CLUB GIRL TELLS OF SHORT COURSE AT RALEIGH

(By ROBERTA PENNY)

You should attend the next course. On Monday, July 6, 1925, the girls and boys Short Course was opened to the club girls and boys at State College, Raleigh, with an enrollment of about two hundred and sixty-four. There were two hundred girls and sixty-four boys.

All the courses, under the direction of Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, who is at the head of the Home Demonstration work in North Carolina, were planned to give the most help to those who were fortunate enough to take them.

Now my pleasure comes in. On Tuesday afternoon we went to the gymnasium room and played lots of games. After the games we went in bathing and the beauty part about bathing there is that there were no boys in, so we girls sure did have a fine time. After we came out of the pool, we went to supper. Then we went out on the campus at seventy-third and listened to the State College band until eight o'clock. Then we went to the movies. We went over town and then back to the campus and the band made music for us again. Miss Wallace took us to the show every night, except Friday when the different counties pulled off stunts. We sure did have some fun. The other counties thought they could beat old Johnston, but she won out second just the same.

We surely hope Johnston county will get awake by next year and get more than eight girls up to the Short Course.

In the cooking class taught by Miss Kelley, Mrs. McKimmon as assistant, and Miss Simpson, attention was paid to planning and cooking well balanced meals.

Each day one group was asked to cook a meal under the direction of Mrs. McKimmon; another directed by Miss Simpson taught us how to arrange the table and acted as hostess, with invited guests, and other members of the family. This course was very helpful especially to those who needed help in table arrangement and serving.

House Party at Holt Lake.
