POU, FIRST AND LAST.

To-day when our County Convention meets to elect delegates to the Judicial Convention which convenes here on the first day of July, we must not fail to instruct the delegates for Pou for Solicitor.

High license in Baltimore has put more than 1000 saloons past the board.

SENATORS Sherman and Quay became a little "riled" the other day in a senate caucus, so that the interference of friends was necessary to prevent their giving each other the blackeye.

BILLY MAHONE of Virginia has grown hot under the collar and says that congress has insulted him. In the contested election case of Langston against Venable, the Republicans have succeeded in seating the former who figured conspicuously in Mahone's funeral last fall.

REV. SAM JONES preached to 2,500 negroes in Richmond last Saturday. He gave them some sound advice and told them that the race question would never be settled by votes.

The political situation seems to be mixed up in Indiana. The farmers and laborers are shoulder to shoulder for the legislature and congress. Party leaders are experiencing considerable uneasiness.

JOHN T. EZELL, who received the nomination for Attorney General in the Republican State Convention of Alabama positively declines to accept. He would have felt honored, he said, and accepted the nomination had the convention been made up of anything better than negro politicians and deputy Revenue officers.

We sometimes hear men who claim to be Democrats say they are opposed to primaries, and that they shall "vote for the man." They lean to regard conventions to be Czaric in design and that they rob men of the privilege to vote for whom they please.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE NEGROES.

This is a question that has been agitating the public mind for a long time. Various answers have been given. Even the Southern people are divided as to what should be done.

Some of our Southern people say, "colonize the negro in Africa." By far the greater number say to the North. "Let him alone," and so say we.

If the negro could ever give up the idea that he must be a Republican and vote with that party no matter what it advocates and does, and vote instead with the party that has his interests at heart, that protects and favors him in almost everything, many, many a one would vote with the Democratic party.

We are not asking for the negro vote. We do not need it. Johnston County is safely Democratic now.

PUBLIC EDUCATION.

This is the first of a series of articles we intend publishing from time to time on this great question. We have been waiting for the most favorable time possible to begin this discussion and now that time has come.

The majority of our people are in favor of public education; they see the good our free schools are doing and are willing to support them. There are some politicians in the county who think that in order to be popular they must oppose the free schools.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16, '90. Paradoxical as it may appear, the recent extreme warm spell seems to have cooled public interest in the proceedings of Congress, and thinned out that body to about the required number to constitute a quorum and transact business.

The Alliance of Georgia, some time ago, addressed a number of questions to all the candidates for office and below we publish an extract from Gov. Gordon's response.

By education from my youth up, by personal interest, and by every consideration of the welfare of our people, my sympathies are deeply enlisted in all the high purposes sought to be accomplished by the Farmers' Alliance.

FLASHES OF PUBLIC OPINION.

Ingalls isn't certain whether he'd rather be buried in the American flag or in a gas balloon.—Phil. Times, Ind.

It is a fact of deep philosophy that those who tremble now at what they call the "rebel yell" of the people who are honoring the memory of Gen. Lee, at Richmond never heard the real yell at the front during the war.—Newbern Journal.

The people and especially the industrial people, have tumbled to the game of taxing the masses for the benefit of a few classes, and that means revolution. Do our Philadelphia congressmen hear the murmurs of their constituents?—Phil. Times.

During May the government covered into the Treasury nearly $8,000,000 more money than it put afloat, with the effect of contracting the currency to that amount. Currency contraction is not what the people want.—Raleigh News-Observer.

Mr. Harrison has completely ignored the colored Republicans in making up his list of Commissioners-at-large to the World's Fair. According to the Republican politicians the negroes are most progressive of American citizens, and should be prominent in an exposition of American wonders.—Newbern Journal.

Small must be the mind that would begrudge to the Southern people the privilege of honoring and perpetuating the memory of General Lee. He is one of the noblest characters in our history and the descendant of a race that adorns the annals of our country.—Greensboro North State, Rep.

In view of the prevalent opinion that an effort will be made to reduce representation in Congress from the South, and representation is based on population, it is desirable that the census should be carefully taken, and every name should be put down on the list. Let no one be omitted.—Raleigh News-Observer.

There is no necessity for juggling further in Congressional conference with the alleged anti-trust bill. The measure is a shallow humbug, and is so regarded by the people. Satan was not against sin; neither does a Republican Congress legislate honestly against monopoly.—Phil. Record, Dem.

Massachusetts, one of the oldest, and Washington, one of the youngest States, are alike engaged in the investigation of bribery charges against legislators. The coincidence shows, among other things, that there is a good deal of mighty ordinary humannature in politicians.—New York Herald, Dem.

Our satisfaction with the mere form of popular government blinds us to the fact that we are every year departing further from its essence. The great need of the nation is not more law,—for which we are ever clamoring—but the abrogation of a large portion of what we have.—N. Y. Com. Bulletin, Ind.

It is written that "the liberal soul shall be made fat; and he that watereth shall also be watered himself." But rumor hath it that Br'er Clarkson does not find himself either fattened or irrigated according to his desire. Harrison does not appreciate his headman, and he, therefore, quits office in a huff.—Phil. Record, Dem.

The announcement of the names of the census enumerators appointed for this county, has raised a tremendous howl from the Republicans. A majority of the appointees are, it is claimed, Democrats, hence the storm of indignation. The wrath of the faithful sees us to be directed more against Congressman Brewer than against Supervisor Webb.—Greensboro Patriot.

That there should be a pension deficiency in what should have been expected, and a year or two hence, if all goes well with the pension agents, the deficiency added to the appropriations will overbalance the surplus. Nobody would object to that, however, if the pension list was a real roll of honor and did not include deserters, and drafted men who did not serve.—Phila. Ledger.

If Reed and McKinley have any fear that the Senate will interfere with the monstrosity passed by the House, they should proceed promptly to mandamus that body.—Dayton Times, Dem.

The idea suggests itself that Mr. Blaine's obscurity is voluntary; that he prefers to have no hand in the reckless extravagances to which the new fledged leaders of to-day are committing his party. If so, his clam-like silence and his statue-like motionlessness, may be termed masterly inactivity.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Facts speak louder than words and the uniform Democratic gains wherever the reform ballot is brought in use is enough to silence to old stock-in-trade Republican cry of "intimidation and fraud." The last trial of the new system was at Cumberland, Md., where, for the first time in six years, a Democratic mayor was elected.—Florida Times-Union, Dem.
