HONORING MRS. WM. B. WELLONS.

A large social affair occurred on last Thursday afternoon when Mrs. N. T. Smithwick and Miss Mildred Young were joint hostesses at bridge at the home of Mrs. Smithwick, honoring Mrs. Wm. B. Wellons, a recent bride.

The decorations, suggesting the Valentine season, were most attractive in the rooms made ready for the game. After several progressions the scores were then taken and prizes awarded. Mrs. R. F. Holding making high score.

and the runner up going to Mrs. E. S. Stevens. The consolation went to Mrs. W. J. Massey Jr. The honoree was remembered with an attractive gift. The hostesses assisted by Mrs. J. O. Ellington, served a tempting salad course in which the Valentine idea prevailed.

MRS. COLETRANE HOSTESSES.

Mrs. Lucy Hood Coletrane was hostess at a buffet supper Sunday night honoring Mr. Norwood Holland of Raleigh and Miss Jean McCabe of Wilmington. Potted plants and cut flowers formed a pleasing setting for the assemblage of guests and a tempting repast was enjoyed.

Those enjoying Mrs. Coletrane's hospitality were Mr. Norwood Holland and Miss Jean McCabe. Mr. Frank Skinner, Miss Arah Hooks, Tilden Honeycutt, Mary Gattis Holland, Thel Hooks and Miss Grace Wooten.

MRS. BLANDY HOSTESS TO CLUB.

The Friday Afternoon Bridge club was entertained last week with Mrs. Mary H. Blandy as gracious hostess.

Four tables were made up for the club members and a few other guests, and bridge was enthusiastically enjoyed during the afternoon.

High score prize went to Mrs. L. G. Stevens and low score prize was given to Mrs. H. C. Hood.

At the conclusion of the games a delectable salad course with hot tea was served, followed by a sweet course.

DINNER PARTY AT HOLT LAKE.

Mr. Norwood Holland of Raleigh and Miss Jean McCabe of Wilmington whose marriage will take place February 21 were honored by several of Mr. Holland's young gentlemen friends who entertained for them at a dinner party at Holt Lake Saturday evening.

The lounge of the club house was attractively decorated for this delightful occasion.

Covers were laid for eighteen guests at a beautifully appointed table, a large cake topped with a miniature bride and groom forming the centerpiece.

Dancing was later enjoyed for a couple of hours.

Those present included Mr. Norwood Holland, Miss Jean McCabe, Tilden Honeycutt, Miss Mary Gattis Holland, Thel Hooks, Miss Grace Wooten, Frank Skinner, Miss Arah Hooks, Lawrence Staniel, Miss Irene Page Stevens, Gray Staples and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Underwood and children, and Mrs. J. A. Underwood, of Clinton, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Stevens who live near town for the week end.

MISS WELLONS ENTERTAINS.

One of the loveliest parties of the midwinter season was enjoyed when Miss Margaret Wellons charmingly entertained last Friday evening, honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. William B. Wellons a recent bride.

Guests were received at the door by Miss Wellons, who introduced them to the honoree and also to Mrs. Robert Banks, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Kenneth Parrish of Wilson, a recent bride. The attractive home was thrown, en suite for this delightful event and ten tables were grouped for bridge. The Valentine motif was evident in decorations, tally cards and refreshments. Attractive gifts were presented to the honoree and to Mrs. Parrish.

Mrs. Edgar Watson was given prize for top score for the evening.

Block cream and cake decorated with tiny red hearts were then served the guests.

MISS BATTEN IN LEGION CONTEST.

Miss Gladys Batten, a ninth grade pupil in the Micro school, represented Johnston county in the American Legion essay contest at Franklin last week.

The essays were written on the subject, "Our Flag." Winners in the several counties of the fourth congressional district competed at Pittsboro and Clyde Gordon of Pittsboro was declared the best contestant. The final contest will be held at an early date in Raleigh.

Twentieth Century Club Meets.

Benson, Feb. 17.—The members and former members of the Twentieth Century club of Benson were delightfully entertained on Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock by Mrs. C. C. Massey and Miss Sarah Turlington of Smithfield at Mrs. Massey's attractive home.

In the living room and dining room were artistic decorations of red hearts, streamers, growing wandering jew, hyacinths and narcissus. The guests found their places at small tables where an elaborate dinner was served in three courses consisting of fruit cocktail, creamed chicken on toast, vegetable salad, potato chips, sandwiches, and pickles with hot coffee, followed by frozen strawberry whip and angel food cake.

The attractive tables with red and white covers, mint baskets and Valentine place cards were suggestive of the Valentine season.

Following the dinner covers were removed and the guests enjoyed several progressions of bridge. At the conclusion of the game it was found that Mrs. Leon Talton was winner of high score prize and she received a lovely candy jar.

Those enjoying Mrs. Massey's and Miss Turlington's hospitality were: Mrs. Henry Shaw of Raleigh, Misses Esther Morgan, Clara Woodall, Wilhelmina Utley, Neta Turlington and Mesdames Leon Talton, W. B. Woodall, Roy E. Smith, Evette Denning, Jesse T. Morgan, John R. Parrish, Sherrill Utley of Benson and Dr. C. C. Massey of Smithfield.

Anent The Death Mrs. N. Stevens.

It is with sad and aching hearts that we try to face life now, because one in whom we could confide so dearly and so sweetly has been enveloped by the cold jaws of death. More than ever before, as we gather by the fireside we miss you grandma, and we can but ask God:

"Oh, Death where is thy sting; Mrs. L. H. Hauns has returned from Philadelphia where she attended the Hair Dressers Association and style show. Let her tell you about the new hairdressing at the Dorothy Beauty Shoppe.

CARTER'S LITTLE BLUE PILLS.

"Oh, Grave where is thy victory?"
 Those you left behind, grandma, can see no victory of the grave, but we know that God lifted you from us and he needed you, because life was too desolate for you.
 Oh! our hearts are broken and our eyes are filled with tears, because we miss you so. We know, though, that your illness here was unbearable, but that is why we loved you the more. We miss your white head on the deep pillows, we miss your kind voice and we miss your sympathetic patience, for we know you loved us and tried to overlook our shortcomings. But, grandma, look down on us from thy white throne in Heaven and show us the way to go, so that when our Pilot calls to us from the other shore, we may meet you there with outstretched arms.
 Not until you left us did we realize you meant so much to us and that we loved you so. But now that you are sharing God's glory, we feel so little, so weak, and so feeble, because we know that God in immortal, God is king of kings, that God is strong and He is Ruler of the universe. He proved His power to us when He took you from us and from your afflictions, but oh! grandma, help us to live, to grow in love for others and into a better Christian life, so that there may be "no mourning on the bar when we put out to sea."—A loving granddaughter, Cornelia Carolyn Lynn, Louisburg College, Louisburg.

A Storehouse of History

ORGANIZED 100 years ago in Petersburg, Virginia, a city rich in historic interest and destined to play a deciding part in events of future years, the Petersburg Railroad was the worthy pioneer of that notable group of railroads, serving the famed coastal plains of the Southeast, that were brought together to form the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company.

No part of America has more of historic interest than the sections served by the Coast Line. Here is a land that "fairly reeks with history".

Gentlemen of France, Grandees of Spain; Lords and adventurers of Merrie England; pirates and buccaneers; Indian fighters, baronial planters, noted statesmen; the persistent, will-o'-the-wisp forces of Sumter and Marion; the ragged, hungry, undaunted armies of the Confederacy. All these have lived and loved and fought and died and left their imprint here.

In this section the first English colonies in America were started; France and Spain made futile bids for this great empire.

Here are cities and towns that date back to the dawn of our country's history. Many have known the hardships of occupation by hostile armies. Hardly a cross-roads hamlet but has witnessed stirring and important events, or has sent its sons to play leading parts in the affairs of their times.

Here the tyranny of George the Third first met with outspoken and organized resistance.

Here scores of bloody battles have been fought. These shores have been pillaged by Blackbeard and Gasparilla and other pirates of their day.

Into these ports swift blockade runners came, daring the fire of Union fleets, to bring food and munitions to Lee's tattered forces.

Richmond, Norfolk, Petersburg, Newbern, Wilmington, Fayetteville, Augusta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick, Montgomery, St. Augustine, Tampa, Bradenton. Each name brings up pictures of the stirring events that all of these have seen. And there are scores of other places where much history has been made.

Not the least important event of an eventful century has been the welding of more than 100 railroads into the Atlantic Coast Line System, serving the six southeastern states and making a reality of that "Great Highway of the Union" which the founders of the Petersburg Railroad envisaged one hundred years ago.
