Funeral services were conducted in Oakwood cemetery Sunday afternoon by Rev. H. I. Glass, pastor of Central Methodist church, of which Mrs. Fulcher was a member for many years. Mr. Warren E. Fulcher has established a studio in this city and has a number of friends who extend sympathy in his sorrow.

CHATTERBOX CLUB HAS DELIGHTFUL MEETING
Selma, Oct. 2.—The members of the Chatterbox Club were entertained by Mrs. W. B. Johnson and Mrs. J. W. Short at the lovely colonial home of Mrs. Short on Railroad street last Wednesday evening. The folding doors between the living room, library and dining room were thrown open and the rooms appropriately decorated with golden rod and late summer flowers.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Short and directed to the punch bowl where Mrs. Johnson presided. The bowl was decorated with purple grapes and their leaves.

After roll call and reading of the minutes the chairman of the book committee, Mrs. E. V. Woodard, was called on for a report. She stated that the new books had come and would be distributed to the members. Slips of paper decorated with hand painted purple iris, were passed to each guest and they were asked to draw their home. Some talent was displayed but more grotesque imitations, which caused much laughter. Mrs. E. O. Wood was given the prize for the best drawing. The next contest consisted of thirty misspelled words which when rearranged properly spelled the names of articles of furniture for a home. In this the first prize went to Mrs. William Creech and the consolation to Mrs. J. T. Short of Fremont.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where their places were designated by attractive place cards. A delicious menu was served consisting of daisy salad, sandwiches, saltines, pickles and hot coffee with whipped cream. Cake and cream followed this course. The favors were purple iris and clusters of flower-like candies. A color note of purple and gold was carried out in the refreshments as well as the dining room decorations. Every member of the club was present and the visitors were Mrs. F. T. Wadden, Mrs. William Creech, of Selma; Miss Helen Waters, of Kokomo, Ind.; and Mrs. J. I. Short of Fremont.

Unique Collection of Money

Mr. T. R. Hood has a unique collection of money, unique particularly for its age. A silver half dollar made in 1805 is the oldest piece in his collection. This shows only thirteen stars, representing the 13 colonies. Lettering on the edge of the coin is almost worn smooth. He has another silver fifty cents, made in 1824, a couple of silver quarters and several old "coppers." Perhaps the most interesting money in the lot are four paper United States bank notes. Two of these are ten-cent bank notes, two are fifteen cent bills, and one is a fifty-cent bill. They were known in the old days as "shin plasters." The coloring and design in general are somewhat like paper money now in use. The size, however, varies considerably. The ten and fifteen cent bills measure about one and a half by two and a half inches, while the fifty-cent note is about one and a half by three inches. Some of the older citizens who have seen the collection well remember when similar coins were in general circulation after the war. The money in the collection is now worth face value, but Mr. Hood is of the opinion that as a curiosity it is worth considerably more than face value. He is keeping it as a relic to be handed down to his children and grandchildren.

CROSSMORE SCHOOL ASKS FOR OLD CLOTHES

Crossmore School, Inc., an accredited high school located in Avery county, has been a great blessing to the mountain girls and boys of North Carolina. This school has made rapid progress in the past few years, most of the money coming from the sale of old clothes which have been given the school by friends and well wishers from every section of the state. The following letter from Mrs. Mary M. Sloop, business manager, explains the present needs of the school:

"Dear Editor:
"Again may we ask that you donate space in your columns for the following:

"Our second hand clothes sale has kept up better this summer than any previous summer and we feel that it is largely due to the space which the newspapers of our State so kindly gave us in June but I fear that our people are forgetting us once more and so we are asking that you remind them once more to send us clothes.

"We are simply overwhelmed with boarding pupils this term and are having to buy double decker beds in order to house them. We must provide work for each of these boarders for we take only those who need to be self supporting. It all depends upon the quantity and quality of clothes which you send us this winter, and we urge you to send all you possibly can and as much as you possibly can.

"Also will you appeal through your columns for Auto Knitters which were used during the war by the Red Cross and others to knit for the soldiers? We have not the money with which to buy these machines, but if they can be given to us, each one will make it possible for a boy or girl to become self supporting.

"Please act promptly for our need is very urgent.
"Crossmore, N. C."

Bridgers-Talton

Mr. Alston Bridgers and Miss Neta Talton, both of Princeton, were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage Saturday afternoon about three o'clock. Rev. A. J. Parker, pastor of Centenary Methodist church, performed the ceremony. Friends of these young people join in wishing them a long and happy life.

Narron-Crocker

Mr. Boney Narron and Miss Lida Crocker, both of Kenly, were married at the court house here Saturday afternoon about five o'clock. Mr. D. T. Luncford, J. P. performed the ceremony. The groom was eighteen years of age and the bride fourteen, and a special license was issued under Chapter 73 Laws 1923. Friends of these young couple wish them a happy and prosperous life.

GROND LETTER FIGURE IN TRIAL

simply tried to let you know the relation that had existed between your daughter and myself. Realizing as I do just her position I think it nothing but right and just to her and your family for me to clear my skirts as a man, by making this my last effort to inform you of our relations and leave the matter with you, I am honest in coming to you, and all my statements are true from my heart, I will feel better knowing that I have been honest with you.
"There is no hatred or malice at all on my part toward you or any of the family, but when I see Libbut's future and your home at stake it does not make me mad when you all treat me with contempt, but I have a feeling of pity knowing what might happen if the facts were uncovered, it is for your family I am writing this.

"I haven't any hard feelings toward you for this, but still you do not realize what you have done to her. I am only pleading for her sake, what would she feel like marrying some one after we have had relations as man and wife for over a year, she would be miserable all her life as she is now. I know she is putting up a bold front, but down in her heart she does not know what to do, and you need not be surprised at what she might do.

"It is for your sake that I am giving the facts in the case. If we had not done what we have through devoted love for each other, I would have dropped the matter when she told me, but I think enough of the family to save it from exposure.

"In your estimation I know what you think of me but it was not all together my fault, 'Bill I love you enough to do anything and we are going to get married soon.' 'Do you think I would do this if I did not love you Bill,' As I see it we have committed no sin except to society.

"You did not show her the first letter I wrote you. I doubt if you had that heart to heart talk with her. I would be glad to know that the weight on her heart was lifted, you have no idea what she is going through with, trying to please you.

"It is very evident to me during my last visit to town that the whole family felt me, still at the same time I held sorry for them, they not knowing the facts.

"I hope you take this in the same spirit in which it is written.

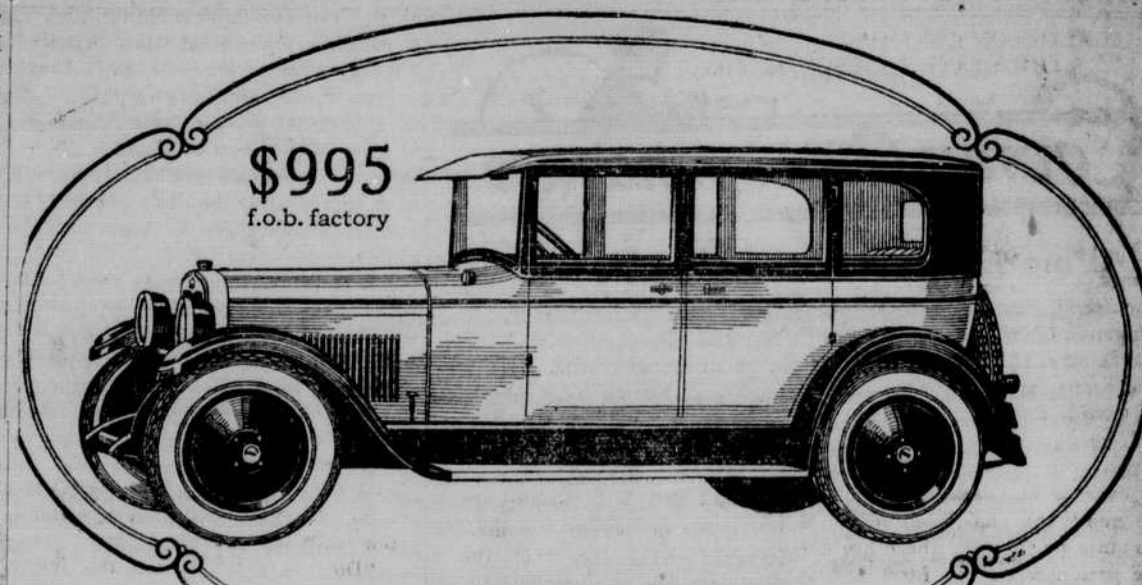

"Sincerely,
BILL ORMOND."
