Sandra Bibey Shows Work In Exhibit At Library

A one-woman show by Sandra Bibey of Carthage will be exhibited at the Moore County Library through the month of May.

The show opened with a reception on May 3, from 3-5 p.m. Five different mediums will be shown—pen and ink, pencil, pastels, charcoal and oil.

Mrs. Bibey developed her talent through Sandhills Community College courses. She has drawn since she was a child. Many organizations such as the scouts and schools have called on her talents. A major project she undertook was to do charcoal of all the ministers of the First Presbyterian Church of Carthage. She also used her talents to decorate store windows in Southern Pines during the Christmas seasons.

Mrs. Bibey is the former Sandra Oldham of Sanford. She and her husband have been living in Carthage for eight years. They are living in an older home in Carthage. Mr. and Mrs. Bibey and their two sons have done extensive remodeling in their home.

PTA To Meet

The Sandhills Farm Life PTA will meet next Monday night, May 11 at 7:30 in the school auditorium at which time officers for the new year will be installed.

The new officers are Larry Lylerly, president; Betty Black, vice president; Terry Johnson, Secretary; and Dr. Norwood Taylor, treasurer.

Installing the group will be Bill Roberts, president of the Moore County PTA Council.

Other items on Monday night's agenda will include a year-end report and a discussion on plans for Super Saturday set for May 16 at the school.

HITS HOME RUN — Ray Klumb of Carthage Elementary Team crosses plate after slamming four bagger in game here with High Falls Monday night. The visitors won the game 14-7.

CRAFTS DISPLAY — Pictured above are some of the many items that were on sale at Saturday's House in the Horseshoe festivities. There was a great array of handmade items by people from Moore, Lee and Chatham counties.

School Chorus Performs For 55-Plus Club Meet

BY RUTH HARRISS TYSON
The Carthage 55-Plus Club at its meeting held Monday afternoon, April 27, at the Library, had the privilege of hearing the chorus from Carthage Elementary School under the direction of Mrs. Shelia Currington.

The chorus is composed of students from the seventh and eighth grades.

The program they presented contained such lively numbers as:

"Oh, What A Beautiful Morning," "Everywhere I Go," "I Believe In Music," "There's No Business Like Show Business," "You Can't Get A Man With A Gun," "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better," closing most appropriately with, "May The Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

Generous applause from the club members was given after each number, and also at conclusion of the concert. On behalf of the club members, Mrs. Joe Allen, president expressed the appreciation of the club for the boys and girls' willingness to stay after school hours to bring the program to the club; also expressing thanks to Mrs. Currington, the director, and to J.R. Bowen, principal.

The program was arranged by outgoing program committee members Rudy Womack and Mrs. Frances Dowd.

This mini-concert grew out of the Chorus' desire to bring enjoyment to the community through music. Previous mini-concerts have been given this year at St. Joseph's Hospital and Manor Care of Pinehurst. The participating chorus members, who were praised for giving up their after-school play time in order to perform this community service include:

Charla Oldham, Cindy Clark, Sonya McTillman, Rayona Patterson, Anne Lucas, Buffy Mullinex, Julie Kiser, Shad Bryson, Ronald Bowen, and Michelle Bailey.

Current and former Chorus members who, while not singing at this concert, came to give support to the group by their presence.

The devotion of the day was given by Jim Vignola, and was centered around the theme of "God's Love."

Mrs. Johnnie Hancock, secretary and treasurer, read the minutes of the last meeting, and the collection was taken.

Mrs. Allen announced that the May meeting would be held at the library, and that the program had already been arranged. The July meeting, she said, would be the annual picnic meeting, and would be held at the Senior Citizens Center.

The following committees were appointed for the next quarter: Program—Woodrow Wilhoit; Calling—Margaret Cole, Clara Smith, and Maggie Lee Kelly; Social—Mary Gilbert Cole and Lois McGee.

It was announced that anyone wishing to attend the John Frye memorial service at Culdee church on Sunday, May 3, should contact Mrs. Allen or Miss Mary Gilbert Cole.

Tribute was paid to Mr. Frye as the one who started the senior citizens' program in Moore County.

The need for refurbishing the Seniors Center was presented by Miss Cole. She stated that to raise money for this project at the meal site, a lottery will be held, the prize being a handmade quilt. She said that chances are being sold at $1 each, and anyone wishing to purchase a ticket to please see her.

At close of the business session, a social hour was enjoyed, during which punch, assorted sandwiches, Coke, and other party tidbits were served.

There was a good attendance, the meeting room being filled.

Silk Flowers Workshop Held

The Eureka Extension Homemakers Club met with Linda Hammond on Thursday evening, April 30, at 7:30. Thirteen members were present.

The meeting was presided over by the vice president, Opal Blue. Myrtle Caldwell led the singing of "Home On The Range," after telling something of its origin. It became popular during the 1930's when President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared it as one of his favorite songs. Linda Hammond gave the devotional, using the Beatitudes, followed with prayer by Louise Blue.

During the business session a report was given by Myrtle Caldwell on the district meeting recently held in Concord. Members were reminded to get their donations to Mrs. Hammond for the Sandhills Farm Life School's "Super Saturday" fund raising affair on May 16. Also on May 6 each member is requested to plant a tree as a national project. Grace Horne had a workshop on making silk flowers. Twelve pink and white dogwoods were completed. Margaret Horne showed recent articles she had made. These were woven placemats made of dish cloths, a crocheted afghan and a crocheted doll dress. Estelle Ferguson displayed her crocheted pot holders and Opal Blue was carrying a quilted purse she had made.

The hostess invited everyone into the dining room for refreshments, after which the members proceeded to examine and choose the shrubs and plants brought for exchange. Burdine Swenson will have the meeting in May and Nellie Greene will present the program on the "Use of Medical Drugs."

Correction

Mark Phillip Lynch did not plead guilty to two sexual offenses as reported in the April 29 issue of The Pilot.

Instead, charges of second degree sexual offense and committing a lewd and lascivious act upon a child were dismissed. Both offenses are felonies.

Lynch did plead guilty to a series of misdemeanors, including traffic offenses, for which he received a 12-month active prison sentence. The Pilot regrets the mistake and apologizes to Mr. Lynch.

CARPENTRY DEMONSTRATION

A 20th century pioneer using 18th century methods declares that "pioneering is not easy." Roy Underhill, Colonial Williamsburg master carpenter, believes, however, that "starting from scratch and learning from experience" is the only way. Underhill, now master housewright for Colonial Williamsburg, will demonstrate his 18th century carpentry in the continuing Colonial Williamsburg series next week at Stagville Center and the Archives and History-State Library Building.
