on the 7 page, and was as follows: Full name by which known, Zebulon B. Vance, age 62; occupation, United States Senator; place of birth, Buncombe county; place of residence, Central Hotel, date of registration, October 28, 1892.

Senator Vance came here to vote, as he always does, and lost no time in taking the first necessary step, that of having his name on the registration book.

The Senator arrived on the Air Line train last night and registered at the Central. He was here last summer, and the general remark of those who have met him is "the same old Zeb." Senator Vance shakes hands with everybody and chats pleasantly and wittily. His health has not been fully restored but has been so greatly improved as to be a matter of sincere gratification to his many friends.

What Will be the Result? For the Farmers Advocate. That I am not an optimist, I am candid to admit. That I may take a pessimistic view of the future is possible.

Who can realize our present condition, contrast it with our past condition, and contemplate the rapidity with which we have gone from bad to worse without understanding a holy horror for the future—the immediate future?

I write from a moral standpoint my avocation—life long, is that of a farmer. My deductions not simply from local surroundings but personal observation quite extensive.

True it is the early and later ruins are still visited upon us, our fields continue productive—the earth yields her increase, yet poverty stalks abroad unmet, discontent is felt in all circles.

There is no way out of it? Does it partake of evil? Is it well to notice it to brood over it? Was Patrick Henry's speech "Why cry peace when there is no peace?" the speech of a pessimist, or a Statesman? He is not necessarily a pessimist or a crank who thinks over these things, talks them, writes about them.

Here in our grand old county—Edgewood what do we see, it drops out so plain that a blind man, can but see, there is, to put it mild, a fixed purpose on the part of the dominant party, the one that has controlled the destinies of this State, to carry this coming election, State and National, by methods which this extract from a speech of Judge McInnis delivered at the unveiling of the Grant statue in Chicago so heartily condemns.

multitude, engaged in active and busy pursuits who constitute the real strength of the nation. They are not enemies of law and order, they do not envy or hate those who have acquired property by honest methods, they bear their full share of public burdens and so long as the powers of the nation are not perverted to their injury for the enrichment of a few they will rally to its defense with unselfish and devoted patriotism.

Their energy and courage have not been denuded by ease and luxury. There can be no prosperity without public tranquility, and the people will not remain tranquil under a well-founded belief that the corrupt of money prevents a free and honest expression of their choice of men and measures.

One would have to go far, and enquire close, to find one better equipped to engineer a campaign along this line, than the State Cham of the Democratic party, or such at least as the prevailing impression of the man—the gentleman?

It may be true, or it may be false, the talk is no secret, that money is being freely used in Edgewood to influence the cold voters.

Will the black-belt in N. C. go Democratic? If so money will be the factor it cannot be clean—free from fraud.

Men of the South, What is Your Duty? (Continued from 1st Page.) would drive every Southern Democrat (except the bankers and office-seekers) out of the party. Every measure intended to give the agricultural population a fair show in the race, even when the Democracy had both houses of Congress, has been defeated by the so-called Northern Democrats, going in with the Republicans to sustain the plutocracy.

Who in this last Congress with 148 Democratic majority in the lower house defeated the free coinage of silver, a measure demanded by Southern and Western States? Sixty-one so-called Democrats put themselves under the command of ex-Secretary Reed and voted with the Republican minority and so defeated a measure called for by a majority of eleven States.

The few members from the South who in their haste to serve Wall street got down and kissed the big toe of "Tyant Reed." I trust will be taken care of by you this fall. These men, and I will mention a few of them—Tracy of New York, Williams of Massachusetts, and Harter of Ohio—can be of much more service to their Republican constituents by claiming to be Democrats, and this accounts for their course in saving Harrison from the awful dilemma of having to sign or veto a free coinage bill.

What some Things Have cost. Harper's Young People. The magnificent national capitol at Washington has cost, since the laying of its corner-stone in 1793, very nearly $15,000,000, but the State capitol of New York, at Albany, although not yet completed according to the architect's design, has already cost almost $20,000,000, and the model expensive building of modern times.

The largest and most expensive city hall in the United States is that of Philadelphia, and its principal tower is to contain the largest clock in the world.

The greatest price ever paid for a horse was $150,000, given by Mr. Malcolm Forbes, of Boston, for Arion which he bought from Senator Stanford, of California. Arion, the trotter, brought $105,000 when three years old, while in 1891, St. Blaise was sold for $100,000.

One hundred and three thousand dollars has been offered and refused for a Hebrew Bible now in the library of the Vatican at Rome. This makes it the most valuable book in the world, so far as dollars and cents go.

In 1635, when the entire Dutch nation was crazy upon the subject of tulips, a single bulb was sold for $2300. At such prices it would pay better to raise tulips than to own the most valuable gold mine in the world.

Speaking of gold mines, where do you suppose the most valuable bit of ore ever melted in the world, so far as is known, was found? In California or Australia or India? No, indeed. It was a lot containing 200 pounds of quartz-holding gold at the rate of $50,000 per ton, and was found in a mine at Ishpeming, Mich.
