WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1892.

glad to have the Committee explains that the principles" which our paper "advocates" are not Democratic.
This bit of information will doubtless be gladly received by many of our Alliance friends in Edgecombe county. They will know just exactly the attitude of the present Democratic Executive Committee toward them! It is certainly refreshing and encouraging to be apprised of our friends or enemies when we are about to engage in a contest that involves the welfare of the masses. The contestants then can surround themselves with necessary safeguards to prevent defeat.

There is one thing that is rather perplexing to us, and to which we cannot become reconciled. Why is it that the State Democratic Convention in 1890 adopted a platform embodying nearly all of the measures contained in the Ocala platform, yet the Democratic Executive Committee of Edgecombe county elected in 1890, boldly declare, in 1892, that the same principles are not Democratic? From reading of the above document we cannot make any other deduction than that the Alliance demands are undemocratic.

Democratic in 1890—undemocratic in 1892! Verily the whiffing of time has wrought wonders in the minds of men! Our Alliance friends will know now the attitude of Edgecombe Democracy toward their demands and can govern themselves accordingly.

For the information of the Committee we will say that the FARMERS' ADVOCATE is the organ of Edgecombe Alliance is non-partisan, but as the Southern does not reach all of the Alliance members in the county who heretofore voted the Democratic ticket we thought the FARMERS' ADVOCATE should have been furnished with the proceedings. Now, we would like to ask the Committee whether they consider the FARMERS' ADVOCATE Democratic or not, if they don't think it would have come nearer reaching all of the Democratic voters of the county by their reply that they do not desire any of the Alliance men to vote the Democratic ticket if an Alliance man feels so inclined? Is it a "squeeze-out" game that they are trying to play?

Will Chairman Bridgers please state whether or not while he was in attendance upon the meeting of the Executive Committee the manner of reaching the voters, by publication or otherwise, was discussed? We would like to have this answered by the Chairman of his own knowledge and not from any other member of the Committee nor from the published proceedings.

We would like to ask the Chairman further, how many members of the Committee were present, and who wrote the call "to the voters of Edgecombe?"

In concluding the Committee say that "it was the call of the Democratic party to the Democratic citizens of old Edgecombe."

A committee of five men call themselves "the Democratic party." That's what they say in the above and we can't construe it, from their language, in any other way. Heaven save the mark!

Silver Gone Down.

If silver keeps on down grade in price, some more of the big mines of Butte, Montana, will have to cease operations. The Clear Grit and Black Rock closed recently. The Granite Mountain, of Montana, and the Ontario, of Utah, are two of the great silver mines of the country which can keep on some time longer, but few others can.

The outlook for silver at this session of Congress does not appear to be very good, and its friends are not so hopeful as before the session commenced.

The gradual drop in the price of silver is very discouraging to the miners in the silver camps. As there are more silver mining camps than gold, this greatly affects the mining industry. In some of the big camps silver is bound to give out for the men unless there is a change for the better shortly. Not only must those mines now opened curtail operations, but new ones will not be developed until the prospects are better than at present. Ores of gold, copper, and lead will be more in demand for awhile until the silver question is settled.

PARAGRAPHS.

Whenever we have a man coveting and rearing about his party and country, we are reminded of what Dr. Samuel Johnson said long years ago: The cry of patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel.

United States Consul McCreery is authority for the statement that Mr. Blaine has offered to Minister Egan the appointment of minister either to Paris or to Pekin. Mr. Egan, Mr. McCreery declares, declined both offers.

Mr. George W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Ledger, is generally beloved by every member of his staff. It is a matter of honest pride with him that every man in his employ, be he editor or reporter, owns his own home.

A lead pencil manufacturer at Keswick, England, has presented to Mr. Gladstone the largest lead pencil in the world. It is thirty-nine inches long, and is capped with gold instead of rubber. The great statesman uses it for a walking stick.

There is now before the courts of Philadelphia a peculiar question of inheritance. A wealthy lady died and left a trust fund of $1000 for the support of a pet cat. But the cat has since died leaving four little kittens. Can they inherit the money? Nothing is impossible to Philadelphia lawyers.

One of the Washington City afternoon papers suggests the following as a hint to Congress.—The bright little daughter of Representative Sweet of Idaho recently visited the House. As might be expected, she did not find the proceedings especially interesting. She stood it as long as she could, and then said: "Well, I'm tired of this preachin." If there isn't goin' to be any singing I guess I'll go home."

It has been but a few years since the 3,000-ton steamer was regarded as a thing of great size. When one line ventured to build up to 5,000 tons there were grave head-shakings and serious doubts of the practicability and even of the safety of ships so monstrous. Now most of our favorite steamers measure about 10,000 tons, the Touraine and a few others going above 12,000 tons; so that the 5,000-ton steamers are reckoned small by comparison. But even yet the ambition of builders is not satisfied. The Cunard Company is building a pair of 14,000-ton ships, with 30,000-horsepower, and the White Star people are about to lay the keels of another pair still greater. The growth of the ocean steamer in size has been not less remarkable than increase in speed.—New York World.

Kate Fields has this to say in defense of her sex: All my life I've heard that women cannot keep secrets; all my life I've known this popular opinion to be false, because I've kept many secrets and other women of my acquaintance have done the same. It never occurred to me to doubt the infallibility of masculine honor in this respect until recent events forced upon me the conviction that so-called gentleman can descend into slums that none but the most abandoned of my sex would approach. I refer, of course, to the sale of a confidential correspondence, by which the world has been invited to contemplate a scandal that should have remained unknown. No good is done by its publication; infinite harm is done to a woman and her innocent children.

Mr. Wilson of West Virginia in his speech a few days ago on the passage of the free-wool bill said: There is no more vital or momentous question before the American people than the tariff. A system of taxation, correct in principle and just in operation, is the final goal and an essential of free government. As we approach such a system we broaden and equalize our freedom. As we depart from it we narrow and make unjust distribution. The existing methods of taxation in the United States are incorrect in principle and unjust in operation. Something more than a million dollars collected in taxes finds its way into the Treasury every day. I do not believe that it is within the compass of statesmanship to gather any such sum from the people without imposing serious burdens upon them, and lessening their usefulness and their profitable trade. This is a tax upon the health, the vigor, the energy, the very life of the people. Under the operations of the McKinley law, the people have suffered mercifully. Over $41,000,000 was gathered last year as taxes on an importation of $600,000,000 worth of wool and woolen goods. One dollar out of every $5 collected in taxes came from wool and woolen goods

HENDERSONVILLE.—Messrs. Boone & Rodgers, editors and proprietors of the Waynesville Courier, have purchased the printing outfit of the Hendersonville News, and will move it to Waynesville and consolidate it with the Courier. A parsonage for the Methodist church is being built on Shaw's Creek street, on a lot just west of the church building. The cost is to be nine one, costing about $1,500.—Times.

SALISBURY.—Mr. John L. Brown had a large wardrobe made of pieces of the sleeping car that went down at Boston's bridge last year. It is a very pretty piece of furniture. Last Thursday morning six prisoners escaped from the Charlotte jail. Among them was John Boyd, the negro who is in for stealing a cow, and is also charged with wrecking the train at Boston's bridge. They were all captured and returned within five days, and were found within one hundred miles of Charlotte.—Watchman.

WELDON.—On Monday of last week the case of the United States against J. H. Wood, charged with violating the international revenue laws was heard by U. S. Commissioner H. B. Harrell. After an examination Mr. Wood was discharged, being declared not guilty of the charge. Willie Thomas shot and killed a young girl near Aurdian Springs last year, has been pardoned out of jail by Governor Holt. The killing was accidental. He was arrested and taken to jail and was tried at the November term of the Superior court.—News.

WINSTON.—The large barn of Mr. George Sink, near Wauhtown, was destroyed by fire last week. The animals were fortunately rescued, but the entire contents, consisting of a large amount of hay, corn, wheat, and farming utensils, were a total loss. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed by Mr. Sink that it was the work of an incendiary. The County Commissioners created quite a stir yesterday afternoon by refusing to grant J. J. Adams & Co. license to open up a bar-room in the basement of the new bank building on the corner of Liberty and Third streets.—Sentinel.

WASHINGTON.—On Friday night about 12 o'clock the steam saw planing and grist mill belonging to Mr. J. P. Brown, was discovered to be on fire. The department turned out at once, but it was too far gone to save it. The cause of the fire is unknown. Insurance $2,000, which is a little more than half the cost of the mill. Mr. O. Bumley has bought of Mr. W. A. Pollard, Pitt county, a beef weighing 1205 lbs, and good judges say it is the fattest beef ever brought to this market. The O. D. S. S. Co., are shipping 300 barrels of tar per week, and they have shipped 565 fish boxes, made by D. Hill & Co., to Roanoke Island.—Gazette.

ROCKY MOUNT.—The Atlantic Coast Line, we understand, has bought ten more acres, adjoining the original plot, for their shops. When the operating move in with their families, and occupy the required number of new dwellings and the Steamboat landing to the shop, Rocky Mount will be getting into grand shape for a quick and steady growth into quite a large town. Our honored citizen, Col. D. Worthington is a candidate for Attorney General. Col. Worthington's record is a very fine one and in all the relations of life and in all stations he has borne himself worthily and merited the esteem and confidence of his fellow citizens.—Phoenix.

SOUTHPORT.—Assistant Engineer Thompson says that the dredges in the Cape Fear river below Wilmington have, since January 1st, removed 289 stumps from the bed of the river. Some of these stumps were great size, one measuring 11 feet across the top another fifteen feet across the roots. On Saturday night last the sawmill of Dr. D. B. McNeil was discovered to be on fire and before assistance could arrive it was entirely consumed. In addition to the sawmill was a grist mill, cotton gin and shingle machine, which were also burned, together with some lumber and three bales of cotton. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been a spark from a lighted torch.—Leader.

WILMINGTON.—The remains of the Rev. Dr. Robert S. Moran arrived from New York last evening and were accompanied by Rev. Dr. C. F. Deems, Dr. J. P. Kennedy and Mr. J. C. Taylor, nephew of Dr. Moran, all of New York, and Messrs. W. B. Korneagy, E. B. Borton and Chas. Dwyer, of Goldsboro, N. C. The remains were met at the depot by Rev. W. C. Norman and Drs. Swindell and Nash and the Boards of Stewards and Trustees of Grace M. E. church with a large number of the members of Grace church. From the depot the remains were escorted to Grace church, where a large number had assembled to show their respect for their once beloved but now deceased pastor.—Messenger.

ROCKINGHAM.—The Republican congressional convention of the 9th district met at Rockingham last week and closed in a general row. The Brady faction from Mecklenburg was recognized in exclusion to the Gordon faction, which caused the trouble. Gordon said he and his followers would remain in the court-house until hell froze over and then stand on the ice. Everything was confusion. The Brady faction retired and nominated J. P. Locker, of New Hanover, for Congress, and elected J. H. Young and A. Brady as delegates to the National Convention. The Gordon faction nominated A. M. Long, of Richmond, for Congress and elected J. M. Smith, J. W. Gordon and delegates to the National Convention.—Ex.

THE GREAT ANNUAL BOAT RACE between crews from Oxford and Cambridge Universities was rowed on the Thames last week, and won by Oxford in nineteen minutes and twenty-one seconds, beating the past record which, up to to-day, was nineteen minutes and thirty-five seconds made by Cambridge in 1873.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, SHOE, &c.

LOOKING FORWARD.

The old year, with its joys and sorrows, its pleasures and pains, is behind us. The new year is before us with every promise of being a prosperous one—at least for the Morris Co. This Company has no idea of being outstripped in the mercantile race this year. It would take a whole encyclopedia to tell you what they propose doing for their patrons during 1892. They propose to watch the northern markets with the eye of an eagle, and let no opportunity slip to be the first with every novelty in their line of trade.

Their Dry Goods palace, consisting of two large stores, on Main street, is undoubtedly the grandest emporium in Tarboro. They are proud of it, and the people are proud of it as an ornament to the city. The present year it will shine resplendent with the choice fabrics of the most noted manufacturers in everything that can be found in a first-class Dry Goods store.

In one of our stores a gentleman can be provided with every article requisite to his comfort and pleasure and his wardrobe will be the envy of his companions who do not secure wearing apparel from the same source.

In the other store a lady can pick and choose to her heart's content, and no matter how fastidious her taste she can be suited. The Morris Co. proudest on the strength of their long experience in the Dry Goods and Clothing trade.

Buying for as many stores as it does, the Company will sell to the consumer just as low as any small dealer in the city can by the same goods.

This is the great secret of their great success. Goods in large quantities can be bought at much lower figures than in small quantities, and the Morris Co. always give their patrons the benefit of the reduction. Watch and wait and you will see wonders accomplished by the Morris Co., in Tarboro, during the year 1892. They mean business.

Respectfully,
THE MORRIS CO.

THE SECOND VOLUME.

With this issue the FARMERS' ADVOCATE enters upon its second volume. During the past year it has worked earnestly and faithfully for the cause which it has espoused; it has always endeavored to be fair and frank in its expression upon public matters, and has sought, in its feeble way, to obtain relief for the toiling masses of this country.

The FARMERS' ADVOCATE in the future, will continue to be frank and fearless in dealing with principles and measures. It will champion the cause of the oppressed, endeavor to strengthen the weak and confirm the strong.

We will give no uncertain utterance on public matters, but will deal with them, as in the past, in a plain, direct and courageous manner. To our many friends we extend thanks for their patronage and trust to merit a continuance of the same.

THE COMMITTEE'S REPLY.

We give space to the reply, of the County Democratic Executive Committee, which was received too late for publication in our last issue. It is as follows:

To the Editor of the Farmers' Advocate:

In reply to the question asked in your last issue, why a copy of the call for the Democratic Convention was not sent to your paper, the Committee say: That in their deliberations, it did not occur to them that the ADVOCATE was a Democratic paper. That judging from the opinions it has expressed and the principles it advocates, the Committee do not regard it as a Democratic paper. If the Committee is mistaken, and the ADVOCATE is a Democratic paper, please so declare, and the Committee will make the proper apology. The ADVOCATE is mistaken in supposing that the Committee desired the call to reach all the people in the county; it was the call of the Democratic party, to the Democratic citizens of old Edgecombe.

Respectfully,
J. B. L. BRIDGERS, Chairman.

THE BIG MORMON TEMPLE.

Completed at Last.

The capstone of the new Mormon Temple was laid last week with imposing ceremonies.

There are few buildings anywhere that have been visited by more people. The history of its building is replete with thrilling interest. Thirty-nine years ago to-day the corner-stones of the structure were laid, but it was only a few days after the pioneer Mormons entered this valley, where a new empire was to be established, that the site on which it was to stand was chosen.

Figures only give an imperfect suggestion of its greatness. It is 99 feet broad and 200 feet long. To the top of the four corner finials it is 188 feet. To the top of the central western tower it is 204 feet, and all these towers are to have spires on which electric lights will be placed, reaching some 15 feet higher. The
