home more. She said she had no present plans to take another position.

She is the wife of Fred Beck, district engineer with the State Highway Division, stationed at Carthage. They have a son, Fred, Jr., a freshman at

U.S.G.A. HONORS RICHARD S. TUFTS

The Bob Jones Trophy, one of the high awards in golf, went Saturday to Richard S. Tufts, chairman of the board of Pinehurst, Inc.

Receiving the award from the US Golf Association at its annual meeting in New York City, was Peter V. Tufts, son of the honored man who could not be present.

The award is given annually for sportsmanship and outstanding contributions to the game of golf. The contributions of Richard Tufts were cited in last week's presentation.

In addition to lifelong promotion of golf at Pinehurst, Mr. Tufts has twice been president of the USGA and has served as chairman of most of its committees.

2 Bloodmobile Visits Slated

Residents of Moore County are reminded by Col. John Dibb, chairman of the Red Cross blood program that serves both the county's hospitals, that two collections of blood are being made in Moore this week.

They are: at Carthage on Thursday, February 2, at the Rescue Squad building, from 12 noon to 5:30 pm; and at Southern Pines, Friday, February 3, at St. Anthony's School auditorium, from 11 am to 4:30 pm.

At least 250 pints must be collected at the two stops, Colonel Dibb said, to bring blood supply up to the amount already used by the hospitals. There's an editorial about the blood program on page 2 and a detailed story about its problems was in last week's Pilot.

Bill To Permit Local-Area Liquor Voting Is Planned

Legislation authorizing Moore County local areas to vote on whether certain establishments should be licensed to serve liquor by the drink probably will be introduced early in the 1967 General Assembly.

State Rep. T. Clyde Auman of West End told the Board of Moore County Commissioners Monday at a Carthage meeting that such legislation should be prepared for introduction soon after the legislature convenes February 8.

"We should have a bill ready soon as the legislature convenes," he said.

"But a lot of things have to be worked out," he added, "before it (a bill) is presented."

"I'll be for very strict control," Auman also said.

The legislator said he "would go along with McNeill, Sandhills and Mineral Springs" townships on authorization for liquor referendums. Later in the meeting, Carthage Mayor L. L. Marion Jr. said there were people who would like to see high-grade restaurants in Carthage permitted to serve drinks with dinner, too.

(The liquor-by-the-drink proponents have in mind licensing of top-quality guest accommodations only. The public neighborhood bar has no place in the picture, they have said.)

Currie said the commissioners would discuss among themselves the question of adopting a resolution on the matter.

"As far as I'm concerned," Auman said early in the discussion of the liquor problem, "I'm willing to let people make the choice (in local-option referendums)." He said at that point also that he wouldn't care to see the county commissioners become directly involved.

Later, he said, local liquor bills face rough sledding in the General Assembly.

Countywide bills or legislation affecting smaller areas rarely meet opposition in the General Assembly from legislators outside the areas concerned. But, Auman said, a legislator draws powerful opposition when his local bill concerns liquor.

State Sen. Jeff Allen of Montgomery County told the commissioners he would support local legislation introduced by Moore County legislators, just as they would support his local bills.

Allen told the board that he was "not going to Raleigh to vote to make any town wet or dry."

"But," he added, "I don't

3 CARS COLLIDE

Lakeview Crash Leaves 3 Dead, 6 Others Hurt

A three-car collision about 4:30 pm Saturday on US 1 at the Lakeview intersection took three lives and injured six other people.

The dead were: John Leason Scawell, 19, of Carthage, Route 1, and John Woodson, 55, of Baltimore, Md., both apparently killed outright; and Elijah Woodson, 58, of Baltimore, John Woodson's brother, who died at 6:20 am Tuesday at Moore Memorial Hospital.

Injured were Paul Edward Brady, 24, of Carthage, Route 1, Kenneth Ray Davis, 18, and Elbert Lee Sheffield, 19, both of Robbins, all passengers in the Seawell car; Philip Woodson, 59, and Rachel Woodson, 48, and Mrs. Elizabeth Heller, 58 of Baltimore, brother and sisters of the Woodsons, passengers in the Woodson car.

His condition was termed critical when he was brought to the hospital after the accident. ### Man Hurt Again

In Duplicate Of 1963 Wreck

J. D. Arey Jr., 52, of Aberdeen was injured about 4 pm Thursday when his station wagon struck a tree near Old Bethesda Presbyterian Church—the same tree another car he was driving struck four years and 16 days before.

However, a Moore Memorial Hospital spokesman said his condition was good. He was admitted to the hospital for treatment of his injuries. These included a fracture of the left leg—which was fractured in the first accident. The collision January 10, 1963, injured Arey far more seriously.

The tree is an old red oak about three feet in diameter standing a few inches from the edge of the pavement of the road running by Old Bethesda Church. The tree is across the road from the church.

Instead of cutting down the tree the road builders made a slight swerve in the pavement around it.

A narrow rectangular warning sign of diagonal, broad black and white stripes stood a few inches from each side of the tree facing traffic coming from each direction, placed there after the 1963 accident. The sign on the east side of the tree was broken off in the impact in Thursday's crash.

Several similar signs are

Each is beginning his second term in Raleigh.

Auman is Moore County's single representative in the House and his district is Moore County alone. Gilmore is one of two senators from the 19th District which includes Moore, Montgomery, Scotland, Richmond and Davidson Counties.

The 19th District's other senator, who is starting his first term, is J. F. "Jeff" Allen of Biscoe in Montgomery County.

Rep. Auman and Sen. Allen last week attended a special meeting of the Moore County commissioners, to discuss legislative matters—in detail in an accompanying story.
