County Homes Returns Thanks. We wish to thank the various clubs and missionary societies for their very generous gifts to the home recently. We are gratified to know that the good people of the county are so much interested as to remember us in this respect.

We especially want to mention Miss Mattie Pou and Mrs. D. J. Thurston who were so kindly instrumental in getting the gifts prepared for us. We all wish to thank every one who contributed anything in this capacity.

MR. & MRS. HINTON AND INMATES. A Birthday Dinner. Smithfield, Route 2, Jan. 5.—Mrs. N. C. Massengill's children gave her a surprise birthday dinner on the third Sunday in December. She went to church and did not know anything about the plans. When she returned her oldest son and daughter met her at the car to go with her to the house.

All had much fun because mother did not know about the dinner. A long table was arranged in the yard and the good things to eat and the presents were put upon it soon after she had come from church. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Polard and family and Rev. Jim Moore and family came and she was surprised again because they knew it and she did not. All thoroughly enjoyed the day.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Howell and family, of Aycock's school section; Mr. and Mrs. Pate Woodard and children, of Holt's Mill; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Massengill and little son, Edgar, of Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Polard and family, of near Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moore and family, of Clayton; Mr. and Mrs. Kaison and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Bridges, of Goldsboro; Miss Lela Denning and Miss Magalene Price, of Pine Level; Miss Mildred Graham and Joe Eason, of this section.

ONE PRESENT. After all the fun, organizing an Alumni Association was discussed. Selma high school has always been noted for its fine spirit. This alumni organization purposes to bring the past and present graduating classes together to arouse and preserve this good spirit. It will mean the meeting of old classmates, finding what progress each has made during the years of separation and renewing old friendships.

The following were made representatives of the former classes: Miriam Brietz, class of '23; John Ellis, class of '23; Mabel Nordan, class of '24; Mrs. L. C. Richardson, class of '25; Mary Evelyn Parker, class of '26; Ralph Woodard, class of '27, together with the members of that class, and Sam Hood, class of '28, and Hazel Brown, high school representative.

The following officers were elected: president, Mary Parker; vice-president, Miriam Brietz; acting secretary, Velma Taltan; assistant secretary, Mabel Oliver; treasurer, John Ellis, and class reporter, Mary George.

Entertains at Buffet Luncheon. Thursday of last week, one of the prettiest social functions of the Christmas season was given by Mrs. J. J. Broadhurst, when she entertained a number of friends at a buffet luncheon at her attractive home on Oakland Heights honoring her nieces of Goldsboro. Blooming plants, red candles in silver holders, and Christmas greens carried out an effective color scheme of red and green. The place cards were particularly attractive these being miniature lighthouses with tiny red candles which the guests lighted.

A delicious menu in three courses was served as follows: oyster cocktail, moulded vegetable salad, baked ham with dressing, cheese straws, olives, pickles, crackers, beaten biscuit; parfait and fruit cake. Mints and salted nuts were also served.

Those enjoying this happy occasion were Mrs. W. E. Stroud, Mrs. Paul Borden, Mrs. Murray Borden, Mrs. F. K. Borden, Jr., Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee, Mrs. A. H. Edgerton, Miss Eunice Borden, Miss Rachel Borden, Mrs. Frank Daniels, Miss Rowena Borden, Miss Virginia Borden, Mrs. Ernest Graham, Mrs. E. B. Borden, Sr., Miss Gertrude Weil, Mrs. Eugene Hines, and Miss Martha Lee Borden, of Goldsboro; Mrs. W. M. Sanders, Sr., Mrs. W. M. Sanders, Jr., Mrs. F. K. Broadhurst, Mrs. A. H. Rose, Mrs. Roger Smith, Mrs. W. D. Hood, Mrs. H. B. Marrow, Mrs. H. C. Hood, Mrs. H. P. Stevens, Mrs. R. R. Holt, Mrs. N. C. Shepard, Mrs. H. L. Skinner, Mrs. Leon Stevens, Mrs. Rye Woodall, Mrs. T. S. Ragsdale, Jr., and Mrs. Chas. Broadhurst.

Fitzgerald. PINE LEVEL, Route 1, Jan. 5.—Little Miss Millie Lee Strickland, of Pine Level, spent a few days with her cousin, Miss Ethel Thompson, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Blackman, of near Kenly, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Crumpler.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wiggs spent a few hours Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Millard Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson and sister, Edna Wiggs, spent Sunday near Holt's Mill with their cousin, Mrs. Evelyn Langley.

Mrs. Claudia Joyner, of Selma, visited Mrs. W. P. Wiggs last Wednesday.

M. E. MISSIONARY SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

The regular business meeting of the missionary society of the Methodist church held Monday afternoon was featured by the election of officers. Mrs. W. H. Lyon, chairman of the nominating committee, presided during the election which resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Thel Hooks; vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Wellons; recording secretary, Mrs. L. H. Sasser; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. H. Woodall; treasurer, Miss Ruth Jones; local treasurer, Miss Minnie Eason; superintendent of children's work, Mrs. N. B. Grantham; superintendent of social service, Mrs. Carl Fugh; superintendent of publicity, Mrs. E. J. Wellons; superintendent of studies, Rev. D. H. Tuttle; superintendent of supplies, Mrs. K. L. Rose; agent of the Voice and Missionary News, Mrs. T. R. Hood.

The executive committee will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. T. R. Hood.

SENIOR CLASS OF '27 GIVES BANQUET. SELMA, Jan. 4.—Representatives of each graduating class of Selma High School from '22 through the class of '28 were entertained at a delightful banquet given by the senior class of '27 on Wednesday evening, December 28, in the Kiwanis hall.

The guests found their places by attractive place cards. Ralph Woodard made a splendid toastmaster. During the delicious three course dinner an interesting program was rendered. Everybody stood and sang "The Gang's All Here," which started the banquet off with real Selma high spirit.

Then each member of the class of '27 was given the privilege of telling what he or she had been doing since graduating last June. Some very interesting accounts were given. Each member was equally enthusiastic over their respective labors; whether it was Gordon Ausley's job as "assistant janitor" in the Citizens Bank at Micro, B. Oliver's amusing "Buttoning" at Wake Forest, or Rose Worley's "rooting" for Fredericksburg, Va.

Prof. F. M. Waters made a splendid talk, informing the seniors not to try "pulling anything over" the Selma high school teachers as he always received the first term's grades of each graduate off at school.

Mrs. Bueck invited all the old students of Selma high to visit her lunch room at the school, "where we know we'll get good soup." Mr. Bueck also made a good talk. Rose Worley sang "My Blue Heaven."

After all the fun, organizing an Alumni Association was discussed. Selma high school has always been noted for its fine spirit. This alumni organization purposes to bring the past and present graduating classes together to arouse and preserve this good spirit. It will mean the meeting of old classmates, finding what progress each has made during the years of separation and renewing old friendships.

NUMBER 6

BROTHER TUTTLE NEXT SUNDAY.

Brother Tuttle has kindly consented to preach for me next Sunday. I have planned to be feeble at that time. There is no man who has more close friends in Smithfield than Brother Tuttle has. They will be very glad for the opportunity to hear him.

BACK-HANDED SLAPS.

Some reporters who would have half sense if they had twice the brain they have are making merry over the fact that the name of William Edward Hickman once upon a time appeared on a Sunday school roll book. That is just another manner of scoffing. There are many young bloods in this day and time who wear their breeches bottom upwards and who paste their hair hard against their pate, who think that it does them credit to criticize institutions that generations before them have praised. They delight in barking at the Sunday school and the church. They doubtless do receive the applause of their kind.

CRITICS OF THE CHURCH.

We are being treated to a wholesale criticism of the church, the ministry, and all reform movements. Any man who sets out to reform anything now may as well prepare to be made the butt of ridicule. That watchfulness on the part of the enemy is not altogether against us. When they come out with their criticisms then we can detect our weaknesses without any trouble about personal inventory. As I see it the worst foes of the church are not those boys on the outside who are throwing brick bats through the windows. They are not even those on the inside who say "doggone it" and who dare to take a drink of buttermilk. The worst enemies of the cause are those on the inside who are narrow, and bitter, and selfish, and squeamish, and sectarian, and uncharitable. One of the prophets saw a future day when my Lord will walk down the aisle of his sanctuary and one of the worshippers will say, "Master, whence are the wounds in thy side and in thy hands and feet?" Then will he say, "These are the wounds with which I was wounded in the house of my friends."

MY NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION.

The custom of swearing off from some custom is being assailed as an unnecessary and feeble use of the new year. It may be so, but it has served many people a means of reform which they did not find elsewhere. There is one good turn it serves, it shows us that the best way to manage ourselves is to decide on a proposition once for all. If you have to decide each day what you are going to do about some frivolous habit, then that little habit will be your master and cudgel you at

MEMBER RECEIVED SUNDAY.

Miss Mary Lou Wescott joined by certificate last Sunday. Miss Wescott was formerly a member of this church and this constitutes a home-coming for her. We are glad to welcome her back home.

METHODISTS MOVING TO TOWN.

Several Methodist families have recently moved to Smithfield and reports have it that there are several more on the way. To those who have already come, we want to extend a most hearty welcome to our church and to all its privileges. It is a time for all of us to see how attentive we can be to these new-comers.

SMITHFIELD AND THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Count the white people of Smithfield and then size up the Sunday school rolls and you discover that not one half of the white people of our town are enrolled. I wonder if those who are not attending would vote for the discontinuance of these Sunday schools. Then another thing, I wonder if those of us who do go believe that these schools would be good for our neighbors and their children. All of us live near people who do not get the advantage of the means of grace supplied by Bible instruction. Most all people will tell you that the Bible is the greatest book in the world and that Almighty God expects us to study it. This is doubtless true and it carries with it another great truth which is God is best pleased with those who give their support to these Sunday schools. Every church in this town that has a Sunday school has seen to it that the quality of the school is such as to be a decided benefit to those attending. The teachers, the best available, are giving their time and talent for the blessing of the community and the saving of the people.

THERE ARE 3 BIG THINGS.

In the big business of the Sunday school there are three great aims regarding the pupils: 1. Teach them the word of God. This is trite, but the exhortation is needed. Teach them and keep on teaching. The Bible is different. Jesus says the Word is the seed—it is life. Sow it, and the harvest is sure. It never becomes stale, and you are mistaken if you think you can exhaust it. Continue steadfastly in the apostles' teaching.

2. Win them to Christ. Youth is the high time for decision. Jesus is adorable, and He will win the hearts of the children if you will prepare the way. Do not shift the constant obligation to a kind of "decision day." Make it the natural, the regular and the most prominent feature of the school, bringing the members of the school to Christ, to membership in his church.

3. Put them to work in the church, and for the church. Church members are church builders. Really the phrase, "Inactive church members," is, or ought to be, an absurdity. The school is a good place to begin. They tell us that 80 per cent of all church members come from the Bible school. Then, what's the matter with the school? Failure to teach and train this wonderful army of young people for actual service in the church.

Teach them, win them to Christ, set them to work.

"How kind of you," said the girl, "to bring me the lovely flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh. I believe there is some dew on them yet."

"Yes," stammered the young man, "but I'm gonna pay it off tomorrow."

THE CALL OF A UNITED CHURCH.

From an address by Dr. Adolph Diessmann, of the University of Berlin, at the World Conference on Faith and Order, Lausanne, Switzerland.

So long as the church preaches the Gospel from the narrow valleys and deep abysses of mutual suspicion and isolation, her message does not penetrate to the world. It dies away piteously in the hard, rocky walls; it fades away in the shadow and cold mist of the valley bottoms. But if the united churches together mount, as the Zion of today, to the topmost heights of the holy mountain, and call aloud from there to the world as ambassadors on behalf of Christ, "Repent ye, for the Kingdom of God is at hand," "Be ye reconciled to God," then indeed that Gospel which in the age of the Roman Caesars gave a new direction to men's lives and even to the Mediterranean world as a whole, will do today, for a world grown vaster, that for which, in the misery of its pride and bestiality, of its hatred, its guilt and its perplexity, it is hungry and athirst.
