AT THE EXPOSITION.

Governor Glenn Makes Great Speech Before N. E. A.

A GREAT WEEK AT JAMESTOWN.

Party From Smithfield Spend Three Days Doing the Exposition and the War Path.

Jamestown Exposition, June 14. Though still incomplete, the Exposition is great. Those who have not visited it do not realize the magnitude of the undertaking. Considering the lack of funds, the high price of labor and the difficulties experienced in securing labor at any price, the Jamestown Exposition Company has done wonders. To take a wilderness island, open up streets and walks, and erect such magnificent buildings in such a short time was a great undertaking. That the work has been done so well but exemplifies the spirit of the South.

The week now closing has been the greatest week of the Exposition so far. Monday was Georgia Day, and the Georgians were in evidence on every hand, more than a thousand from that state being present. President Roosevelt was present and made three addresses during the day, the first at the Reviewing Stand, the second at the Georgia Building and the third to the National Editorial Association at the Auditorium. After his address at the Stand the President with Admiral Eob Evans of the Navy, and General Fred Grant, of the Army, reviewed the U. S. troops. This was pronounced one of the finest parades ever seen in the South. The day was an ideal one and the crowd was the largest since the opening, April 26th.

Many American warships, together with battleships from France, Brazil and other Foreign powers, were lying at anchor in Hampton Roads. Early Monday morning the National Editorial party boarded the steamer Brandon and went out to meet the President, and review the ships. As the Mayflower, with the President on board steamed into the Roads and passed the line of battleships, each ship fired a salute of twenty-one guns. This was an impressive scene and one that those who witnessed it will not soon forget.

The National Editorial Association with representatives from nearly every State in the Union was in session here this week, closing Friday afternoon with the election of Mr. Henry B. Varner, of North Carolina, as President. This is a high honor, not only to Mr. Varner, but the State press as well. The contest was a close one, Mr. Varner winning with only four majority; his opponent being Mr. Baumgartner, of Pasadena, California.

In addition to the speech of President Roosevelt, speeches were made to the Association by Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, Mr. Jacob Riis, of New York, Mr. Crosby S. Noyes, of Washington, Mr. John Temple Graves, of Atlanta, and several others of well-known reputation. Governor Glenn made one of the greatest speeches of his life. The opportunity was a great one and our beloved Governor met it with a speech such as only he can make. He knew he was talking to newspaper men from every section of the Union and he seized the opportunity to tell them of the greatness of the South and of North Carolina. At the close of his speech the Governor was tendered a great ovation.

In this article I can but briefly touch on the Exposition. As noted above the Exposition is still incomplete, yet there are more things of interest to be seen than can be taken in in a three or four days visit. There are some very handsome State buildings on the grounds, and I was glad to see that North Carolina had one of the nicest buildings of all, though not so expensive as some. The furniture and contents are being placed this week.

One of the most interesting buildings on the grounds is the "States Exhibits Building." Here may be seen the exhibits from the various States and without going into detail, suffice it to say, that the exhibit from North Carolina was such as to make one feel proud he was a North Carolinian. Much of interest can be seen in the Manufactures and Liberal Arts, Minors and Metallurgy, the Government and several other buildings. And the "War Path!" One must not miss that. It is said to be one of the best of its kind seen at any exposition. To enumerate the interesting shows on the War Path would take up too much space here, but in a subsequent issue of THE HERALD it will be touched on more in detail.

Those from Smithfield and Johnston County who have been here this week are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hood, Misses Lucy Hood, Ella Myatt, Rena Bingham, Bettie Lee Sanders, Bertha Stevens, Flossie Abell, Marie Abell and Lucile Ellington, Mr. James Parker and his sister, Miss Nettie Parker, of Asheville, came yesterday. Mr. N. M. Lawrence, Jr., who went to Elizabeth City Tuesday to attend the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias as the Representative from Neuse Lodge, No. 125, has also been here. The party from Johnston has had a delightful time, thoroughly enjoying the visit. Some of the members of the party have promised to write some articles about the trip for THE HERALD. Look out for these articles soon.

Misses Flossie Abell, Lucile Ellington and Bertha Stevens returned to Richmond, where they are visiting relatives, this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Hood and daughter, Miss Lucy, Misses Ella Myatt, Rena Bingham and Bettie Lee Sanders and the writer will leave here this evening on the steamer Norfolk for a three days visit to Washington City.

The Naval Disaster in Hampton Roads.

No such catastrophe to the personnel of the navy has happened since the Spanish War as that which sent eleven fine young men to the bottom of the sea in Hampton Roads one night last week. A party of six midshipmen and five seamen were in a launch of the battleship Minnesota returning about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning from some of the festivities of the Jamestown Exposition battleship. The night was dark and rainy and the sea was rough. The launch was missed next morning, and no survivor is left to tell the story of its loss. A search began at once which resulted Friday morning in raising the launch from the bottom of the Roads with the bodies of the men imprisoned within the canopy. The tell-tale signs of the crushed canopy confirmed the theory that it had struck a tow-line, probably of a tug having in tow a heavy barge, and had been sent down with all on board. An investigation of the catastrophe is now in progress.—Progressive Farmer.

The Apostolic Faith.

Rev. H. H. Goff and wife, of Benson, N. C., and Mrs. George Anna Stewart, of Dunn, N. C., will talk on the above subject on Boylan Avenue at the vacant lot owned by Dr. James R. Rogers, one block this side of the Baptist Mission church. Everybody invited, especially the ministers, also representatives of the press. Services tonight at 8 p. m. and for the next eight or ten days at 8 o'clock p. m., also at 8 o'clock p. m.—News and Observer, June 19.

A GOOD PLACE TO STOP.

Visitors to the Jamestown Exposition can secure desirable rooms at 427 North street, Portsmouth, Va. Best residential section on car line. Two minutes walk from Exposition steamer, or Norfolk ferry. Convenient to cafe. Lodging per night for each person, $1, with breakfast $1.50. Misses Cowan,

Rev. William Avera Dead.

Rev. William Harris Avera died of consumption last Sunday at his home near Selma in his forty-sixth year. He had been confined to his room about five weeks. The burial took place Monday evening at 3 o'clock at Johnson Union Freewill Baptist Church where he held his membership. The funeral was preached by Rev. Ruffin Johnson. A large crowd attended the burial. He rests by the side of two of his children who had gone before. He leaves his wife and eight children. She was before her marriage Miss Bedie Furnage and is a sister of our townsman, Mr. S. C. Turnage.

For several years Mr. Avera had been a pastor of churches usually having his time filled with this work but after his health failed he gave up all but one, Bethel, in Ingrams township. He was from a good family and was a good man. His church membership dates from early boyhood and his life has been consistent with his claims as a Christian. The influence for good exerted by him was felt by all who knew him. His death is a great loss not only to his family but also to the religious work which he had been helping to carry forward. Sympathies are extended to the bereaved.

Death of Carrow Belle Raynor

On Saturday morning, June 15, 1907, some after two o'clock the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Raynor bore to heaven little Carrow May Belle their only child.

Carrow Belle was only one year and ten months old, but never seemed like a child. She was so bright and beautiful every one learned to love her that knew her. It really seemed she was too sweet a flower to spend many days of her sweet life on this sinful earth. All that her devoted father and mother and other loving hands could do was done to make her stay on earth longer. For four long weary weeks she suffered terrible torture, but the good Lord that doeth all things well saw fit to pluck her innocent little being from our midst. We all hated much to give her up, but may God help us to realize that another little Angel with Jesus only makes Heaven the dearer. Her little foot prints and sweet voice will be sadly missed by all friends as well as her parents. But our consolation is that the realm of the spirit is a more happy abode than this and that our loss is her eternal gain. May God pity and comfort her parents and all friends and help us to live so we can join little Carrow Belle in a home not made with hands. Her remains were laid to rest in the Bentonville cemetery Saturday afternoon, burial services being conducted by Mr. D. J. Williams.

Farewell dear, but not forever.

There will be a glorious dawn; We shall meet to part, no never. On the resurrection morn, Tho' thy darling formless sleeping.

In the cold and silent tomb; Thou shalt have a glorious waking.

When the blessed Lord doth come.

A devoted cousin, ALMA.

Death.

Mr. William Henry Pittman died at 10 o'clock last Sunday night at his home three miles west of Smithfield. He was a son of Mr. F. H. Pittman, who died several years ago. He was about 25 years old, and four years ago he married Miss Ida Stephenson, daughter of Mr. Israel Stephenson, whom he leaves with two children. He was reared on the farm but for the past few years had spent his time mostly at other work. Since he came to Smithfield to live he had been teaching school and working as a carpenter. A few months ago he sold his place here and moved to the country. More than a year ago his health, which was not very good before, began to fail and it was soon known that consumption had hold of him. He fought manfully against its advance but finally had to surrender to its all conquering power. His funeral was preached Tuesday, at 11 o'clock in Smithfield Primitive Baptist church, by Elder J. W. Gardner, of Goldsboro, after which his remains were placed away in a grave in the town cemetery. A large crowd was present at the funeral and burial. He was a man of many good qualities, both of mind and heart. He made friends of all his acquaintances, and if he ever made an enemy we have yet to hear of it. He strove for everything he considered good and desirable, and while he succeeded, his success was not so great as it would have been but for the frailty of his body. For years he has not been able to do as much work as he would otherwise have done. It was sad as we see it, for him to be called away so early but those who knew him best think he is beyond the reach of sickness now—in the better land.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of expressing to the good people of Smithfield our sincere thanks and assurance of deepest appreciation for all their sweet ministries of love and sympathy extended to us in our recent bereavement. May the Heavenly Father reward them all.—Mrs. Daisy W. Smith

Clayton News.

Hon. Ashley Horne went to Greensboro Tuesday to attend directors Meetings.

Dr. Henry Underhill, of Bayboro, N. C., spent Monday night with Mrs. D. T. Honeycutt.

Miss Flossie Bagwell, of Garner returned to her home Tuesday after a few days stay with her sister, Mrs. Hezzie Jones.

Mr. R. Bruce White, of Franklinton, N. C., lectured at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening to large audiences.

Hon. Ashley Horne, Dr. J. J. Young, Misses Mildred and Ruth Young, and Mr. D. H. McCullers attended the Bridge celebration at Beaufort.

Mr. R. H. Gower has gotten his brick machinery all put down and began the manufacture of brick Tuesday. Quite a crowd went out to see the new machinery at work.

Work is being pushed on the excavations for the Liberty cotton mills. The brick work will begin just as soon as they can get brick, which is thought at present will be about the first of July.

Two infants died and were buried here on the same day last week. The little sons of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Onell, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cole. We sympathize with the bereaved parents and relatives.

Dr. T. A. Griffin, who recently graduated with high honors from the University, of Maryland, Baltimore, Md., has returned home and will be associated with his father in the practice of medicine here.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Guley and son Ralph are spending the week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Guley. Mr. Guley holds a very important position with the American Tobacco Co., at Durham.

Mr. John S. Barnes is in Richmond, Va., making arrangements for fall business in his new position as commercial traveler. Mr. Barnes is peculiarly fitted for such a position, having a thorough knowledge of goods and methods in this state.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Page, are spending some time at the mineral springs at Littleton, N. C. Mr. Page has been in poor health for a short while and will most likely derive much benefit from the medicinal effects of these waters and the change of locality.

We note with pleasure, the advancement of our friends and townsmen, Messrs. Roy C. Robertson and Kenneth R. Ellington, who went west a year or so ago in search of bigger fields of endeavor. They are now employed on the editorial staff of the El Paso News of El Paso Texas, and are in a good way for further promotion.

At a meeting of the trustees of Clayton High School on last Friday night the following teachers were elected for the coming school year; Prof. J. R. Williams principal; Misses Bessie Pulliams, Ione Guley, and Ruby Ellis, teachers; Miss Blanche Barnes teacher of Music Department. All of the teachers have made arrangements to attend the summer school for teachers and will come fully equipped to take charge of the work. Preparation is being made to have the biggest school in the history of Clayton. The board is to be congratulated on securing the services of such an excellent faculty.

Killed With Medicine.

Charlotte, N. C., June 15.—Carl Kiser, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kiser, is dead, as the result of a drug clerk's error in compounding a prescription. The clerk filled the prescription from a bottle containing carbolic acid, thinking its contents was castor oil. It was just an hour after he had swallowed the drug that the little boy died. The clerk who filled the prescription is prostrated with grief over his fearful blunder.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Taken From The Daily Papers.

Both Legs Gone.

Wilmington, N. C. June 18.—George Washington Jones, colored, 25 years of age, was found beside the track on the beach line near Wrightsville last midnight, both legs cut off and his body badly mutilated. The motor-man on the last car to the beach saw a hat on the cross-ties in front of him and stopped his car to investigate. Going forward he picked up the hat and was attracted to the negro some distance away by a groan. He lay beside the track in a half-conscious condition. He was brought to the city about 1 o'clock this morning and taken to the hospital, but it is not expected that he will live more than a few hours. He was drunk on the sound and was probably struck by the car coming to town just ahead of that on which the motor-man was running and found him. Jones had been employed about the city as a cook in cafes and restaurants and was probably in that capacity on the sound or on the beach.

Blue Laws in Durham.

Durham, N. C., June 18.—In the future the drug stores will sell only drugs on Sundays and only on prescription. All others who sell anything will be indicted under the State law and the city law, which makes it a fine of $25 for each violation. In other words the city is now under the "blue Sunday" laws. No cold drinks, cigars, cigarettes, or anything will be sold unless it is on the prescription of a physician.

This fight came up over an application of Trakas & Co., to be allowed to sell cold drinks on Sunday, citing the fact that druggists and the cigar stores were allowed to do this. The aldermen then decided that all should fair alike and that no person should sell anything but drugs. This law goes into operation at once.

Fought in a Saloon.

Washington, N. C., June 18.—W. F. Floyd has been arrested here at the instance of the Norfolk police charged with feloniously cutting Billy Bagnall in a Bank street bar Saturday afternoon. Immediately after the stabbing, Captain Ford telegraphed from Norfolk to look out for Floyd and he was picked up and will be held for the Norfolk authorities.

Floyd, with his son, went to Norfolk several days ago and was visiting the Exposition. He sent his son home Friday night and intended following Sunday. Had he done so he would have kept out of trouble.

Good News From The Smithfield Tobacco Market.

There will be three warehouses run here the coming season. Skinner & Patterson will run the Banner, Boyett Bros. the Farmers and Jones & Coats the River Side. With three warehouses and five prize houses and a steam plant with a capacity of twenty thousand lbs per day, will surely place Smithfield on top as a tobacco market. Beginning Aug. 1st the Smithfield Tobacco market will be ten years old and each year has grown in strength and popularity. When the market was opened Aug. 1st, 1898 it only sold a small per cent of the tobacco raised in the county, but now it is selling tobacco from eight counties. That speaks well for the Smithfield Tobacco market.

He Fired the Stick.

"I have fired the walking-stick I've carried over 40 years, on account of a sore that resisted every kind of treatment, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; that has healed the sore and made me a happy man," writes John Garrett, of North Mills, N. C. Guaranteed for Piles, Burns etc., by Hood Bros., druggists, 25c.
