IN MEMORIAM

On Saturday, November 30, at 6:15 o'clock just as the shadows of darkness covered the earth the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Boyette and took from them their little darling, Edith Frances Boyette. Little Edith was sick only a few days. She was taken sick with diphtheria Friday and suffered terribly until Saturday when Jesus ended it all by calling her. He took her gently in his arms and eased all pain. She is sweetly sleeping now in his arms never to know any more pain or sorrow. All was done for her that could be done but none could stay the icy hand of death. God needed a little angel to complete his holy band. He needed something holy and acceptable in the sight of the Lord and little Edith was all. She was nearly three years old and surely she knew no sin. Can't we picture her now just across the tide of life so happy with Jesus? Can we wish her back here in this world so cold, so full of trouble and sorrow?

Weep not dear father and mother. Be submissive to the Lord's will. She is not dead, only sleeping. Although it is hard to part, let us feel our loss is her eternal gain. Edith was a sweet child. To know her was to love her. She always had a sweet smile for everybody. We cannot wish her back but only hope to meet her.

Separation now is painful. And our lot so hard to bear. With our grief we go to Jesus. He will all our sorrows share. Shall you think of death as doom, No not cold beneath the grasses, Not close-walled within the tomb, Rather, in my Father's mansion Living in another room.

Living like the one who loves you Like your child with cheeks a-bloom.

Out of sight, at desk, or school room, Busy in another room. Shall you doubt your Father's mercy?

Shall you blame your Father's wisdom? Shall you sit enswathed in gloom When you know your loved one is happy Waiting in another room? Look upward and your child you'll see.

Fixed in his blest abode. What parents would not childless be

To give a child to God. Written by one who loved her, MRS. ARCHIE TWIGG.

Graded Tobacco Pays.

The U. S. graded tobacco on the Smithfield market during the sixth week, ending October 12, sold for $19.82 per 100 pounds, the ungraded for $15.88; a net gain of $4.29 for the graded. In the seventh week, ending October 19, the U. S. graded sold for $26.11, the ungraded for $22.19, a gain of $2.92 per 100 in favor of the government graded, or over 19 per cent gain to the farmers.

The farmers who did not take advantage of the grading the sixth week lost, on that basis a total of $18,770. The grading service would have cost them only 5 cents per 100 pounds or $210.83.

This is a clear demonstration that the hurrah-helter-skelter-slipshod method that is employed on the auction floors by the buying companies, usually means grading enough below the true grade to take good care of the companies and a loss to the farmers. Every tobacco auction market should have every pile of tobacco graded by the government and require every buyer to abide by it.—Williamston Enterprise.

Mush.

The Greensboro Daily News is moved to wonder why "those who live conspicuously well" make no mention of having that ancient and honorable dish of mush. In a rather lengthy editorial our contemporary sought to place mush among the victuals which enjoy a better social standing.

It was a noble effort on the part of our esteemed friend and we have no lack of appreciation for its endeavors. But we are filled with the futility of the fight.

Mush has had strong defenders long before the Daily News came on the scene and it yet remains a dish without vestige of social position. We have yet to see an account of any banquet or party where it was recorded that "a delectable dish of mush was served."

No, we doubt if we ever will see that. Mush, for some unreasonable reason, is not a victual to grace the same table with prettier and more undigestible food.

Twenty-five years ago Isaac Erwin Avery recorded in his "Idle Comment" column of The Charlotte Observer that the late Henry Gratton Springs, who was far past the three score years and had three-quarters of a million dollars, said "Mush is what I like best; I have tried it all, but mush—a plain, simple child's dish of mush is best of all."

Mush had champions a quarter of a century ago, but mush has not made one rung on the social ladder.—Lenoir News-Topic.

Tax Relief Possible.

The tax problem, perennially a source of contention, may find its nearest approach to a solution in following the example of big business and effecting economies through mergers and consolidations. From the county standpoint, this is accomplished through the merging of various county functions into district organizations with the cost prorated, while cities are reaching the same goal through managerial governments and subsequent reorganizations.

Five Alabama counties have in recent weeks agreed to merge their county homes and maintain the indigent of the entire district in one central plant. That is but a step. There are other functions of county government that can be merged, such as jails, stockades and courts. Even more progress may be made by the consolidation of counties bodily and the elimination of one or more governments.

In North Carolina today there are but four counties financially able to operate their public school systems without aid from the state. In many, special taxes have raised the burden to the point where the people are frankly helpless, openly discouraged. They cannot retrench further without actually sending their communities on the downhill trail and they cannot advance their tax levies without plunging their people into bankruptcy. Obviously, it would appear as the logical solution for these counties to pool their resources and unite.—Wilmington Morning Star.

"Gratitude To Sargon Is Beyond Words"

MRS. WM. N. COCHRAN.

"Ever since I was a comparatively young woman I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness. I was terribly constipated, bilious, rundown and miserable. The way Sargon ended my troubles seems little less than a miracle.

"The first normal bowel movement I have had in years I owe to Sargon Soft Mass Pills. My gratitude to the Sargon treatment is beyond words."

—Mrs. Wm. N. Cochran, 1147 Harrison St., Portland, Ore.

Sargon's fame is based on actual results—not empty promises. Millions use it—millions praise it!
