A Surprise Birthday Party
Last Saturday, October 17, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Williams gave a surprise party at their home at Wilson's Mills in honor of their daughter, Miss Ione Williams, the occasion being her birthday. She was very much surprised when she walked in and saw the table loaded with ice cream and cake, the sixteen candles burning and all the presents lying beside the cake.

The following were present: Miss Margaret and Thelma Godwin, Miss Foy Williams, Messrs. Howard Godwin and Leon Williams of Sandy Ridge; Miss Rose Williams of Rich Square; Messrs. Will Wilder and Glenn Woodall, of Powhatan; Ralph Williams, of Selma; Braxton, Lonnie and Fred Johnson, Lee Jones, and Poley Ellis of Clayton; David Taylor, Jesse P. Johnston, Gilbert Johnston and Miss Minnie Johnson and Miss Irene Gower of Smithfield. After supper the young people played until the guests departed, wishing Miss Williams many more happy birthdays.

ONE PRESENT.
To Organize Extension Course "North Carolina, Economic and Social," is the subject of an extension course to be taught here by Prof. S. H. Hobbs, of the State University, during the next sixteen weeks. Fifteen members of the class, the minimum required, have been signed up and others are expected to join.

Mr. R. M. Grummam, of Chapel Hill, representing the University Extension Division, was in the city Wednesday in the interest of the course. Teachers from the Smithfield, Selma, and Wilson's Mills schools have enrolled. The course is open not only to teachers but anyone interested in State affairs.

The class will meet each Friday night in the commissioners room at the court house at seven o'clock.

A similar class has been organized at Four Oaks with a hundred per cent of the school faculty enrolled. This class will meet each Friday afternoon until the course is completed.

Large Number See Picture
The attendance at the Victory theatre during the first of the week when "The Ten Commandments" was shown, was good. The picture was well worth seeing, both from a scenic standpoint and from the lesson taught.

A BIT OF THE WORLD
Fort Moultrie, S. C., Oct. 21.—Joseph A. Anderson, brother of James Anderson Route No. 1, Smithfield, N. C., who enlisted here in September for the Field Artillery in Hawaii, has just left this post for Fort Monroe, Va., where he will embark for his new station in the islands. Private Anderson will see quite a bit of the world in the next few months, going to his new home in the land of the pineapple and Ukelele by way of Fort Monroe, the Panama Canal, San Francisco and a two weeks trip across the Pacific.

LYCEUM NUMBER TO BE AT WILSON'S MILLS

BENSON M. E. CHURCH WILL BE DEDICATED SOON
Benson, Oct. 15.—Arrangements are practically completed for the dedication of the Methodist church November 8th at 11 o'clock. Bishop Collins Denny of Richmond, Va., will preach the dedicatory sermon. Mrs. E. M. Hall of Zebulon will be the soloist. Extensive improvements have been made recently in beautifying the interior of the church and grounds. The church is a beautiful structure.

EVERY ADULT SAMOAN CAN READ AND WRITE
Illiteracy does not exist in American Samoa. The official Government languages of American Samoa are English and Samoan. Every adult Samoan can read and write in one of those languages. The public schools in American Samoa are conducted in English and are rapidly adding to the number of English speaking children and adults in Samoa.

MINORITY
At the hearing yesterday creditors were represented by Murray Allen and Willis Smith, of Raleigh, and R. D. Cronley, Jr., of Wilmington, while the directors were represented by James H. Pou, of Raleigh; E. S. Abell, of Smithfield; and E. D. Broadhurst of Greensboro.

The directors of the company are J. J. Broadhurst, F. K. Broadhurst, W. H. Austin, B. B. Adams, and W. D. Avera, J. H. B. Tomlinson, a sixth director, has died since the institution of the bankruptcy proceedings.

The trial of Tom Oakley presented features both comic and pathetic. This defendant is an 84-year-old Confederate veteran. He came a few weeks ago from Durham and has been engaged in cotton picking on some of the farms near Clayton. It was on one of the farms that he got to dispensing whiskey to a few of his thirsty friends. He was arrested on the trial day by Chief B. A. Smith. When placed on trial the old man was without counsel but was soon found to be equal to the best of solicitors in pleading his own case. He expressed great regret in having violated the law and his appeal for leniency was pathetic. He was discharged upon payment of cost and the promise that he would beat a hasty retreat back to Durham. He was able to pay the cost of $25.
