Howard Resigns

James W. Howard has resigned as general manager of Pinehurst, Inc. hotels and will assume his new duties as manager of the Oakbrook Hyatt House in the Oakbrook community 20 miles from Chicago,

The announcement was made last week by Eddie Susalla, vice president and director or resort activities for Pinehurst, who said 'We hate to see him leave but this is a wonderful opportunity for Jim." He said Howard's duties here would be divided between Bill Hall and himself until a successor is employed.

Howard, who has been here just a year, also said he had mixed emotions about leaving Pinehurst where he and his wife, Pat, had made some wonderful friends. However, the new job offered him andhhis family such a fine opportunity, he felt he couldn't afford to turn it down. He and Pat and their sons, J.W.

and Boulder, Colorado. Bill Seymour commented that, "Although we are living elsewhere, my brothers and still maintain close personal and business ties to the Sandhills.

"We are vitally interested in the future of this area and are attempting to develop this center complement to the Moore County Community. In order to do this, we have joined with Henry Faison and Van Weatherspoon, shopping center developers who are recognized as leaders in their field, having been responsible for 30 shopping centers in the Carolinas since 1960."

Plans for the 45,000 square foot Rose's Store in Moore County were announced by Mr. L.H. Harvin, Jr., of Rose's Stores, Inc. Mr. Harvin states that, "This new store will be one of the largest and most complete units operated by the company, and will bring to Moore County Rose's new concept in department store operation. With all of its sales area on the ground floor, the new Rose's Store will have a frontage of 300 feet and will represent an investment on behalf of Rose's in excess of onehalf million dollars."

T. B. Rose, Jr., Chairman of the Board and brother of the late Paul H. Rose, who founded the Rose's has grown from the first small store in Henderson to an operation with total sales of over 225 million dollars in 1971.
