Interest Centers About Attendance

Improved School and Road Facilities Should Mean Better Attendance

Much interest centers now about the problem of improving school attendance in the state, Newspapers have often repeated the fact that one-fourth of the children enrolled in school are absent each day. The economic waste has been stressed; and the serious loss of educational opportunities to the child has been emphasized. North Carolina ranks low in comparison with the other states in school attendance. In addition to the large number who are absent each day, but who are actually enrolied, there are others whose name have never been on a teacher's rollbook. While North Carolina, through its Adult Literary Commission, seeks to stamp out illiteracy among grown people, numbers of children of school age ra main out of school, With our improved school and road facilitiles, this should not be the case.

The County Superintendent of Public Welfare is the chief school attendance officer. The law makes dent of Raleigh Kiwanis club, adthis his prime responsibility. But dent of Raseign this his prime responsibility. But dressed the local Kiwanians yesone individual, who has numerous other duties, cannot emforce the law alone in the county.
