GIVE US MEN!

Men from every rank,
Fresh and free and frank;
Men of thought and reading,
Men of light and leading,
Men of loyal breeding,
The Nation's welfare speeding;
Men of faith and not of fiction,
Men of lofty aim and action;
Give us Men—I say again,
Give us Men!

Give us Men!
Strong and stalwart ones;
Men whom highest hope inspires,
Men whom purest honor fires,
Men who trample Self beneath them,
Men who make their country wreathe them
As her noble sons.
Worthy of their sires!
Men who never fall their brothers,
True, however false are others;
Give us Men—I say again,
Give us Men!

Give us Men!
Men who, when the tempest gathers,
Grasp the standard of their fathers
In the thickest fight;
Men who strike for home and altar,
Let the coward cringe and falter,
God defend the right!
True as truth, though lorn and lonely,
Tender, as the brave are only;
Men who tread where saints have trod,
Men for Country—Home—and God;
Give us Men! I say again—
again—
Give us such Men!
—Bishop of Exeter.

In the death of John M. Jullan, the press of North Carolina has lost one of its brightest spirits. He was a general favorite with the members of the North Carolina Press Association and was loved wherever known. As a speaker and writer he was strong in those qualities that always make for strength—honesty, straight-forwardness, open-heartedness and truth. His County and the State are the poorer for his passing.

That the principle that the Governors and other officers of our government, especially those officials where no constructive statesmanship is required, should not be kept in office too long, is becoming more thoroughly grounded in the minds of thinking people, is evident on every hand. Governor Hughes, of New York, one of the best governors any state has had in recent years, made an address at the New York State Fair last Friday in which he boldly comes out for a four year term for the Governor of his State and declares that he believes that he should be ineligible for re-election. Such a law already prevails in North Carolina, and a Governor, when inaugurated, can begin his work as chief executive without being hampered with the thought that he must look to the building of his fences if he is to succeed himself. The wisdom of rotation in office.

Cut Open Mail Sacks Found.

One night several months ago, two mail sacks were thrown off at Smithfield depot from one of the fast trains which passes here at night. They were put off on the opposite side from the depot and it is thought that a thief grabbed them as soon as possible and disappeared in the darkness. When the night operator went out for them they could not be found and were not heard from until last Sunday. Mr. Edwards, who runs the railroad pump at the depot, was out for a walk last Sunday and found them near where the midland railroad crosses the county road about half a mile from the depot. The sack which contained papers was not cut, the cord which fastens the top of it being the only part of it that was harmed. The cord was cut and pulled out. The other was cut open about half way down the sack. The mail was badly torn and scattered over a place of considerable size. The work must have been done by experts who were hunting money.

"Pop, what is the lull before the storm?" "The honeymoon, my son."

POLITICAL POINTERS.

When the rest of the country is going Democratic, it is hard to see on what the Republicans are basing their hopes to carry half the Congressional districts in North Carolina. It's too big a job even for "booze and boodle."—Greensboro Telegram.

If the Democratic party shall come into control of the Government in 1912, as pray God it may, there will be such a cleaning out of the rascals as was never known before in any civilized country.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

That young Gullford fellow who says young men have no chance for preferment in the Democratic party should ask the age of the Democratic nominee for Senator from Gullford and of the Democratic candidate for Superior court judge in Rockingham.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The people of North Carolina have no more reason to believe that the Republican party in North Carolina will be any more respectable under the Butler and Morehead manipulations than it was under Duncan and the "ple syndicate." A change of pie distributors means nothing to a North Carolinian who is content to stick to the Democratic party because it is safer for the State and for his best interests to do so.—Wilmington Star.

A Good Woman Gone to Rest.

Mrs. Julia Grant was born September 13th, 1825, and departed this life September 17th, 1910. She was a member of the Free Will Baptist church at Pleasant Plains, but for a number of years had not been able to attend her church. Her funeral was preached by Rev. J. Ira Blackman assisted by Rev. Billie Fussell, at the home of her son, Mr. E. Grant. She said during her sickness she was ready and willing to die any time the good Lord saw fit to call her. A few days before she died she told them around her that she had seen her Saviour and would soon be with Him.

Where the pilgrim reposes the fields are all green;
There, day never closes nor clouds intervene.

While the river of life flows freely.

A peculiar accident occurred at Washington Friday when a carpenter, who was at work on a new manufacturing plant, fell from some staging, and in falling caught his ear on a sharp iron hook almost tearing it from his head. Physicians sewed it back and the patient at the last report was doing well.

Charles R. Helko, a former secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company, has been sentenced to serve eight months in the New York penitentiary on Blackwell's Island and pay a fine of $5,000, on conviction of conspiring to defraud the Government.

The cholera epidemic which, originating in Southern Russia, has claimed upward of 100,000 victims, is stretching its way across Asiatic Russia, and Friday was officially declared to threaten the province of Amur in Southeast Siberia. Many deaths also are reported from Italy.

Four men were killed and two were injured in a collision between Mobile & Ohio and Iron Mountain freight trains near Beech Ridge, Ill., Sunday. Witnesses before the coroner's jury testified operator Charles E. Clark had been drinking and failed to transmit train orders. He was arrested.

The publication of a story purporting to come from Beverly that President Taft had decided to step aside as a presidential candidate in 1912 for Col. Roosevelt was denied at Beverly Friday night. It was authoritatively stated that President Taft would accept a second nomination from his party.
