

Election of Two Widows to Next Congress Indicates New Order for Women in Politics

"Political Widows" Elected to Serve Out the Unexpired Terms of Their Late Husbands.

GO THERE ON MERIT

Three women will sit in the next Congress.

Two of them are "political widows," elected to serve out the unexpired term of their late husbands.

However, sentiment has died in politics—and the woman elected to Congress now—goes there on merit. Such is the political evidence of 1925.

One of the widows is from Massachusetts, the first ever to be sent from the New England states. She is Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of the fifth district. The other is Mrs. Florence Prag Kahn of San Francisco, elected from the fourth California district.

The third member is not a widow, therefore had to go out in an intensive campaign and battle her way to victory. She is Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey—whose husband is alive and in the cooperative business at Jersey City.

While sentiment prompted the candidacy of both Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Kahn, at the deaths of their husbands, both encountered strong opposition to their elections which made the campaigns whirlwind affairs and gave to both the opportunity to prove that they were qualified for seats in congress.

Mrs. Rogers' victory at the recent election was most notable. She first went into a three cornered fight at the primaries for the Republican nomination. She overwhelmingly defeated two strong men candidates. Then into the fight for election against a Democratic opponent, Eugene Noble Foss, three times governor of Massachusetts. She defeated him near 3 votes to 1.

Mrs. Kahn's supporters are quite firm in the belief that she will be a "real" congresswoman. She was forced to make a real fight for election. She made many political speeches and surprised all by her grasp of national questions and the workings of congress. Sentiment was forgotten and she rolled up votes on merit—enough to win handsomely.

It is true that of the seven women elected to congress since the inauguration of equal right, not one in any way distinguished herself. However, woman has shown herself an apt pupil and recent elections indicate that she has arrived—to make good.

The seven women elected to congress:
Alice Robertson—Oklahoma—regularly elected.
Jeanette Rankin—Montana—regularly elected.
Winifred Mason Huck—Illinois—father's term.
Mae Nolan, California—husband's term.
Mary T. Norton, New Jersey—regularly elected.
Florence Prag Kahn, California—husband's term.
Edith Nourse Rogers, Massachusetts—husband's term.

Snow Babies!

The late Admiral Peary's daughter, now Mrs. Marie Stafford was at the pier in Wiscasset, Maine, to bid Captain MacMillan "Godspeed" in his expedition to the pole. She was born "farthest north of any white child" and was called the "Snow Baby." Below Kenneth Rawson, 15, of Chicago, son of a millionaire, who was permitted to sail with MacMillan, "providing he took his regular turn at work and asked no favors."

GOVERNOR'S DAY AT FORT BRAGG

Fort Bragg, July 13.—Governor Angus McLean, of North Carolina, will be the guest of honor here on Wednesday July 15th. This date has been set aside as Governor's Day and the authorities have prepared a number of interesting features for both the visitors and residents of the post. Governor McLean is expected to arrive here at 10:30 a. m and will be escorted about the garrison by Brig. Gen. A. J. Bowley, the Post Commander. The Governor plans to remain here for the entire day.

The morning will be taken up by inspection of the various activities of the trainees of the local Reserve Officers Training Corps and the Citizen's Military Training Camp. Near the entrance to the Reservation he will witness a demonstration by Engineer students of the R. O. T. C. in laying a pontoon bridge. Upon entering the post proper, the State executive will be greeted by the customary salute of 17 guns fired by a battery of French 75's. His itinerary then calls for a trip through the reservation where the distinguished guest and his party will view firing by the R. O. T. C. artillery students. Returning to the garrison area, a luncheon will be served at the Fort Bragg Officer's Club.

One of the most interesting features of the Governor's visit will be a demonstration life saving at McFayden's Pond. Hundreds of C. M. T. C. students are receiving daily instruction in swimming and life saving under the auspices of the Red Cross. This will be staged in the early afternoon and will be followed by a tent pitching exhibition by the R. O. T. C. and massed physical drill by the C. M. T. C. students. The Governor will then repair to the parade grounds and witness a formal review of the C. M. T. C. which will be conducted by selected students acting in the capacity of officers.

At the conclusion of this maneuver all present will join with the trainees in massing about the speakers' platform to hear an address by Governor McLean.

The public are invited to visit Fort Bragg on Governor's Day, but this occasion is not to be confused with visitors Day which falls on July 29th.

A BOLL WEEVIL REMEDY

J. G. Dixon, of Benson, informs the Eastern News that J. W. Stephenson, of Smithfield, had quite a profitable experience last year on his cotton farm near Smithfield. Mr. Stephenson used a tin wash tub and filled it about one-third full of water, then put one-half gallon of kerosene oil on the water. He put the tub in the field and hung a lighted lantern over the tub. The light attracted the weevils and when they lighted on the oily water, the kerosene seemed to mean death to these pests as well as to other insects. Mr. Dixon informs us that Mr. Stephenson killed all the weevils in his field with this process, and thinks that other farmers will find this method very cheap and easy to use. He says if the weevils are very bad it will probably take one tub to the acre.—Eastern News.
