

Stomach Troubles Cured by Vinol

HERE IS PROOF "I suffered so long from stomach trouble and indigestion, that I lost flesh rapidly—VINOL cured me after everything else had failed. It strengthened my digestive organs—gave me a hearty appetite, and I can eat anything without the slightest distress. I do not believe anything equals VINOL for stomach trouble and indigestion."

W. E. WATERHOUSE, Portland, Me.

Mr. Thos. G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes, "I suffered for years from a chronic stomach trouble. VINOL entirely cured me after everything else had failed."

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL, which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion, and at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Try a bottle of VINOL with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

A New Use for the Telephone.

Cecil was accustomed to hearing his mother telephone for nearly everything she needed. One day as he entered the pantry a little mouse scampered across the floor. Very much frightened, he jumped up and down, screaming: "Oh, mother, phone for the cat! Please phone for the cat!"—Success.

"MY BLOOD IN FINE CONDITION"

Every sufferer from Blood Poison should read what Mrs. G. F. Medina, of Weldon, N. C., says of her experience: "I was a terrible sufferer from Blood Poison. It was the blood which was broken, the flesh would become inflamed, itchy and burn, and develop into sores. Before the birth of one of my children, my whole body became feebly swollen, and I was in a serious condition generally. I used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and it cured me. My blood is in fine condition. I believe it had not been for Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy I would have died. Its value is priceless."

MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY

MR. POE WRITES FROM ASIA ON TEMPERANCE.

Mr. Clarence H. Poe, who is now traveling in Asia, writes to The Progressive Farmer, suggesting some things he would like to see the legislature do. On the subject of temperance, he says:

"May I not urge that there should be no let-up in our determination to minimize the whiskey evil in North Carolina? Fiercer and stronger year by year must grow the struggle for the mastery among the peoples of the earth, and other things being equal, the prize of victory must go sooner or later to those who have kept their bodies strongest, freest from every enervating influence, and their brains clearest, least befogged by any dulling agency. Awakening China, over here, realizing this, has set herself first of all, to free her people from the ancient curse of opium—the form of intemperance to which they have been addicted—and already she has achieved results that have amazed the world. Shall it be said that the yellow man in China is able to overcome influences that the white man in the South is unable to cope with?"

"I make my appeal, be it understood, on no sentimental grounds. The fact stands out unshaken that if North Carolina is to become the great State I long to see her become, her people must have trained minds, strong bodies, and brains un-befogged by dissipation. Let us see to it that the Japanese shall not beat us in providing educational opportunities for the rising generations and at the same time let us see to it that the Chinese shall not beat us in fighting the influences that sap the strength and weaken the vitality of peoples."

Work For the Legislature.

We can not forbear calling attention here to one much needed measure of practical, constructive legislation: better laws against the starting of forest fires, and the establishment of a State forest fire-warden system. We have called attention before to the necessity of having a body of men whose business and duty it is to prevent and put out forest fires. In no other way can the wanton destruction of the forests be prevented. The experience of States where these wardens have been tried is the best proof of their value; and as we have said before, to leave the forests unprotected simply because it will cost a little to pay men to look after them, is not economy, but short-sighted and ruinous parsimony. The forests of the State are one of its greatest resources, and they must be taken care of. Few finer opportunities for public service, in our opinion, are open to the members of the Legislature, and we confidently expect to see them take action. Farmers everywhere should insist that they do. The State Forester, Mr. J. S. Holmes, has drafted a bill which will be presented, and which legislators can study with profit. To such a measure we can not see how any man claiming to be a "conservationist" can object.—The Progressive Farmer.

Better Roads the Slogan.

For new roads and more of them, is the slogan of the new national association to further the cause of highway improvement, which was organized recently in Washington, and which has begun its work in a very systematic way to correlate and coordinate the effort of all existing agencies for highway improvement.

The new organization has the best wishes of the American citizenship. Its slogan is a good one, and that it will live up to it is the universal hope. As the newly organized American Association for Highway Improvement points out, "Improved roads will bring better schools and greater attendance, better health and quicker medical attention, better farms and more cultivated land, better crops and cheaper transportation, better economic conditions and more producers, better social conditions and less isolation, better church attendance and better citizens.—Greenville (S. C.) Piedmont.

NEWS AND VIEWS.

The death last week of Senator Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, removes from public life a man who has been a prominent figure in national politics for the past two decades. He was Secretary of War in the Cabinet of President Benjamin Harrison, and entered the United States Senate in 1895. He was 69 years old and was a millionaire. The present legislature of West Virginia is Democratic. It will choose a successor to Senator Scott for the full term of six years. It will also select a Senator to fill the unexpired term of Senator Elkins. So West Virginia will have two Democratic Senators for the next two years at least.

Judge Neff, who has just concluded a term of Court at Cleveland, Ohio, granted 428 decrees for divorce during the term. This is for only one County—Cuyahoga. Judge Neff says that the high prices, small incomes, and the desire to keep up appearances and satisfy social ambition, are in a large measure responsible for the increased number of divorces. Many are the evils that are laid at the door of High Prices.

Atlee Pomerene will be the new Senator from Ohio, having been chosen for the term of six years, beginning March 4th next. He was elected Lieutenant-Governor last November and assumed his office Monday which he will hold until March 4th. He has never held office before and jumps from almost political obscurity to a seat in the United States Senate. He is 47 years old and was educated at Princeton University. He will succeed Senator Charles Dick.

For the first time in thirty years Maine has a Democratic Governor and the General Assembly which convened last week is Democratic in both branches for the first time in over half a century. The Legislature has named Charles F. Johnson to succeed Eugene Hale in the United States Senate. Mr. Johnson will be the first Democrat to represent Maine in the Senate since 1847. Mr. Johnson is a prominent citizen of the Pine Tree State and has been the unsuccessful nominee of his party twice for Governor—in 1892 and again in 1894.

A few months ago Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Connecticut, was retired from the bench on account of having reached the age limit. Though he is about seventy-five years old, the Democrats of his State thought that they saw in him a winner and named him as their candidate for Governor. He was successful at the polls and was last week inaugurated as Chief Executive of the Nutmeg State. He is the first Democrat to get to the Governor's chair in 18 years.

The question of state-wide prohibition is one of the liveliest questions before the public to-day. In Texas a bill will be passed by the present Legislature submitting the question to a vote of the people. In Arkansas the question is in the very forefront and a bill will soon be introduced in the Legislature to submit the issue to a vote of the people. In Alabama where they already have state-wide prohibition, an effort will be made to return to the old local option plan. Governor-elect O'Neal, who will be inaugurated next Monday, will recommend the latter policy, this being the platform upon which he was elected.

A Good Woman Gone.

Mrs. Sallie A. Eason departed this life about two o'clock on the morning of January 4, 1911. She was the oldest daughter of the late Josiah and Jane Barnes. She was born in Wilders township, Johnston County, near Archer, December 9, 1847, making her stay on earth 64 years and 29 days. She was married January 8, 1880, to William Bryant Eason. To this union was born one son, formerly of Richmond, Va., but who was with his mother several weeks before her death. Mrs. Eason united herself with the Primitive Baptist church at Salem about the date, 1888, and was a regular attendant so long as her health would admit. Mrs. Eason was a very delicate woman and a great sufferer for many years; although she bore her sufferings with great fortitude and kept up until about six months ago, when taken with the dreadful disease, dropsy. Everything was done that kind friends, the best physician and a loving husband and son could do to stay the cold hand of death, but the Lord's appointed time had come, and none could stay the mighty hand of death. Mrs. Eason was of a gentle and mild disposition. To know her, was to love her. Although feeble, she was always alert to look after the comforts of those about her. She loved her church and always attended as long as health would permit.

Truly a good woman is gone, but the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord. Mrs. Eason leaves, besides a husband and son, one sister, Mrs. R. H. Green, and two brothers, Mr. A. M. Barnes and ex-Representative J. W. Barnes, and a host of sorrowing relatives and friends to mourn their loss, which is her eternal gain.

Her remains were laid to rest at her home on the evening of January 5, in the presence of a large crowd. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved. Peace to her ashes.

1911 TO BE FULL OF TRAGEDY.

Mme. de Thebes, French Prophetess, Predicts Many Evils.

Paris, Jan. 7.—Mme. de Thebes has published her annual prophecies, and the events she foretells for 1911 are full of tragedy.

France is to suffer from fire, blood, cyclones, and possibly volcanic eruptions in the Pyrenees. Great bankers are to be ruined in a commercial catastrophe, and two stage beauties will die under tragic circumstances.

The prophetess foresees revolt in India, and the death of crowned heads in Germany and Austria. The fate of Russia is to be so terrible that, rather than say what she has read in the book of destiny, Mme. Thebes prefers to hope that she has been mistaken.
