

VOL. 3, NO. 4.

SHELBY, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1887.

FROFESSIONAL CARDS.

R. L. RYBURN. R. MCBRAYER. MCBRAYER & RYBURN Attorneys at Law,

SHELBY, N. C. G IVE prompt attention to all busines entrusted to them. 23" Office in Commercial hotel. 15-tf

H. GABANISS, ATTORNEY AT LAW And United States Commissioner,

SHELBY, N. C.

PRACTICES in the courts of Cleve land and Rutl.erford counties. Office on West Warren street. 28-10 28-tf

J. C. JEFFERIES,

Attorney at Law and Notary Public, GAFFNEY CITY, S. C.

DRACTICES in all the Courts. Prompt attention given to business. Co espondence solicited. (F Office in City Hotel. [4-t

[4-tf T. B. JUSTICE, ATTORNEY AT LAW. AND REAL ESTATE AGENT.

RUTHERFORDTON, N. C.

PECIAL attention given to collection of all kinds, and to the sale and purinvestigation of and preparation of Titles Office at court house, in County Treas-19-tf ever's office. Dr. VICTOR MeBRAYER.

SHELBY, N. C.,

() FFERS his professional services to the people of Shelby and surrounding country. Office in old Postoffice Build-beautiful stream is the River of Rest The still, wide waters sweep clear an cold, tall mast crosses a star in the west, A white sail gleams in the west world gold ; It leans to the shore of the River of Rest The lily-lined shore of the River of Rest.

The boatman rises, he reaches a hand. He knows you well, he will guide you And far, so far from all ills upon land, From hates, from fates that pursue an Dursue :

THE BIVER OF REST.

Far over the lily-lined River of Rest. Dear mystical, magical River of Rest. A storied, sweet streym is this River Rest;

The souls of all time keep its ultima shore;

MY GRANDFATHER. STORY OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTIO

The last remnants of the dinner had been removed from the table; the curtains were drawn across the windows: the fire roared up the chimney; we faced each other in two armchairs, my grandtather and I. It was the anniversary of his birthday, and I, his grandson, the only relative he had left in the world, had spent the day at his fireside more in pity for his loneliness than for any love of kindness. They said I should inherit the large fortune he had acquired, none knew how; but the life of this strange old man had ever been an enigma to the few who were intilong fits of abstraction, followed by hoarse pleading, as if for pity, had told their tale. Occasional mention, too, of early days in Paris-of spectacles there that had dulled the courage of stoutest hands of fanatic Republicans, of little the least advance.

mate with him, and none could foresee from day to day in which direction the range of reading and of travel. I was were restored to the light of day. I was he having lost his wife some ten years archy, I listened to violent and unre- one that is guilty, and felt ashamed as to work my way at Eton, to study for before the gates as the mob of women before I met him. He was a thorough strained demands for the immediate I stood in this great purity of nature. a time at Cambridge, then to seek the and of men perpetrated that wonderful representative of the French school of sacrifice of the leading nobility who By and by the streets filled ; the citigreat centres of leaning upon the con- and surprising deed, and never did I nobles as then existing ; courteous to had had the courage to remain in their zens, laughing and wishing 'good-day.' tinent, and to finish in the richly witness a multitude that displayed such a degree, dressed with extreme care, native country. The scene was one I were mostly walking to one spot. An stored libraries of the East It was a a vivid resolution and such united yet without great display ; of a reserved shall never forget ; the clamor of the irresistible impulse drew me thither. grand idea, worthy of a noble and gen- action. But a glance at the mass of manner, and apparently devoid of af- ruffian crew-their faces rendered more It was to the Champde-Mars, where erous man. Alas that his generosity up urned and repulsive faces showed fection or of sympathetic feeling. He repulsive as the flickering oil-lamps the guillotine stood. I can see it all was so thrown away! "I went to Eton, and passed through ing honors there, learning something purpose.

of the classics, and of those difficulties and disappointments that face us all when we start on the battlefield of life. At Cambrige I was a scholar and took honors. I remember now the gladness of my poor father when the news came a happy time, for I was full of hope upon a neighboring hill, I felt that one across the great park with the dogs, or 'It was the intention,' he said. ' of the became more distinct, elbowed me to welfare and happiness. for Paris. It was with reluctance that since that hour her face has been before failings of Goldsmith, were alike for- have we taught our oppressors in the doom. As it drew nearer, so did the fruit. Agitators in the byways were stir ?"- whose people had commenced to test becoming somewhat more calm, he be broken, but with the whole out- duced a sheet of paper. A man rose by the courses of these for whom they

the danger of trifling with people who received me for some time in his library, shed their yellow rays upon them-re- again, ay, so vividly, for the scene has regarded no sacrifice of human life too where he had collected many valuable sounded through the vanited chamber never left me day or night. It is my the school, making friends here, gain- great for the accomplishment of their treasures of literature and of art; and like the road of distant thunder. Had retribution. A great crowd had asas he was very anxious to learn some- you pierced into the hearts of such men sembled there-a sea of faces, diaboli-"It was shortly after such an event thing about the men and manners of you would have found no trace of af. cal, fierce, making merry with death.

that, walking with a fellow-student that productive set of scholars and fection, of good, of right knowledge, From their undst, on a platform, rose near the place of Versailles, a carriage writers who had lately adorned the of any instinct of humanity. They a tall, dark object, that chilled me as I passed us on the road to Paris. The clubs of London, I managed in a were like so many wolves howling for saw it-it was the guillotine.

vehicle was occupied by an aged man measure to interest him. But it was their prey, and the sight of them would "Then, and not till then, did I realize and a girl, who must have been but wearying work for me sitting there have chilled the bravest heart! I my crime, and with returning reason I shore; Ind journey you cast, or journey you west, of the ladder before me. I hear again You surely will come to this River of the ladder before me. I hear again to him that I had mounted one round twenty years old. It was in the spring-with that grave old man, dressed in his solemn black, the diamond buekles silence was somewhat restored, and a But it was too late. Already from the twenty years old. It was in the spring- with that grave old man, dressed in his watched the proceedings from a bench would willingly have given my life to his hearty words of congratulation, blossoms, and the cottages filled with upon his shoes alone relieving the silence was somewhat restored, and a But it was too late. Already from the feel again the warm pressure of his the scent of the May flowers; and as dullness of his attire, and knowing that terrible process known as the 'naming' distance the roar of the crowd was hand, undergo once more the welcome the carriage came slowly along the Marie, so full of life and pictur- commenced. The President rose in his borne on the wind. Those around, as labor of writing to my mother. It was hard road from a chateau that stood esqueness and color, was scampering seat and addressed the turbulent crowd. the shouts of "A bas les aristocrates."

and confidence in my own powers, and occupant of it at least was worthy of kneeling at her devotions in the chapel Club to hasten the cause of Liberty, the front. There, surrounded by around me were those whose every the glorious picture that nature un- -a very type of girlhood and purity Equality, and Fraternity, by removing groaning and shouting men, whose thought breathed a prayer for my folded around us. Ab, Marie! how and love. Yet those hours of heavy those who so prominently stood in the horrid cries of exceration rang in my can I find words to speak of you ! explanations of the peculiarities of way of its advancement. Ah, mes en- ears, I could see, yet some way off, the once famous Dorn Mine, in Abbeville "Then it came that I should set out Grandson, it is enough to say that Johnson, the foibles of Boswell, the fants,' he went on, 'how great a lesson wagon that bore the victims to their county.

they let me leave home, for at that me day and night, sleeping and wak- gotten when at dinner I faced her, and past few years! The flag of progress fury of the mob increase; had they date the first murmurs of the mighty ing, in prosperity or misfortune. Ev- could for some minutes be entranced is unfurled; the fire of those who been able, they would have torn the torrent of revolution which swept over erywhere I look I see those eyes of with the soft beauty of her face, with would enslave us is enkindled; we condemned limb from limb. In an France were beginning to be heard. hers speaking to me, those hands lifted the sweet gentleness of her words. shall soon sift the ashes and sweep agony of fear, I turned my head away, The writings of Voltaire and Rous in pleading, her lips moving as she "Ah,' you ask, 'why has my life them away; but we must be unceasing for remorse, terrible, overwhelming seau were commencing to bear their bids me to her side, and I cannot been a mystery ?' The key to this in our work | our courage must be un- remorse, came upon me, as the horrible Board of Directors of the penifentiary mystery is buried in those days, when failing, our selfdenial unbounding. If deed of revenge was about to be acted. for convicts on lease than can be decrying the King and demanding lib. The voice of the old man sank low, no world seemed so fair as France, no it is necessary for the safety of our But that strange fascination again filled.-Columbia Register.

erty; as the low moaning of the wind the veins on his forehead swelled, he woman so beautiful as Marie. I loved country, wives and daughters, fathers prevailed, and I was compelled to take Mr. Milton McLaurin. of Bennettsbefore the storm, so were these the stretched out his arms, then for a mo- her as I believe no man ever better and mothers must be handed to the one look at the death-cart. It was ville, bought a milk cow for $40 seven warnings of what was to come. But I ment or two he was silent, and his loved a woman; and she, too, returned care of unswerving justice. They full of men and women. Men, the months ago, and he calculates that lights of intellectual strength and since then he has made a profit of had no fears then; rather I hoped to heavy breathing and stifled sobs alone my affection-not with a careless word, must die!' lights of intellectual strength and since the culture, now rewarded for their labors $51.81.

The Governor has appointed W. D. from day to day in which direction the next seeming freak of his folly would is so many years had preached in their the great philosophers continued: Mayor. Another rose, another deathtrembling and weeping, to brothers, or 1 his appointment completes the must remember, too, that none could the Baron Jendavi, and that the girl "It was but in scattered moments warrant was signed, aye, as if the fathers, or lovers, so powerless to help number of trial justices provided for ninetieth anniversary of his birthday; then foresee that, under the cloak of was Marie, his daughter. I followed that I could speak to her, yet we found victim then stood upon the scaffold. I them. A spell held my eyes. in York county. in silence I watched the deep glow of wild beasts, that rapine and vice would the road; then, with little ceremony to happiness. But at the very foundation names were written there, through at the firelight play upon his haggard face, as he seemed to search the inmost depth of the blaze with his piere-ing and outstanding eyes. His life had been a mystery to the and would lie under the curse been a mystery to those who had of misrule. My father could not form the this strange action. I had him but his own interests, had, after "Contrast the picture, grandson, a realize her presence; the cart passed the fashion of his countymen, entered low, vaulted stifling room, 300 men close at my side; she turned, and her stroyed by fire, are meeting with considerable success in their efforts to that little house with but one servant; comfortable home in the midlands and the roadside, yet I believed that not into negotations for the barter of his like fiends asking for the life's blood eyes met mine. Then she stretched raise money to rebuild. and it was only on anniversaries of his have faced the dangers that soon one atom of the beauty of it had es: daughter with an old and affluent of many, of those they had erstwhile out those arms to me; those lips moved birthday that I dined at his table. It awaited me in Paris. When I arrived caped me. In that short walk I had member of one of the noble houses of applauded, cheered, honored. Away, as if in pleading. It was the tender, The shovel or plough brought out was on such occasions as these that I in that great capitol, it was hard to created to myself an ideal in a world France. I said nothing, but loving perhaps not half a mile, a home, where loving face of Marie that looked on recently by the South Carolina Railhad learned enough of the old man's life believe that beneath that gayety and of fancy, which ere this my immagina- her, sent home to think. As I passed the husband built, with his wife, me, her great eyes that spoke, her way Company, is now at work on the to know that some heavy secret lay on bright ess lay hidden a great stratum fion had never penetrated. Before, I through the village, the peasants, many loving plans for the little ones asleep arms that invited me! May heaven Barnwell road filling in the treatling. his mind, that some one act in his long of discontent and poverty and crime. was the scholar; life was for me in the of them half-naked, all of them h span of existence had marred and It was yet harder to believe, as one mass of volumes that lived the walls bread, were gathered around a speaker he returned from his labor, men kneel. ter with the father! She was to die. numbers of people go to see it. seared the remaining years. The fe- lit was yet harder to believe, as one of my rooms and of the libraries, who, in fiery terms, exhorted them to ing at the feet of the women they Realizing the terrible crime, with an There is talk in Greenvill of orvered mutterings, the staring eyes, the that greeted King and Queen, that the among the thoughts and the researches break the chains of despotism that hoped to spend their lives with, every- awful cry I tried to force my way ganizing a land and improvement comeries were a mockery, that the voices of those who had left to their fellow- bound them and to establish the new where affection, home-life, brightness, through the crowd, to join her in life pany, with $1.000,000 capital. The were but empty sounds. That was men an imperishable record of the order. They banned me as I passed godliness. And these men were to die or death; but the soldiers beat me promoters of the scheme have in view back, the mob pressed upon me, the the erection of large cotton factories the year 1/85, and the bastine had not yet fallen; Pitt himself scarce gave mankind. If I had looked into the chateau. In the words addressed to "But to resume. As man after man cart had stopped. The people and perhaps a railroad freight car factory yet failen; Pitt numseit scarce gave heed to the rumors. Why then should future, it was with the hope that I Louis the King, 'it was no longer a rose to denounce his victim, it hap-buildings around grew faint and con-and the general development of the hearts, of women and men dying at the I, a student, foresse beneath this should then find myself striving to fol- revolt in France, it was a revolution.' pened that the namers approached myresources of the town. wealth of loyalism a rising power that low the example of these great men, That night, when I arrived at my lone- self, so much so that the very member ly faintness came over me, I saw that children falling in the widespread sacrifice—all these led me to be lieve that it was in Paris that my studies at the Uni-President Moseley, of the C. N. & L grandfather had spent his early years, yersity. Making few friends. retiring life or wife or children had never was brought back, and the citizens rewith Paris and with the past that his secret lay More I knew not; more I dared not ask, for I was always ill at dared not ask, for I was always ill at The old man ceased speaking ; he engineering corps will proceed at once half rose from his chair, and the fire to make a survey between Newberry showed that he was deadly pale. His and Spartanburg, via Glenn Springs. mind was again enacting that terrible The county commissioners of Chester scene. At length he stretched out his county granted on Monday, the pearms, moaning "Marie, Marie!" and tition of the majority of the land "'A bas!' shouted the crowd-'a fell back into his seat. His life's tale holders of Baton Rouge stownship. was told - my grandfather was dead .asking for an election to vote upon the "I am a stranger, citizens,' I re- Chambera's Journal. question of subscribing to the stock of the Chester and Camden Railroad Whims of Noted Men. Company. The amount of the sub-Great men have whims as well as "Grandson, I lied-lied in my heart, scription asked of the township is $28, by he turned his chair from the fire, and ers, when, pulling me by the arm, he rested but on a name-'Marie Jen- was dumb before him ; but my brain with my fongue. I spoke rather in the small ones, and public personages are 800. clutching the arms of it as if with de said: 'My friend, why waste your time! davi, the daughter of the Baron Jen- reeled under the blow; and as I'left name of pride, of anger, of a thirst for frequently very queer upon some The shutle-block factory at Rock termined purpose, he began to speak Do you not know that Frenchmen no davi, of an uuknown chateau on the the chateau and the great gates closed revenge. In that hour I destroyed my particular thing. Probably Ex-Attor-Hill is running daily and doing a good business. Mr. Westerlund, the proprietor, has made several shipments of

SOUTH CAROLINA NEWS. WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN THE PALMET-TO STATE ARE DOING-A BUDGET OF NOTES ON MATTERS

Single Copy, Five Cents.

IN GENERAL.

A planing mill is being erected at Port Royal by J. J. Cummings.

James McRae and John J. McKay have built a tobacco factory in Marion county. A STATE STATE STATE

The Stoney Landing Co., of Chaleston, will be reorganized. with a capital stock of $50,000.

The Governor has re-appointed A. E. Smith agent for the Catawba Indians at Rock Hill.

Judge Aldrich is suffering severely from injuries received in a fall which he had on Friday last.

All but twenty-five shares of the proposed national bank to be established at Aiken have been subscribed for. Col. Stephen Elmore has discovered a gold mine on his plantation near the

Col. A. Coward, of Yorkville, has received the appointment of postoffice inspector and will enter upon the discharge of his duties in a few days.

There are more applications to the J. A. HARRILL, D. D. S. So I was dining with him on the J of Dental work in first-class style. in silence I watched the deep glow of the firelight play upon his haggard to good work. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed. " Office up stairs over McBrayer's

I rug Store.

T. L. HYNDMAN Boot and Shoe Maker, SHELBY, N.C.

FINE WORK a Specialty. Best mate-rial used. Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 52-1y.]

H. F. MCPHERSON.

Cotton Buyer,

HAS RETURNED to Shelby and is offering the farmers the highest market price for cotton. See him before ou sell. Office at Bostic & Martin's, (A. B. Suffle's old stand.) .41-4f.

New Tin Shop.

HAVING opened a Tin Shop in A. R. Eskridge's old stand, shelby, N. C., I solicit the patronage of those needing tin Ware, Tin Roofing and Guttering, Valley Tin, Sheet Irou, Copper, &c. Satis-faction gnaranteed in every respect 3-tf. J. H. HIGHTOWER.

HOTELS.

Commercial Hotel

SHELBY, N. C.,

J. W. CLARKE, Proprietor. THE best furnished and best kept Hotel in the Western part of the State. Perfirst satisfaction guaranteed. Public pat-

At the beginning of the year the Com-mercial changed hands, and with the new management the house has been refitted and furnished anew. No effort will be spared to maintain its well-deserved rep-ration. Rooms newly carpeted and neat-ly furnished. Best servant attendance. [noi-iv Table fare first-class.

GUTHRIE HOUSE.

THE undersigned has taken charge of the above named house and will en-deavor to keep his table supplied with the best this market affords, and will spare no pains in making his guests comfortable. Rates reasonable. W. S. GUTHRIE, 36-tf.

Grover Hotel. GROVER, N. C. (Intely known as Whitaker, S. C.) B. F. Wood, Proprietor.

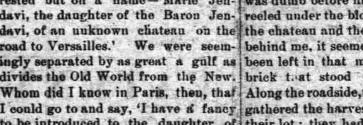

THE AIR LINE HOTEL, Black's, S. C., You have learned from the words that advised the extermination of King and talented and at that time popular May er to the fair woman within its walls. Paris was sleeping. At every sound I He says : "I have had this crackorders ahead for all the can manufac-SONE of the Neatest, Cleanest and Best kept hotels in the State, You have learned from the words that advised the externation of King and interfere and at that the populat hay and interfere and at that the population at t have escaped me that images of the past rise ever before me, images that never leave me day or night, that ear-ry me back again to Paris and mosple was Jean Paul crime." The old man paused a moment here, the day the store were to the possession of the pause is paint of TCareful attention at all times. MRS. M. E. BLANTON, Proprietres: 7.1. The old man paused a moment here, for emotion was working strong with-in him; then recovering himself, he went on hurriedly: "My father, himself a man of letters, Commercial Hotel, BLACK'S. S. C. New rest is being noded with water. Nerve the subscription of the subscript writings and in their teachings. You questions told man was it was a love !

the year 1788, and the Bastille had not labor for the good and the elevation of through their midst, for I was from the ere the sun had twice set !

ease in the company of this strange old man, whose very eccentricities repelled private life of the country. Yet the beauty of the one that replaces it, so ed. I would go boldly to her father and ing, I stood and in a loud voice defirst comings of the approaching storm did my ambition fall as the face of state my wishes. He received me with nounced Monsieur le Baron Jendavi. Would he ever tell me more ! was did not entirely escape me. One day Marie rose up before me. A new realm his usual courtesy, treated my request "Who speaks ?' said the President.

the question I asked myself that night; a student, who had frequently made of ideas was opened, but the new would with the most business-like air, refused and as I watched the quivering lip and overtures of friendship, chanced to not blend with the old, for the one was me with a smile, regretted that other stranger. the trembling eyes, and heard from talk with me in the library of the Univer time to time the muttered prayer, I sity. I was handling some old folios "When common sense had in a "What could I do? Pleading with plied, 'but I speak in the name of felt that his secret would perish with of the Fathers and noting the opinions measure returned to me, I began to such a man would not have recom- Liberty, Equality, Fraternity.' him. But I was mistaken, for sudden- of the great French theological think. remember that my hopes and dreams pensed the loss of dignity entailed.

must face his Maker. When such a the village church, where purity and service for me ?' Such a reflection clothing of the fields, laden with the very sky seemid red with the blood of servant always had orders to splash season is come to a man, it behooves him to think of those who will inherit dered lest a rumor of that which I had ate I learned that the time had come; I started at the speaker and the volume the mystery would behidden no longer. fell from my hand as he poured his the poured his the volume fell from my hand as he poured his the volume the "Grandson," he said, "it comes to insidious words into my ears. Then, whom did I know in Paris, then, that Along the roadside, the ragged peasants the sheet, the room swam before my grate fire, but somehow he detested insidious words into my ears. Then, I could go to and say, 'I have a fancy gathered the harvest. I envied them eyes. Tottering, half-swooning, I the color of coal. The contrast of the that the end of his life is not far distant, ing and retired to my own rooms. I to be introduced to the daughter of their lot; they had their wives, per- reached the street; but the words I black coal and the red and blue flames that the day is approaching when he pictured to myself the old home with the Baron Jendavi-will you do that haps the women they loved. The gay had spoken yet rang in my ears; the was most distateful to him; so his his possessions when he is gone. I have thought over that difficult ques-tion, and I have made my decision. You are my only telative; you will intion, and I have made my decision. You are my only telative; you will in-herit such property as I possess; but more than this, you will learn now I to be difference of the student who had so advised me interventence of the student who had so advised me interve troubled you, the secret of an old man's an invitation to his club to hear a great "In such a mood, I chanced to, re- the slums and the low faubourgs into and the golden valleys, where in motions of smoking with an unlighted farmer can get his molases for less than ife. It has not escaped you, this speaker. Though 1 was no friend of member my letters of introduction, the great palace and the houses of the unending bliss the good had gained cigar in his month. From that he has 20 cents a gallon.-Carolina Spartan.

blocks, spokes and handles to northern cities, and in every instance they have given entire satisfaction, and the wood of which they are made is pronounced as fine as there is in the United States.

The indications are that there will inte. It has not escaped you, this speaker. Though I was no triend of memoer my letters of introduction, ine great plance and the notats of the fight in fear; none knew when the reaping black chasms where the cries of the several members of Congress who have a new enterprise at Chester. It is a threatens to erush it. Others have often questioned me; an idle curiosity prompted them to do so; you have shown your sense and held your peace. It is a made use of the one to the prompted them to do so; you have shown your sense and held your peace. It is a that the pretended agitation was but the hall. It was crowded with some had brought them from England, their loneliness. I could not stir in the shown your sense and held your peace. THIS HOUSE, under the new manage-ment, is furnished with new spring peds and mattresses, and good table, and Livery Stable attached. 42-tf. shown your sense and held your peace. Your discretion has not escaped me; it shall be rewarded by a gratification of your suppressed curiosity, painful though it may be for me to give it.