JOHNSTON TO HOLD COURT FIVE WEEKS

Judge Lyon Is Presiding Over Special Civil Term; Over 250 Cases On Docket

JURORS FOR DEC TERM

The opening session of what will be five consecutive weeks of Court in Johnston County was held yesterday morning with Judge C. C. Lyon, of Elizabethtown, presiding. Miss Kate Wade, of Goldsboro, is the court stenographer. The first three weeks is a special term of Civil Court arranged sometime ago to clear a much congested docket. Two hundred twenty-three cases are set for trial by jury, and between fifty and sixty other cases will be disposed of by the court without jury trial.

This special term will run up to the regular two weeks term of December Court which will convene on December 8. This court is a mixed term and will include both criminal and civil cases.

At the last regular meeting of the County Commissioners the following persons were named as jurors for the December Criminal Court beginning December 15:

First Week

J. W. Barnes, Hannibal Godwin, W. D. Tomlinson, P. E. Whitehead, T. F. White, T. H. Penny, Henry Morgan, H. S. Wall, D. N. Holt, J. C. Cooper, Rufus Johnson, Jas. F. Wellons, E. W. O'Neal, W. D. Avera, Stephen Westbrook, Edward Crocker, E. V. Deans, J. F. Smith, A. E. Surles, J. T. Balance, Jas. H. Watson, J. A. Todd, E. F. Strickland, C. T. Hill, Harley Peterson, Boaker D. Creech, Albert Whitley, C. G. Holt, R. L. Edgerton, C. R. Braswell, Sr., H. M. Cox, William Keen, D. L. Peacock, W. T. Barefoot, W. J. Daughtery, and Thomas Barber.

Second Week

Robert A. Sanders, W. B. Wall, Harvey D. Godwin, Arthur Johnson, Charlie Wood, D. M. Green, P. B. W. Haywood Woodard, John E. Creech, D. A. Austin, S. P. Parker, Andrew Johnson, C. C. Eason, J. Y. Baker, Jas. W. Braswell, and M. G. Gower.

Johnston Should Be Represented

At a regular meeting of the Executive committee of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, Monday afternoon, it was decided to make definite plans for having an exhibit at the Southern Exposition to be held in New York January 19-31st for the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. A plan has been worked out whereby every town that comes in on this project will be given individual recognition and specific publicity. Just how much space will be purchased will not be determined until a survey of the territory shall have been made.

With the many advantages that Eastern Carolina has to offer, a real creditable exhibit can be gotten up with the proper support from the other towns of Eastern Carolina. It is conservatively estimated that there will be at least 200,000 people from all the country who will visit Exposition Hall, during the two weeks. With a graphic interpretation of the resources of Eastern Carolina, no section will receive more favorable consideration, than will the Eastern part of this state. Secretary Bartlett, with the help of the local Secretaries, will make a whirl wind campaign to determine just how much space can be used for this big show. The Kinston Chamber of Commerce Directors have already gone on record, endorsing the sectional exhibit, under the auspices of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. Secretary W. T. Kyser of the Kinston Chamber of Commerce, is also Secretary of the North Carolina committee of the big Exposition, and will aid in putting a creditable exhibit there for this section. Any town or individual interested, may get the full facts by either communicating with the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce or the Kinston Chamber of Commerce.

PRISONER TRIES TO MAKE ESCAPE

Fleeing Man Is Deterred By Attacking Bull Dog And Officers Nab Him

NOW OUT ON BAIL

A prisoner, deputy sheriff, a bulldog, spectators—these furnished a thrilling moment on Friday afternoon when Pete Hockaday, a prisoner in the sheriff's office jumped through a window, Deputy Sheriff Wellons catching at him as he made his escape, and a bull dog in the back lot of Mr. John Coates hitting the fleeing defendant in the presence of rapidly assembling spectators. The facts are that Pete Hockaday, charged with carrying a pistol and Coy Keen, Julius Stanley, charged with selling stolen tobacco on the Smithfield market and Billap Barbour charged with having skipped bond in a previous case, were sojourning in the sheriff's office. Mr. Wellons was the only officer on duty for a few minutes and Hockaday seeing a chance to make his escape jumped from the window to the paved driveway, dashing down Second street and into the yard of Mr. John Coates. A big bull dog belonging to Mr. R. S. Smith caused him to decide to leap another fence into the garden at the rear of Mrs. Alice Cole's residence, and the officers then took him in charge. Hockaday is now out under a $500 bond for his appearance in court, but the other three are lodged in jail here.

MISS SHAFER ADDRESSES KENLY WOMAN'S CLUB

Kenly, Nov. 14.—This afternoon at the Baptist church, Miss Blanche Shaffer, dean of the home economics department of North Carolina College for Women, delighted the members of the Woman's Club with a most helpful address on "Nutrition, or Food in its Relation to Health."

Among other things she stated that practically two-thirds of our illnesses is caused by improper food; that colds are unnecessary if one has a well-balanced diet and takes the proper care of the body. She discussed the value of proteins, minerals and vitamins in the diet, and listed foods in which these are found. She emphasized the necessity of milk, fruits and vegetables and gave suggestions for making menus. These included children and school lunches.

Earlier in the afternoon she addressed the girls of the high school on the different phases of homemaking: food, clothing and shelter. Under the subject of clothing she stated that according to a test given the college girls, it had been found that those who had taken home economics were able to dress better on less money than those who had not had the advantage of this course.

Miss Shaffer was secured through the efforts of Miss Debbie Bailey, and came under the auspices of the home economics department of the Woman's Club, Mrs. L. C. Wilkinson, chairman.

Entre Nous Club Entertains

Benson, Nov. 13.—The Entre Nous Club entertained at a beautiful Tea Monday evening from eight until nine o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Parlia Hudson on Main street in honor of the faculty of the Benson high school. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cannady greeted the guests at the door. Mrs. J. W. Parrish introduced the guests to the receiving line which was formed in the living room. In the receiving line the officers of the club and their husbands: Mr. and Mrs. Parlia Hudson, Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Turlington, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Starling and the faculty of the Benson school.

The receiving room was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums, yellow roses and yellow candles. Receiving at the punch bowl were: Dr. and Mrs. S. P. J. Lee. Serving punch were: Mrs. C. C. Wheeler and Mrs. J. F. Woodall. Receiving at the dining room were: Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Parker, Jr. Serving the ice courses were: Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Flowers and Mrs. R. L. Bryant. The table was covered with a beautiful cloth and a silver basket with yellow

To Conduct Cooking School

MISS KAREN FLADOES

Cooking School To Be Conducted Here Next Week

Miss Fladoes Courses Under Auspices Woman's Club; All Ladies and Girls Invited

WILL BE HELD AT SCHOOL

Women of Smithfield and Johnston county are invited to attend the Gold Medal Cooking School which is to be held in the auditorium of the Smithfield High School, Nov. 24-25-26. This school will be conducted by Miss Karen Fladoes of the Gold Medal Service Department of Washburn Crosby Company, millers of Gold Medal Flour. The classes will begin at three o'clock each afternoon. There will be no admission charged, and it is hoped that the women of the towns and surrounding country will attend this school.

The Gold Medal Cooking schools are famous in home economics circles for the quality of instruction given them as well as the interest they arouse in all communities. This is the same school which was recently put on in Raleigh under the auspices of The News & Observer. In the school to be held in Smithfield, the subjects to be dealt with will include unusual desserts, salads, cakes, icing, teas and party suggestions.

Miss Fladoes, who will personally direct the school, is a graduate of Stout Institute and has had post-graduate work at Columbia University, measuring in Home economics in both colleges. For several years she has been engaged in conducting schools and giving lectures and demonstrations in the Middle West. She has a thorough knowledge of her subject and a charming personality as well, which makes her a host of friends in every city she conducts these classes.

All of the work will be of an extremely practical nature. At the Gold Medal schools nothing is done or demonstrated which the average woman could not carry out in her own home. Throughout, Miss Fladoes emphasizes the need of efficiency in the kitchen as much as in the factory or office, and the fact that there are right chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece. There were yellow candles in silver holders. The house was lovely with its Hallowe'en decorations, autumn flowers and candles. The Hallowe'en colors were carried out in the ice courses.

There were ninety-eight invited guests.

Community Club Is Started Smith's School

Friday night the people of Smith's school section took a forward step when they organized a community club which includes men, women, boys and girls. A large crowd gathered at the school house and Miss Emily Smith was chairman of the meeting. She turned the first few minutes of the program over to the teachers who called on some of the boys and girls for songs and recitations. Miss Minnie Lee Garrison, County Home Agent then took charge, and officers of the club were elected. Mrs. Marshall Lassiter was chosen president; Mr. Walter Hobbs, vice-president; Miss Emily Smith, secretary-treasurer. The teachers of the school, Misses Thelma Flowers and Lucy Johnson, were named as additional members of the executive committee.

A program of work will be outlined at an early date and it is the purpose to have two meetings a month. There will be one general meeting at which matters pertaining to the community will be discussed and one meeting a month is planned with the teachers of the school to talk particularly of school affairs. At present, interest centers around the school and already some very good work has been done. Before the opening of school, patrons and friends met and cleaned thoroughly the school building and the grounds. Plans are underway to finish ceiling the school house and to paint it. At the meeting Friday night $42.50 was raised toward painting the building. The county is cooperating in making the needed improvements.

After the business was disposed of Friday night a number of contests and stunts were engaged in, and the occasion took a social turn. String music added to the enjoyment of the evening.

and wrong ways of doing things and that the right is always much easier. Recipes covering the preparation of the dishes demonstrated as well as many others will be given away at each class.

The women of the community are invited not only to attend these schools but to bring their questions and culinary problems to Miss Fladoes. After each class she conducts an informal session during which delights in meeting her audience personally and talking over their household worries with them.

COLORED WOMAN HURT BY AUTO SAT. NIGHT

Millie Sanders, colored, is in the Smithfield Memorial Hospital critically ill as the result of an automobile accident which occurred on the streets here Saturday night. About seven o'clock, as Mr. Raymond Stephenson was driving toward the station, the colored woman stepped out from behind a car which he was passing, and was run over. Mr. Stephenson was driving slowly and the accident was said to be unavoidable.

The woman was carried to the hospital, where it was found that her skull was fractured. At last report she was still unconscious.

Eight Months Old Baby Is Burned

Gracey Harris, 8-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Harris of O'Neal township, near Atkinson's Mill was fatally burned Tuesday morning.

The child was in a room alone with an open fire and in some manner unknown its clothing caught fire. With her clothes blazing furiously, the little girl crawled to the door where she was found, and the fire extinguished. Dr. George Vick, of Selma, was called, but the baby died before he reached the home.—The Johnstonian.

WILSON'S MILLS NEWS

(Crowded out last issue)

Wilson's Mills, Nov. 12.—Miss Maggie Parrish, of Selma, spent the week end here.

Misses Elizabeth and Lucy Queen Uzzle, of Princeton, were visitors here on Saturday and Sunday.

Messrs G. C. Uzzle, Jim Uzzle and G. C. Uzzle, Jr., spent several days in Rockingham last week.

Mr. Si Bailey, of Dunn, was a guest of relatives here on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Lamb, of Wake Forest, filled his appointment at the Baptist church on Sunday.

Friends and relatives of Mr. J. T. Holt, who is in Rex Hospital, Raleigh, are pleased to note his improvement and recovery.

Mr. C. R. Tomlinson, who has been ill at his home here, is better.

Those who have been attending the recent plays in Raleigh are: Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Uzzle, Misses Sallie Wilson, Evelyn Wilson, Margaret Keshler, Janie Barnes, Messrs. D. O. Uzzle and Jim Uzzle.

Mrs. G. C. Uzzle entertained the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, an organization of the Christian church, at her home on last Tuesday afternoon. A splendid program conducted by Mrs. S. L. Barbour, president, was observed. Mrs. Uzzle served cake and an attractive and delicious gelatine topped with cream.

Miss Evelyn Wilson recently entertained at a Saturday afternoon Bridge party in honor of the faculty of the Wilson's Mills school. Chicken salad hot coffee, mints and almonds were served.

On Friday evening Mrs. Lulu Uzzle entertained at a Bridge party in honor of the teachers of the Wilson's Mills school. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gurley spent the past week end in Princeton.

At the school auditorium on Saturday evening of this week, the Lyceum Bureau will present, The Old Colony Male Trio. The program, the second of the season, promises to be the best of the year. Throw aside the worry of low prices; come out and for once get more than your moneys worth. You will not regret it.

It never pays to overcrowd hens—they need a comfortable house dry and roomy, with plenty of fresh air and sunshine. Plans for buildign such a house may be secured from the State College Extension service at Raleigh.

Tom Tarheel says he is not worrying about Henry Ford and Muscle Shoals as long as he can get nitrogen into his soils so cheaply as by growing legumes.

Because only the strong bee colonies produce the honey, bees need proper care this winter, advises C. L. Sams, specialist in beekeeping for the State College extension division.

M. E. APPOINTMENTS READ SUN. NIGHT

Rev. A. J. Parker Assigned To Smithfield; Rev. D. H Tuttle Goes To Elm City

OTHER CHANGES MADE

For the third time in the history of the North Carolina Conference, the appointments of the preachers were read on Sunday night instead of Monday morning. Bishop Denny, who presided over the conference session in Wilmington, dispatched business in such a manner that this was practically the only item of business left, and consequently the appointments were read at the close of the Sunday night service. Quite a number of people not only in this city but throughout the county will be interested in the location of Rev. D. H. Tuttle, who has served his four years as pastor of Smithfield Centenary church and was due to be moved. Elm City is the fortunate pastor to be led by Mr. Tuttle for another year. Smithfield in turn will be served by Rev. A. J. Parker, who comes here from Gibson. The only exception in the four year rule this year was that of Rev. F. S. Love, who was returned for the fifth year to Wilson.

Two changes only were made in the presiding eldership. Rev. J. H. Shore, who has been presiding elder of the Rockingham district, was returned to the pastorate and will be stationed at Fayetteville. Rev. C. L. Read was made presiding elder in his place. Rev. J. M. Daniel who was presiding elder of the Wilmington district, was assigned to St. Paul's, Goldsboro, and Rev. H. A. Humble was made presiding elder of that district.

The statistical reports presented to the Conference show that a net gain of over 5,000 was made in membership last year, and it was shown also that more money was raised last year, than in 1923.

Below is a list of the appointments for the Raleigh district:

Presiding Elder: M. T. Plyler.
Bailey circuit: E. C. Maness
Benson: J. E. Blalock.
Cary-Apex circuit: W. C. Ball.
Clayton: Marvin Self.
