MOTHER'S FRIEND

Not only shortens time of labor and lessens the pain, but it greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery and less liable to flooding, Convulsions, and other alarming symptoms. Its efficacy in this respect entitles it to be called "The Mother's Friend," and to rank as one of the life-saving remedies of the 19th century.

We cannot publish certificates concerning this remedy without wounding the delicacy of the writers. Yet we have hundreds on file.

NOTICE!
Under the power contained in a mortgage deed executed to me by E. R. "Hyer" and Susan L. Oliver, and duly registered in book "O", No. 4, pages 82 and 84 of the Register's office of Johnston county, I will sell at public auction for cash at the Court House door in Smithfield on the 1st day of November, 1886, a tract of land lying in Ingram's Township, Johnston county, N. C., adjoining the lands of J. C. Oliver, George Keen and others, and containing thirty-five acres, said lands being about 2 1/2 miles southwest of Smithfield and about one-fourth of a mile from the Wilson and Florence Railroad depot. The above lands are nearly all woods and finely timbered, with some five or six acres cleared land and a small house on it. This 29th September, 1886.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28, 1886.

It was quite a surprise to all when it became known that the President had left Washington this week, on a hunting expedition. The arrangements were conducted rather furtively, and no one save a few favored few, had any idea that Mr. Cleveland was going away. The party consisted of Col. Lamont, Secretary Fairchild, Hon Joseph Miller and Captain French. It is reported that a magnificent buck was killed the day following their arrival at Romney.
The animal was killed by French, who narrowly missed Mr. Miller in the excitement of the moment. It is understood that Senator Kenna will join the party tomorrow, and that they will not be back for some little time. From a remark dropped by one of the party, it would appear, that the lives of any newspaper man, who presents themselves during this little hunting trip, will be considerably jeopardized. He said "we don't want any correspondents prowling about this diggings. If they come we will not be able to discriminate between them and the deer." It is advisable to stay away, after such a warning. Callers at the White House yesterday were greatly disappointed that the usual afternoon reception was not held, owing to the absence of the President. The day was a very quiet one, there being no official callers.

"Oh plague of this vagary—we are in a nice quandary," is a pretty but pathetic little verse, just now being sung by republican clerks in the departments. These faithful servants are in a state of exasperat-ing perplexity, over the question—whether they can safely go home to vote the republican ticket. Although the present administration has issued no instructions concerning the matter, there exists among these unfortunate people a dread of the consequences. While in Washington, clerks whether democratic or republican, profess an everlasting affection for the party in power. This wise conformity is severely shaken however, when brought to a test like the present case. The voracity of the biblical statement, that a man cannot serve two masters, is by no means equivocal in his instance. It is in point of fact, one of those disagreeable truths, which we would gladly disprove, by sophistry, if it were possible to do so. We can all sympathize with these clerks, but beyond that we are powerless to act. The democratic campaign committee, have made arrangements with the railroad companies, for the transportation of democratic clerks, who intended to go home. Only those however who have not exhausted their leave of absence will get permission to go from the departments.

The great and only Hermann, who is correctly termed—prestidigitator, necromancer, magician and wizard, has been spending a short season at the national. It is no figure of speech to say, that he has succeeded in knocking established facts and reasons into a cocked hat, nor indeed to observe, that the laws of gravitation and attraction have been totally ignored by this super natural visitor. His audiences were held spellbound by the many wonderful tricks, and showed their honest appreciation, by rounds of applause. On Tuesday, Hermann gave an exhibition at the Insane Asylum. Nearly every correspondent and newspaper man, in the city was present. The audience was composed of self called kings, queens, presidents, etc., who at first did not appear to understand the nature of the entertainment. It was not until the great magician had performed several remarkable tricks, like converting cables into cough drops and dumb bells into ten penny nails, that their minds appeared to grasp the idea, and to awaken to a sense of understanding. From this time on, the poor creatures evinced appreciation and enthusiasm, showing their approbation by clapping their hands and whistling. Hermann is to be commended for this kind action, which was purely voluntary, and without any solicitation.

It is an established fact, that the influence of thetheatricals upon the insane is beneficial, serving as it unquestionably does, to stimulate the mind, and to break the dull and lethargic state of deranged intellect.
Hermann's tricks and feats, are calculated to awaken a sense of the extraordinary, in even a wooden indian.

The Judicial Ticket.

To the Voters of No. 1's Carolina:
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 19, 1886.

As propriety does not permit candidates for judicial office in this State to plead for their election by speeches or writing, I beg to say a word in behalf of the democratic candidates on our judicial ticket. Our candidates for Congress, for the Legislature for the office of solicitor and our other canvassers have told you what democracy has done for the State and why its rule shall be continued—that it has settled our State debts; that it has doubled our mileage of railways; that it has given us honest government; that it has reduced our taxes that it has given us good schools, that it has given us peace at home and respectability abroad, &c., &c. These facts are all true and are a sufficient reason why democratic officers in all departments shall continue to serve us. Nothing is more important to any people than a pure, fearless and able judiciary. Such a bench we now have in North Carolina and the voters of the State must see to it that this blessing is continued to us. It is needless to do more than pronounce the names of our candidates for the supreme court, the judges who now constitute that court, Smith, Ashe and Merrimon; their integrity, courage, wisdom and legal learning is conceded by all. Their industry is a marvel to the profession. Nor need anything be said in praise of Avery and Graves, who have served many years as superior court judges and are known and respected throughout our borders; nor of Connors, Clark, Byrkin and Montgomery, whose service has not been so long, but whose praises are in the mouths of the people in every county in which they have held court. The only candidate we present, who has not already served on the bench, is James H. Merrimon, of Buncombe, and his high character at home, his ability as displayed in our State senate and his large and successful practice in the mountain counties and in the supreme court are sufficient guaranty of his competency and fitness for the office.

I would not criticize the gentlemen whose names are presented as their opponents; but I hazard nothing in saying that no well informed man should hesitate in making a choice between the two tickets and that some of these gentlemen are unknown to the legal profession even outside of the counties whose courts they attend.

At one time it seemed probable that our ticket would have no opposition; but opposing candidates have been named, and it is the duty of our friends to see that by no accident, any one of our candidates is defeated. And it is due to them from all law loving voters that they be complimented by the largest vote ever given for any candidates in the State.

Glenwood News.

Last week, Mr. C. W. Lawrence, Secretary Cumberland county Agricultural Society, Fayetteville, N. C., sent us a valuable contribution of books, 20 volumes for our Glenwood Library. Mr. Lawrence is quite a literary man, and he selects excellent books for his large private library.

Mr. C. W. Corrier, former principal of our school, in packing up his books, preparatory to leaving for Florida, found a number of odd volumes and other useful matter which he very kindly gave to our school Library. We feel grateful to the many kind friends who have so generously aided the project of establishing a useful library at this place, and we are satisfied that if those benevolent people could know the intense interest which the matter is exciting among the pupils of the school and could see the enthusiasm with which we are working to make this matter a success; they would be glad that they have helped to foster an enterprise of such moment to the young people of this section.

The Museum also received a valuable collection of specimens of Flint, "Hickory Rock," Indian Lottery, and a beautiful variety of Quartz, from Miss Zilla V. Godby, who is teaching near Smithfield, N. C.
Thanks, Miss Zilla; we shall ever remember you as one of our very best friends.

Rev. J. J. Harper, kindly sends us a valuable book—"Looking Down the Ages"— which is highly appreciated.

We are sorry to know that one of the pupils at Glenwood has had to return home on account of ill health—Miss Annie Barnes left last week. We hope she will soon return to us again.

There is one place in this section where there is a large number of boys and young men—no less than ten at one house; and no girls or young ladies to vary the monotony of the matter, not very remote from this place—"Man Hill"—is another house where the other side is almost as fully represented. Now, would it not be a good idea to change for a while? Let's swap!
Or we will "play base" and "make" you to leave him; how does that "strike" you?

Great preparations are in progress in anticipation of a large crowd at the Musi-calle, on the 29th. Every body is expected to come and "bring the children."

Remember it is for a good cause and patronize it accordingly.

Corn "shuckings" are the order of the day or rather, night now, and it is refreshing to know that the yield of corn is quite flattering, everything considered, and we shall have plenty of bread another year.
