She is the wife of a Navy pilot and is a fashion buyer. Bobbie Mims of Southern Pines will be bringing special music. The special feature will be a fashion show by Helen's of Pinehurst. To bring in spring, everyone is invited to wear something pink—if only a touch of it. A free preschool nursery is provided at the Central United Methodist Church for mothers of young children. However, reservations must be made for them. Bring the child's lunch. For reservations call 949-2266 by Tuesday, April 17. Note the change of meeting date from Wednesday to Thursday.

Chamber Music Program Given At Club Meet

A program of chamber music was enjoyed at the Thursday night meeting of the Cardinal Book Club of Aberdeen which was held in the fellowship hall of Page Memorial United Methodist Church. It was presented by Mrs. Jane Chester, instructor of string instruments for Moore County Schools Area III. Three of her students of Southern Pines Middle School participated. The music was performed by a string quartet featuring two violins, a viola and cello. Karen Sellers and Clarice Hatcher played the violins, Gracen Duffield played the viola and Mrs. Chester played the cello. Their performance included three special selections, and was enjoyed by the club members and their guests: Mrs. Bob Kyle of Aberdeen, Mrs. Kathryn Sellers and John Hatcher of Southern Pines. Mrs. Chester has a group of ten very talented students who perform well together. They'd appreciate an opportunity to entertain for church gatherings or at club meetings. Any group that is interested in having them perform should get in contact with Mrs. Chester. Following the musical program, Mrs. Tommy Gschwind, hostess, invited the club members and guests to a tea table for refreshments of punch, assorted cookies, sheet cake decorated in spring flowers, nuts and mints. The table and hall were decorated with arrangements of dogwood and azaleas. After the social period, Mrs. Raymond Auman, president, called the assembly to order and conducted a brief business meeting.
