Opening of School Set On Sept. 2

Southern Pines schools will open on Tuesday, Sept. 2, at 8:30 a.m. for a half-day designated as "Pupil Orientation Day," with all students dismissed at 11:30 a.m.

The first full day of school will be Wednesday, Sept. 3, with the cafeterias operating on this date.

Opening and closing times for schools in Area III (Southern Moore) will be announced after a school administrators meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 19.

Students, grades one through eight, who are new to the Southern Pines area should register prior to Aug. 29 when all teachers will report for duty for the 1969-70 school term.

Students for grades one through three will register with Frederick Lutz at the Southern Pines Elementary School (formerly West Southern Pines School).

Students, grades four through eight, will register with Principal A. K. Perkins at the Southern Pines Middle School (formerly East Southern Pines School). Registration hours are 9 a.m. to noon.

Chairmen Named For Divisions Of United Fund

Division Chairmen for the 1969-1970 United Fund campaign in Moore County have been announced by Allen Jolly, Campaign chairman for the coming drive.

These chairmen have been chosen throughout the county to cover selected areas and groups.

They are as follows: Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines, Industry I, which includes large industrial plants and businesses; Thomas Shepherd of Aberdeen, Industry II, including small businesses; James Shinn of Southern Pines, commercial areas; Mrs. Ida Baker Scott of Southern Pines, retired citizens; and Mrs. Irene Mullinix of Vass, public employees.

Each of these division chairmen will seek the aid of volunteers from each community in order that all those who wish to support the United Fund goal in this county of $1,320,455 will be contacted either personally or through the mail. These volunteers will be able to answer any questions concerning the United Fund in Moore County, thereby acquainting donors with the different agencies served by the Fund.

This year's campaign will begin on October 1 and will last throughout the month.

PATTONS ARE CHAMPS — Billy Joe Patton (right) and son, Chuck, receive first prize from Hale van Hoy of Southern Pines, executive secretary of the Carolinas Golf Association, for their victory in the CGA Father-Son Tournament at the Pinehurst Country Club on Friday.

Billy Joe and Chuck Win Meet

The internationally-known golfer Billy Joe Patton and his son, Chuck, 15, won the Carolinas Golf Association "special event" Father-Son one-day tournament Friday at the Pinehurst Country Club.

The pair tied at gross 71 with three other father-son teams, were victorious in the play-off when Chuck's birdie three on the third hole put them one stroke ahead of the other three pairs, who all parred the first three holes of the Championship Number Two course in the play-off. Billy Joe and Chuck scored nines of 35-36 in the first 18 holes.

Patton, who goes to the Milwaukee Country Club next week as non-playing captain of the Walker Cup Team, has been a playing member of the team several times.

He is a three-time winner of the North-South Amateur at Pinehurst and has won the Carolinas, the Azalea, the North Carolina and the South-Amateur championships.

The other three teams tied in A division, and their scores for the front and back nines: Clyde G. Mangum, Jr. and son, Cee, of Southern Pines, 38-33.

Darby Moore and Bud of Orangeburg, S. C., 35-36.

J. B. Webster and Charlie of Greensboro, 35-36.

Bob and Robby Isenhour of Norwood won the trophy for B division, registering 37-35-72 gross.

According to Hale van Hoy of Southern Pines, executive secretary of the CGA, 104 father-son teams competed in the event.

New Neighborhood Housing Study Will Be Completed in September

Thomas Loftt, a specialist in city and regional planning for the N. C. Department of Local Affairs, is making a neighborhood study of housing in Southern Pines and expects to complete it in September.

Loftt is attending regular meetings of the town planning board as a part of his study of the area.

His survey is part of a $16,000 program, funded by federal funds of $10,000 plus an allocation from the town, approved by the town council early this year.

A two-year community facilities study embracing surveys of water, streets, public buildings, fire, police, garbage, housing, is expected to result in definite recommendations.

The recommendations will outline what capital improvements are needed, how much they will cost, and propose a plan for obtaining them over a period of time.

The current study is one of a series done by the town over a several - year period.

The neighborhood survey will include selected representative sites all over town, to determine exactly what is needed here in the way of housing; the condition of buildings, and will involve suggestions for future planning.

Housing and development guides in all areas will be suggested.

In addition to the housing study, Loftt has also been working with Paul Van Camp, the town sewer engineer, among other officials.

One of the problems here, he pointed out in an interview this week, is that the mile-limit zoning of Aberdeen and Southern Pines overlaps in the area of the Town and Country Shopping center. When the

Sunday Beer Sale Vote Deferred for Reaction

The Southern Pines town council, in regular meeting Tuesday night, postponed till their September meeting a decision on whether or not to permit Sunday beer sales, in order to find out how the public feels about it.

The issue appears to be not so much the actual sale—the mayor said he favors it, and other councilmen appeared to agree—but what controls

Emanuel S. Douglass, 47, of West Southern Pines was unanimously elected by the Town Council Tuesday night to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Pro Tem Felton J. Capel, who resigned from the council following his appointment to the State Board of Conservation and Development.

Douglass, a teacher of industrial arts at Cameron Morrison School in Hoffman since 1948, was immediately sworn into office by Town Clerk Mildred McDonald and took his place at the Council table in the seat vacated by Capel.

The election was preceded by the Council's acceptance of Capel's resignation, which had been received by each councilman in a letter read by Mayor E. Earl Hubbard.

In accepting the resignation, Mayor Hubbard and other councilmen expressed their sorrow at his loss, appreciation of his service and dismay — one member called it "bewilderment" — at the loss of his leadership and experience on the council. Councilman A. Reynold Tucker declared, "We have been leaning on him."

Capel, dean of the council, was elected May 6 to his sixth term. Of the four remaining members, three — including the mayor — are first-termers, while the fourth, C. A. McLaughlin, is serving his third term.

By way of farewell, Mayor Hubbard presented Capel with a gift ordinarily reserved for distinguished visitors — the putter symbolizing the "key to the city" in this resort community, bearing an appropriate inscription.

Douglass was born in Winston-Salem on Feb. 22, 1922, the son of Edith and Emanuel S. Douglass Sr. He attended the public schools of Winston-Salem and has a bachelor's degree in industrial arts from A. and T. University in Greensboro, as well as a master's degree in industrial arts and further studies in administration from A&T.

He served three years and four months in the Army during World War II, with overseas service in the Alutian Islands, and attained the rank of first sergeant. He is a trustee and member of the Century Club of St. James A.M.E. Church of Winston-Salem; has served as president of the Sandhill Chapter of the A&T General Alumni Association; is a member of the NEA, the N. C. Teachers Association, and treasurer of the North Carolina Society of Industrial Arts. Douglass is potestate of Ouda Temple, Number 147 of Mason, a member of Carpenter's Consistory, Number 164 of Maxton, and a member of Cornerstone Lodge, No. 68, of Southern Pines. He is a member of the American Legion Post No. 177 of Southern Pines, and is treasurer of the Pinecrest Boosters' Club. A member of the West Southern Pines Civic Club, he has served on the Southern Pines Planning Board and the Citizens Advisory Committee of Southern Pines. Douglass and his wife, Laurallen Williams Douglass, live at 153 S. Carlisle St., which is also the home of his aunt, Mrs. Josephine S. Brown, widow of P. R. Brown.

Douglass had been recommended by the West Southern Pines Civic Club as a replacement for Capel.

There was discussion of two others who had received high recommendations—Brice Hemphill, also of West Southern Pines, and George W. Little, who had come in sixth in the Town election, losing by only seven votes. However, Mayor Hubbard said Hemphill had come to him to withdraw his name in favor of Douglass, and Councilmen Tucker and McLaughlin both said they had expressions from Little that, while he would like to serve, he felt it important that a West Southern Pines resident succeed Capel in the interest of community harmony.

Southern Pines Picked by State For Pilot Kindergarten Program

Plans are already underway at Southern Pines Elementary School for the new pilot kindergarten program to be state-financed as one of eight picked Friday by the State Board of Education.

The program will come under a $1 million appropriation by the 1969 General Assembly, of which $320,000 will be spent during the coming school year.

Mrs. John L. Frye, chairman of the Moore County Board of Education, said she was "thrilled" that the Moore plan had been accepted, and happy that the county already had facilities that could meet the program's requirements.

Edison Powers, assistant school superintendent, said that some 40 five-year-olds will be accepted for the kindergarten, which will open December 1.

The new kindergarten will be in addition to those for underprivileged children now planned with Kennedy Foundation funds. The Kennedy kindergartens will now probably be held in Aberdeen and Pinehurst for half a day each, Powers said, with the new kindergarten using eight rooms at Southern Pines elementary.

"There are eight fairly new, modern classrooms available that are adjacent to, but separate from, six sections of first year pupils and the reading center," the School Board said in its successful bid for the facility.

"The rooms have a total square footage of 6,467 square feet. An open court and covered walkway connect these rooms with those of first year students and the cafeteria; the gymnasium is nearby also. Open space...

Ruth to Make Finals Address At Sandhills College Aug. 23

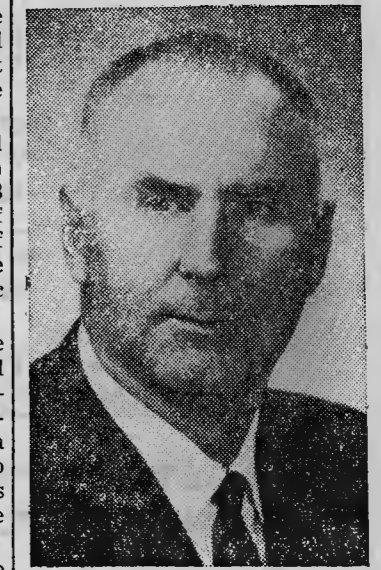

Congressman Earl Ruth of the Eighth District will be the main speaker at formal commencement exercises at Sandhills Community College on Friday, Aug. 22.

The exercises will be held in the Fountain Courtyard on the campus, beginning at 8 p.m. with a procession of members of the board of trustees, faculty, staff and the graduating class in academic robes.

Rep. Ruth has a Ph.D. degree from UNC at Chapel Hill and was dean of students and chairman of the department of physical education at Catawba College prior to his election to the House of Representatives as the Republican candidate last November.

Other participants in the Sandhills College program will be President Raymond A. Stone, H. Clifton Blue, chairman of the board of trustees, and Dr. James J. Altendorf, dean of instruction.

Associate Degrees in arts and applied sciences will be awarded graduates of the two-year college transfer and business education programs, and diplomas awarded to the graduates of the one-year educational programs in drafting, auto mechanics, electronics and auto body repair.

New Regional Mental Health Center to Open November 1

BY MARJORIE RAGAN

The new regional Sandhills Mental Health Center adjacent to Moore Memorial Hospital is nearing completion and is expected to begin operation November 1.

Built by D. R. Allen and Son, contractors of Fayetteville, and designed by Hayes-Howell Associates of Southern Pines, the 10,000 square-foot structure cost some $546,000.

Of the cost, federal funds from Health, Education and Welfare paid $350,000. Hubert Cameron is construction superintendent.

It will serve an estimated 112,000 persons in four counties—Moore, Richmond, Hoke, and Montgomery — with out-patient, in-patient, and day care facilities.

Built of brick to blend with other buildings in the area, it has cast concrete fascia. It has three areas, built around a central court, where patients can walk or perhaps garden, and yet have the secure feeling of being enclosed on three sides. Rooms are varied in size, from private rooms to larger ones where patients can gather to socialize.

A central portion at the rear will house day-care patients. These are persons who live at home at night, but come to the hospital for all-day therapy including talks with staff members, counseling, group therapy and other treatment. To the left as one enters is the out-patient wing, where patients come for brief therapy.

20 - Bed Unit

On the right is a wing for in-patient care, which will have a 20-bed capacity. Patients are expected to stay here a maximum of from two to three weeks. Those needing longer care will be transferred to Duke, Dorothea Dix in Raleigh, or Chapel-Hill's Memorial Hospital. Emergency patients can be taken immediately to one of these hospitals on doctor's recommendations, or can be treated in the Moore Memorial Hospital, where some facilities for emotionally ill patients exist.

All facilities of Moore Memorial are available for Center patients, who will have their family doctors as consultants.

Major staff members are already operating the Center in attractive but too - small facilities in the Pinehurst Medical Center, with part of the offices in a trailer.

Staff Members

They include Dr. Don R. Schulte, physician director; Dr. Thomas C. Suther Jr., physician; William W. Winborne III, local health administrator; Robert R. Byrd, psychologist; Jerri S. White, social work supervisor; Martha G. Parsons, social worker; Mansfield M. Elmore, alcohol coordinator; Edgar McCarthy, alcohol counselor; David A. Culbreth, administrative officer; Nancy S. Harris, nursing supervisor; Rosemary Williams, clerk; and typists Cletus Franklin, Mary Tippet, and two from the "new careers" program.

Consultants include Dr. Harvey D. Horne, psychiatrist; Dr. Derek Shows, psychologist; Ingram Parmley, psychologist; Jim Hawthorne, psychology

Junior Tennis Tourney Opens Here Tomorrow

Seedings were made Tuesday night in the Junior Sandhills Invitational Tennis Tournament to be held Thursday through Sunday on the town and Sandhills Community College courts, but the deadline for entries was extended until Wednesday at 7 p.m. to permit applications known to be on the way to arrive.

Pairings will be made when the late entries are in and schedules will be posted at the courts, said Terrell West, tournament director for the Sandhills Tennis Association.

By Tuesday night, there were 47 entries in hand, with prospects that 60 or more young people from all over North Carolina will be taking part. With the help of a Jaycee committee, accommodations have been found for most of them in private homes while others — some with their parents — will be at hotels and motels.

A dance will be held for them Thursday at the Campbell House train house, to which local young people are invited to help extend hospitality.

THE PILOT LIGHT

LUAU — Democratic officials are happy with the results of the first Governor's Luau held at Wrightsville Beach last weekend. They were so pleased with the turnout for the "Eastern Carolina fund-raising event" that they went ahead and reserved the entire Block-De Runner for another one next year.

It was Chuck Barbour's idea, and Governor Scott paid tribute to the executive secretary of the Democratic Party of North Carolina for his leadership in making it a success. Gil Horton of Wilmington who served as chairman said that more than 180 tickets beyond the goal of 500 were sold. At 50 each the tickets went a long way toward filling the coffers of the party.

It was really a fun weekend, and there was plenty of entertainment. But it also attracted practically all of the serious Democratic politicians of the State. There was a lot of political gossip and speculation to keep interest high.

SANFORD — Former Governor Terry Sanford was the center of several groups during the day and night. Wearing a bright red Hawaiian shirt, Sanford was about the busiest hand-shaker present.

Just about everybody is taking it for granted that he will be running again for Governor in 1972. He still has a firm base of a statewide organization and it was apparent in Wrightsville that the organi-
