$9 Million Sewer Project Set to Get Started Here

Vote in October Seen for Schools

BY VALERIE NICHOLSON A bond issue for $5 million, to take care of present and foreseeable future physical needs of the Moore County schools, would be paid off in 20 valuation.

This figure, obtained from the Local Government Commission. was cited Monday night by Lee Williams, a member of the county commissioners and also of a Friends of Public Education steering committee, at a public meeting sponsored by the FPE which filled the county courtroom to overflowing.

It was the first time in years any cause had brought such a crowd to the courtroom, with standees all across the back. The mood they showed was serious years at a cost to the taxpayers and concerned. In brief talks, of 15 cents per $100 property some showed they sensed a crisis situation and were ready for action, while others evinced a cautious "wait and see" attitude James VanCamp, steering committee chairman, calling at the end of the meeting for a show of hands from those who would "support and vote for" such a measure - a 15-cent tax rise for (Continued on Page 12-A)

Is Considered by Moore

Work is expected to begin later this year on a $9 million Sandhills region-wide waste disposal system.

Moore County Planner Bob Helms went to Raleigh on Tuesday to submit a draft proposal of the project to the Local Government Commission. He expressed the belief that the sewer system which would serve Southern Pines, Aberdeen, Pinehurst and Pinebluff would get under construction soon.

Financing of the project, with cost ranges from $6 to $9 million overall would be primarily from federal funds and Moore County's share from the North Carolina "clean water" bonds approved by the voters in a special referendum.

"Very little local money" would be involved, Helms said. About 15 percent of the cost would be borne by local governments.

Special legislation is being sought by the Moore County commissioners to establish an agency-a commission, board or council-to plan and supervise for the coming fiscal year, about 1973-74.

The widow of Dr. Paul McCain, a memorable and beloved sanatorium, delivered a history of the sanatorium at the institution's 50th anniversary celebration at McCain, April 23, 1958. In it, she described the six cottages which made up the first unit. Her description is a far cry from the present day modern consolidated sanatorium. Shortly after Dr. McCain's death, the name of the sanatorium site was changed in 1947 from Sanatorium, N.C. to McCain, N.C.

As treatment for tuberculosis has changed and evolved through the years, so have the physical facilities, says Ralph Dodge, associate administrator of the sanatorium.

"There is no part of the sanatorium which has not been renovated in the past twelve (Continued on Page 12-A)
